The auditors' report on the municipal finances of Glencoe for 1922 has been printed and copies are now in the clerk's hands for distribution. Every ratepayer should make it a point to get a copy and keep posted as to how his tax money is being spent. The net debt on Dec. 31st is shown to have been $17,099 49. Hydro-electric operation profit for the year is shown as $521.50.

E. S. Hudson has disposed of the Beamsville Express to George R. Westland, who assumed control of the paper last week and made his bow to its readers in the issue for last week. Mr. Westland has been in the newspaper business for many years at Innisfail, Alberta, and is a practical printer, having learned the trade in The Transcript office at Glencoe and subsequently was with the London Advertiser. The Beamsville Express is an exceptionally good local newspaper and will be none the less interesting under its capable new management.

The Studebaker Light-Six

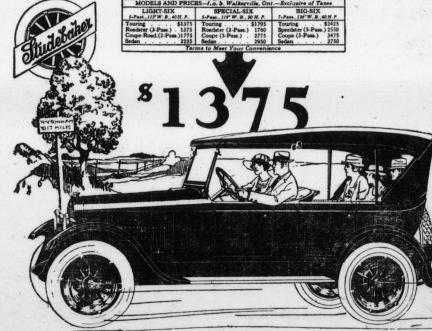

You'll find in the Studebaker Light-Six, an abundance of power-smooth-flowing, responsive, and economical.

From a slow walking gait, it will accelerate to a racing speed in the space of a few seconds. And always with velvet-like smoothness, for the Light-Six is practically free from vibration.

Exceptional economy is an appealing feature of the Light-Six. Through 27 world-wide tests, it set an average of 26.9 miles to the gallon of gasoline!

Maintenance cost is also lowconclusively proved by Studebaker's limited volume of repair parts sales, which in 1922, averaged only $13 per car for all Studebaker automobiles in operation.

The Studebaker Light-Six is not an experiment. In the hands of thousands of owners it has proved its remarkable power and complete dependability. It will pay you to see the Light-Six before you buy your next car. It is a product that well upholds Studebaker's 71-year-old reputation for quality and value.
