raised by J. T. Flynn to the indorsement by the chamber of any one projected railroad while a rival line was in the field. He told of the success which John J. Healey is meeting in London, Paris and New York in enlisting capital in support of the Valdez, Copper river and Yukon road and entered a vigorous defense in behalf of the operation plans of that company. In the course of his remarks he asserted that James J. Healey was supporting the enterprise.

Boyle retains title to Famous Fraction

PROTEST DISMISSED

Leases for Three Years the Lower Half of Claim for Dumping Ground.

The protest that was to have been heard on May 1 between A. Fassbender and J. W. Boyle came to a sudden termination a few days ago, the dispute being amicably settled and the protest dismissed. Fassbender was the owner of the famous Dick, Lowe fraction on Bonanza which a day or two before his return from the outside was jumped by Boyle. Fassbender's agent having neglected to swear in his representation work and take out a renewal. Fassbender at once protested the issuance of the grant to Boyle, that which has just been dismissed. The terms of the settlement agreed upon are that Boyle is to retain title to the claim in question and in return is to lease to Fassbender the lower forty-three feet of the ground for dumping purposes for three years, the latter to do the representing and attend to securing the renewals. Boyle retains the upper forty-three feet and will use it for the same purpose, as a dumping ground.

IN GOOD CONDITION

Freighters Report Creek Roads as Dry and Smooth

A freighter who for some time past has been making daily trips up Bonanza with lumber is authority for the statement that the road is generally in as good condition as at any time last summer except where ice formed by water from the gusher is still melting and leaving considerable mud. Reports from the roads on other creeks correspond with that of Bonanza.

OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED

Construction on Council Railroad to Begin

The Rails Are Now En Route to Seattle--Will be Shipped on June 1.

Special to the Daily Nugget. Seattle, May 8.—George H. Dickson, Jr., of New York, assistant general manager of the Western Alaska Construction Co., in charge of the work of building the Council City and Solomon river railway, announces officially that the road will be built and in operation this summer. Rails and machinery are now on the Great Northern railroad and will be in Seattle within a few days. All will be shipped to Nome by June 1st.

PROMENADE TO THE BAR

Dance Hall Opens at Fairbanks April 20

Duenkel Who Took Shot at Alex Coutts Held on His Own Recognizance.

Fairbanks on the Tanana now has a regularly ordained dance hall where they swing on the corner, Alaman left, promenade to the bar and gulp down hand-made velvet tan while the fiddler puts spruce gum on his bow. The dance hall was opened and duly dedicated the night of April 20th, news of the memorable event being brought to Dawson by Mr. W. G. Stoney who left on the trip out the next day.

Property Changes Hands

The well known property on First avenue occupied by the Northern restaurant was today sold by Lon Griffin to the representative of the Syndicat Lyonnaise. The price paid is not stated but both parties are quoted as being satisfied with the results of the deal. The sale will have no effect upon the present lessee.

MUSICAL COMEDY

First Presentation In the English Language

Clever Adaptation From French by De Journal—Professional Debut of Dawson Lady

To Mr. Fernand de Journal will the lovers of the dramatic art be indebted for the presentation of one of the brightest comedies ever put on the stage, which will have the further distinction of receiving its initial production in the western hemisphere in Dawson. As an adaptor and translator of French plays, Mr. de Journal is no novice, having made many of those which enjoyed great runs in the States. He is also well known as a manager of theatrical affairs—having on more than one occasion directed his own company with excellent success.

The play which Mr. de Journal will present for the amusement of the public will be an adaptation by himself of a musical comedy written by M. Meilhac in collaboration with M. Halevy entitled "Article Fifth." Both writers are among the foremost of France of the present day as will be known by anyone at all familiar with French literature. The plot is laid in the time of Louis XV and his equally famous mistress Mme de Maintenon; about 1760, and fairly abounds in ludicrous situations and bright, witty incidents. The lines are beautiful, brimful with the brilliant repartee so characteristic of that day. The original is at times quite risqué and might shock a number of the prudish who can see no beauty in a clever double entendre, but in order to avoid such Mr. de Journal has pruned everything down so that the most devoted puritan could take exception. The five acts have been made into four and upon the first rehearsal being had it may be found necessary to condense two more acts into one. There are eight principal characters with some five or six minor ones and it has never before been acted in English.

The principal character is the young Duke de Richelieu who at but sixteen years of age was hurried into a marriage of convenience with a relative of the king who was some years his senior, a thing not at all uncommon at that time. Article fifth of the contract of marriage was that immediately after the ceremony the bridegroom was to be taken and kept away from his bride, immolated in a castle until he was 21 years of age. This the young duke objects most strongly to, but without avail. Eventually, however, he gets into so many scrapes as the result of trying to get away from his bondage that the king becomes only too glad to leave him with his wife so as to keep him in order. The part of the youthful duke is always taken by a young lady and in Paris where it was played so successfully and made such a tremendous hit both Mme. Jeanne Granier and Mme. de Jazet scored the triumph of their lives in the character.

