great power that it is? In asking you to consider this question you will understand, of course, that I am not undertaking in half an hour to answer the entire question; I am only going to try in that half hour to indicate the essence of Christianity—the secret of its witality. The Jewish people were in more than one sense "a peculiar people." Among other things is this; that there taces were turned toward the future. All other nations looked backward for their golden age, but these "peculiar people" looked forward for theirs. They believed that a time was coming when there would be time was coming when there would be peace instead of war and for them selves prosperity instead of universa poverty. They believed that this great time would come through their own nation and that Jerusalem would become the holy eity and the mistress of the world. And their prophets even pointed forward to this divine consolatioi, and they indicated that it would come through some deliverer. Some time would come through their own come through some deliverer. Some-times they regarded the nation itself as that deliverer; sometimes a succes-sion of prophets; sometimes single prophets; sometimes a single man, as a king or prince, as a teacher, as a priest, as a "Man of Sorrows and acquainted with Sorrows, and acquainted with grief. However different or incongruous or inconsistent these prophesies might be, they pointed the minds of the people forwards to a great delivery and de-liverer. So the shepherds perfectly well understood the angels when they said: "The deliverer has come, the helper is here. You will find him cradled in a manger." When Jesus began His ministry His first sermon, we have a record, was preached in the synagogue at Nazareth. He went into the synagogue a roll was open before Him and He read one of the prophesies of the great deliverer who was coming and then said: "Tibe day is the said: "Tiths day is the scripture fulfilled in your ears. I have come. I am that deliverer." Having begun His ministry in this way, He went out to be a helper and fed the hungry, taught the ignorant and healed the sick and dispensed the gospel of hope. Once you have the gospel of hope. Once you have the Baptist, perplexed to know it this was the Messiah, for things went on much the same and no great things seemed to be accomplished, sent Him a medan, who says, "I am so sorry to see you there, but Allah is just, and you deserve it. He is not merciful, and you will never get out." Lest comes a MANNENTLY DVERCOM gers, "Wait here, see what you will see, and then go and tell your master." They waited and saw, and thee Chalet They waited and saw, and the Chalet They waited and saw and the Chalet They wait said: "Tihs day is the scripture ful-filled in your ears. I have come. I am that deliverer." Having begun His ministry in this way, He went out to They waited and saw, and then Christ told them: "Go your way and tell John what things ye have seen and heard; how that the blind see, the lame walk, the lears are cleaned, the deaf

The fooding, Dr.

Brooking, Dr.

He took on the six cert of the service and any of the control of the service and the service people. The service was the same at heart; the love of God inspiring the thanks of men.

I remember an old English divine beginning his sermon: "I can do all things—" and then saying, "That I deny. But let us see, what is this: "through him that strengthened me. Ah, that is another thing; that I can do." It was a qualint way of puttins it, but if made the text stick in my mind, and I have never forgotten it. This is the secret of the power of Christianity. You will find men say: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy strength," is the summary of the Jewish law. When asked, "What is the chief end of the Jewish law?" He said, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God." and thy neighbor as thyself;" but when He was about to die He left a legacy to He disciples, this: "A new commandment give I unto you; that ye love one another as I have loved you." How did He love us? He laid down His life for us. That is Christianity. What makes a Christian nation? Not a creed written in a constitution, not an established church, an organ or music. and in the power of God. The distinc-tion between the Jewish religion and Paganism was not that one called God Jehovah and the other Baal. It was that one worshipped justice and the other power. The message of the Pagan religion was of an omnipotent power back of affairs of nature and life. The message of Judaism was that God power back of affairs of nature and life.
The message of Judaism was that God is a righteous God and demands righteous God and demands righteousness of His children. Still we need to understand that God expects righteousness from us, and nothing less will satisfy Him. In later Judaism there came the greater message. No longer God as a powerful, just God, but God righteous. The message of the later prophet was mercy. Mercy, go back to Homer, Confucius, Seneca, Marcus Aurelius; do you find it there? No. Some time ago I made that statement and a professor said to me: "Are you fulle sure of that?" I said: "I am nof sure, but you are a studient of the Orient and I wish you would look it up and tell me if I am wrong." Three weeks after I received a letter, saying: "The only revelation of the mercy of God in the Hindoo religion is this: "O. Veruna, art thou not also merciful?" Put that alongside "what can separate man from the love of God." The distinct characteristic of Christianity is this mercifulness of God. Today in my country home they are suffering from drought, and yet, if I were to go-on the hillside and run a tube down a little way into the ground, I should strike a spring full of water. So God is full of mercy. This is the revelation of the New Testament; and whatever your troubles, sorrows, sins, you can go to Him and find His toving kindness and tender mercy. You don't find that in any other religion.

A man falls into a pit and eannot get out. Presently a Confusian comes along and says: "My dear fellow, I am sorrighteous. The message of the later prophet was mercy. Mercy, go back to Homer, Confucius, Seneca, Marcus Aurelius; do you find it there? No. Some time ago I made that statement

DEAFNESS IS CURABLE. Sufferers from impaired hearing will be glad to know that their affliction is probably not due to any organic defect in the ear, but results probably from a thickening of the lining of the middle ear, caused by catarrhal inflammation. Hundreds of perfect recoveries as a result of the inhalation of Catarrhand come are reported, and on the highest authority we recommend this treatment to pur readers. Catarrhozone quickly restores lost hearing, and its efficiency is placed beyond dispute by the case of Mr. Foxall of St. by the case of Mr. Foxall of St. Thomas, who recovered perfect hearing by using Catarrhozone, after years of deafness.
