

Another patient in the General Hospital was visited by some of the members who were the means of securing for him the consolations of religion before he died. The mother of a family of four children, who was in delicate health, was also placed in St. Joseph's Hospital until she recovered.

LINDSAY.—The Conference of Our Lady reports that a Home for the Aged has been established in the town, and several persons formerly relieved by the Society have found refuge there. Three of the members are on the Management Committee of this Home. One old lady refuses to become an inmate, although she would be more comfortable there than living alone, and the Conference assists her.