ARBOR DAY TODAY.

Generally Observed by the Courts and Schools

Today is Arbor day, a legal holiday in the territories made so by territorial ordinance, and also fixed by provincial statute in many of the provinces. It is not a Dominion holiday in consequence of which most of the federal offices are open and doing business today the same as usual. The court house has been closed all day, nothing being done either in the courts or any of the offices connected therewith. The Administration building, however, has been open and Commissioner Congdon was at his desk from early in the morning until late in the afternoon. The schools convened at the usual hour but at recess the scholars were dismissed and sent home. The day has been one of the most beautiful of this spring, warm and pleasant and quite as suitable for the planting of trees as it doubtless is in the territories several hundred miles to the south of the Yukon.

HEARING TOMORROW.

Charges Against the Disorderly Women to be Investigated.

Owing to the fact of this being Arbor day, consequently a holiday, there was no police court and the cases of the three Bartlett house women and one from Klondike city which were on Wednesday enlarged until today will come up for hearing tomorrow morning. The women are all out on bail. The prosecution may ask to have the court room cleared during the hearing as many of a certain class attend such trials merely through depraved curiosity.

MAIL EN ROUTE

Will Not Arrive Before Middle of Next Week

A White Pass stage with first class mail and two passengers left Whitehorse for Dawson on Wednesday. It is expected that it will take from eight to ten days to make the trip owing to the condition of the road. The report that a second class mail left Whitehorse for Dawson sixteen days ago, on April 22nd, has not been confirmed and is not believed by Postmaster Hartman to be true.

BANKERS' DAUGHTER

Shot and Killed at Her Father's Home

Latter Had Satchel Containing a Large Sum of Money and Checks.

Special to the Daily Nugget. Medford, Mass., May 8.—Miss Nellie Starlevant, 25 years of age and the daughter of Treasurer James S. Starlevant of the Medford Co-Operative Bank, was shot and killed at her home by an unknown man who attempted to rob her father as he was returning from the bank with a satchel filled with cheques and money. The assassin jumped on a bicycle and escaped. An Italian answering the description of the murderer has been arrested.

APPEAL OF ROOSEVELT

To Spare Noble Works of Nature

Would Have the Red Men of the Prairies Protected From Philanthropists

Special to the Daily Nugget. Grand Canyon, Ariz., May 8.—President Roosevelt made two appeals, one for the noble red man and the other for the noble works of nature he had come to visit in this district. He begged his hearers to spare the canyon from the onslaughts of builders, and prayed that the Indian be allowed to escape the destroyer of the better nature who comes from the East in the guise of a philanthropist. Both pleas were received with enthusiasm by a crowd of ex-Rough Riders and excursionists.

NEW QUARTERS

The Telephone Company to Move Within a Week or Two

Workmen began this morning rearranging the rooms in the N. C. block formerly occupied by Wade, Congdon & Aikman which as soon as completed will be occupied by the telephone central and general offices of the company. In addition to the suite of rooms on King street the company will also occupy those to the immediate rear known as the board of trade apartments, the whole extending the full depth of the building. The front will be made ornamental and attractive by huge plate glass windows and the new quarters when completed will be the most elaborate of any in the city.

FOR USE OF THE PRESIDENT

Palatial Steamer Spokane Will be Fitted Up For Purpose of Conveying the Executive and Party to Different Points on Puget Sound.

Special to the Daily Nugget. Seattle, May 8.—Upon the completion of her Lynn canal voyage which begins on Saturday, the Pacific Coast Steamship Company's palatial steamer Spokane will be put in condition for the reception of President Roosevelt, as she is designated as the vessel best fitted to convey the chief executive and party about Puget Sound. This voyage begins on May 31st at Tacoma and will include a visit to Bremerton, Seattle and Everett. After the presidential trip is finished the Spokane will begin her regular summer Alaska excursions sailing on May 26.

WEATHER TURNS WARM

Water in Yukon Again Coming Up

Little Change in Condition of Upper River—Ice Jam at Yukon Crossing.

The water in the Yukon at Dawson fell five inches last night but by the middle of the forenoon it began to rise and had come up four inches by 3 o'clock this afternoon. Today has been the warmest since last Sunday and the indications are that the cold nights are now a thing of the past until next fall. The following is the report from the river for today: Selwyn—River still solid. Ogilvie—Jam at foot of island still holds. River open and clear for a mile above here. Selkirk—No change today. Stewart—Yukon opened for half a mile at the junction of the Stewart and Yukon. Stewart still solid. Fortymile—No change. Five Fingers—River open all way from Five Fingers to Yukon crossing except for half a mile at Rink Rapids. Small jam at Yukon crossing. Big Salmon—No change. Ogilvie, 1 p.m.—The river is reported as being open from Log Cabin to Reindeer, 3 miles.
