Gives Alleged
Baseball Plot

Bill Burns Turns State's Evidence to Tell Inside Story of Alleged Ball Conspiracy.

Chicago, July 19.—The State today turned its full strength into the prosecution of the Chicago White Sox baseball players and others charged with the alleged conspiracy which resulted in the 1919 world's series scandal, sending Bill Burns, who admitted being an accomplice of the defendants and who turned State's evidence in return for immunity, to the witness stand to tell the inside story of the reported sell-out of some of the game's greatest players to gamblers who wanted the series thrown to Cincinnati.

Burns, who was only about one-third through his story, when court adjourned for the day, was on the stand long enough to name Arnold Rothstein, of New York, Abe Attell, former featherweight pugilistic champion, David Zeisler of Des Moines, one of the defendants, Billy Mahan of Philadelphia and himself as among the organizers of the alleged conspiracy.

Told of Plot

He drew a vivid verbal picture of the alleged meetings between the players and the alleged fixers, in Cincinnati hotels during the days of the first two games of the 1919 series, saying that the athletes agreed to make the series a "made-to-order one" throwing games just as desired.

Burns testified that Eddie Cicotte, one of the American League's greatest pitchers, said he would "throw the first game if he had to throw the ball over the fence."

Burns identified David Zeisler, defendant, as a man he had known as Bennett during the forming of the alleged conspiracy and declared that Zeisler and himself were present at most of the meetings when the reported sell-out was arranged.

Wanted to Collect

Burns said Abe Attell had termed Rothstein a "walking bank" who would pay all he promised but that after the first game Attell refused to give him any money, saying he would not pay the players until he collected the bets made. The players were to get twenty thousand dollars after each game lost, Burns said.

An executive committee, appointed on the recommendation of Baron Pierre de Coubertin, president of the Olympic International Committee, will start work on October 1.

Special to The Standard.
Fredericton, N. B., July 19.—Parliament Square was crowded with people this evening to hear the band concert by the Fredericton Brass Band and to watch the water sports at the Automobile and Boat Club, which were the evening attractions following the races.

Cars were parked hub to hub on both sides of the street fronting the greens, while the water was covered with pleasure craft of all descriptions, part of the fleet of the Royal Kennebec Yacht Club, which arrived from St. John on Monday, lay anchored off the club house front and the various flags flown lent color to the scene.

The club house was thrown open to visitors for dancing and everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves.

Another evening of sports including dancing at the club house and a band concert will be provided tomorrow after the races for the visitors of the week.

French Medical Experts Find a Man With Most Unusual Internal Organs.

Paris, July 19.—The French Academy of Medicine announces the discovery of what it terms a "man most fortunately constructed physiologically for braving the present torrid heat waves."

The man is Vladimir Ivanovitch Bolgarsky, formerly a captain in the Russian army and since the Bolshevik revolution, a refugee in Paris.

The academy has been studying the case privately several months and now makes public the result of the investigations. According to the report Bolgarsky has a "dual personality of digestive organs."

The multiplicity of talents possessed by those organs lend themselves to many practical uses. For instance, the stomach is a well protected and patronized these days in Paris.

He does not annoy Bolgarsky. He simply drinks thirty glasses of ice water—which feast occupies him some three minutes, being thus cooled in his stomach, his trick organs return to his side of the mouth in the same condition as when swallowed and with such force and velocity that the steam rises to catch a fly in mid-air, and back upon him in tiny needle-like jets, like a shower.

Bolgarsky put his talents to good use while still fighting on the side of the Allies. He was a well protected and patronized these days in Paris.

He is willing to demonstrate to the French medical savants. His talents came to the notice of the Academy, when, being out of funds, he applied for a job.

A Previous Engagement.
On the Friday evening when the great strike had been planned to take place an old lady got into an omnibus. She handed the conductor her fare and said, anxiously, "Are you coming out this evening?"

The conductor shook his head and answered with great politeness, "I'm afraid I can't, mum. I've got to get home to my old woman."—"Fit Bile."

Practical.
"I don't want any rubbish—no sentimentalism—if you please," said the widow who was asked what kind of an epitaph she desired for her late husband. "Let it be short and simple, something like this: 'William Johnston, aged 75 years, the good die young.'—Life.

Two Favorites
Outside The Flag

In Grand Circuit Jim B and Prince Loree Break and Lose the Races.

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 19.—The feature of the opening day of the grand circuit races at Recreation Park was the dumping of the two favorites, Jim B. and Prince Loree outside the distance flag in the Park American Hotel purse for 2.11 pacers, the big event of the day's racing. Jimmie McKernan won the race in straight heats, while the favorites went to smash. Jim B. broke at the first quarter in the first heat and was given the flag, while Prince Loree received the same treatment in the second. The losers, as a result of their early season showing at Toledo and North Randall, were top-heavy favorites.

Peter Heier, the favorite in the 2.18 trot, had no difficulty in winning that event in straight heats with Allica and Princess Nedena trailing. Tommy Murphy piloted Brookworthy to victory in the 2.07 trot.

Kokomo George won the first two heats of the 2.07 pace and finished second to Logan Hedgewood in the third from a field of four starters. The crowd was the largest that ever attended an opening day meet in this city.

Preparing for Big Winter's Work Through That Harbor With Canadian Goods.

Portland, July 19.—Actual construction work on the rebuilding of the Grand Trunk sheds No. 5 and No. 6, Logan, New Brunswick, is well advanced and immigration building the concrete pier will be completed in ample time for the opening of the transatlantic steamship season the coming fall.

A crew of more than 50 men are engaged in the work, piling has been driven and today the cross stringers are being put in place. The shed to be erected will be two stories in height and will contain freight handling facilities on the first floor, while the second floor will be devoted to the immigration quarters.

The Grand Trunk is having the entire steamship terminal facilities "overhauled" during the summer. The Lucas elevators are being repaired and it is planned to have everything in "ship shape" by the time the regular transatlantic lines resume services here in the fall.

Pacing Record
For Provinces

Roy Volo at Fredericton Paced the Mile in 2:08 1/4—Great Racing at Capital.

Fredericton, N. B., July 19.—The pacing record for the Maritime Provinces was placed at 2:08 1/4 at the opening of the Fredericton Park Association's Maine and New Brunswick Circuit meeting today by Roy Volo, owned and driven by Bert Litt, of this city. The previous local track record was 2:08 3/4 and the Maritime Province's pacing record was 2:08 1/2 made at Chatham last year by Peter Farren, 2:07.

Roy Volo made his new mark in the second heat of the 2.12 pace which developed into a nerve racking pacing duel between him and The Problem, 2:04 1/2, owned by the Caribou Driving Club. The Arrostok horse came back in 2:09 1/4 to win the third heat.

The judges also threatened action in the case of Nutwood Lou, owned by W. G. Means Jr., of Machias, Maine, which was heavily played to beat the field with Peter Verde, the unbeaten Halifax trotter barred. Nutwood Lou beat the Verde horse in the first heat—the first he has lost in four races this season, but after that the time got slower. Threats failed to make Driver Southard win the fourth heat.

College Swift, owned by James W. Gallagher, of Woodstock, took a new win race record by winning the 2.13 pace in which an evenly matched field of eight pacers started, the fastest time being 2:14 1/4 in the final heat.
