Mauson's "Old Curiseity Shop" called "Little Nell" and the Marchioneses". To make the presentation of this Dickess" play the most complete in stil its details that the stage has ever knows, all the details that the stage has ever knows, all Miss Mary Sanders and company, fre its details that the stage has ever known, all bis scenery, properties and contumes were made under the direct supervision of the stage manager, Mr. Wm. Seymour. The previous varians of this book were in a measure panoramic of it and sketsby to a degree, These faults Mr. Mauson has andeavored to avoid, and has sought to weave out of the famous work a play photographic of the book and yet present a onsecutive and well balanced skory, a very difficult matter, Mr. Mauson having had the advantage in making his pix that a difficult matter. Mr. Mauson having hid this advantage in making his piay that a religious observance of the original is not expected at this day, so that the author has a free hand in developing out of all the material a play which is interesting and dramatic. Those who have seen Mr. Mauson's version of "Old Curiosity Shop" declare he has succeeded in doing this to a remarkable decree. The cast certainly sizes promise of degree. The caste certainly gives promise of an excellent performance, in that it contains such names as Max Figman, P.A. Anderson, John Jack, Charles Stanley, Wm. Seymour, Lillie Eldridge, Anne Caverley and a number of others, who hold high rank. The Montreal ato critics were unanimous in extolling the ensemble, Prices 25, 50, 75c, with a few at $1. THE T. WILLARD READY HOT AIR TREATMENT OF RHEUMATISM.

By DR. BURNS, Chicago,

The treatment of Rheumatism, particularly of the chronic form, is often far from satisfactory, either to the patient or to the physican and up to the present time has left much to be desired. Even in the most favorable cases, when the worst of the disease is past there often remains a tendernoss and a stiffaces about the articulations which are a incov. nience to the patient, if not a source of positive discomfort. The Dry Hot Air Treatment by the T Willard Ready method, above 500 degrees F, applied to the affected part, in cases of long standing Anchylosis, not only produces speedy relief, but produces absolute cure

Williard Ready Hot Air Apparatus has been introduced to the medi-cal profession, and a Sanitarium has been equipped in Stratford, to be known as "The Windermere Dry Hot Air Hospital," for the treatment of all diseases where dry hot air is indicated. The f. Williard Ready Apparatus is so constructed as to isolate the air within the cylinder, to remove all moisture and permit its being heated to any temperature up to 1,500 degrees F. for an hour, or, if need be, an hour and a half, not only without discomfort, but with perfect safety, as with ordinary care not aven the skin should be bilstered, the high

We make this proposition because scientific physicans who have used the T. Willard Ready Apparatus with intense dry heat say it to be the standard method of treatment of these affections. Hitherto these returns have been made on the back of an ordinary card that was open to the inspection of al, into whose hands it might happen to fall. Now, however, these cards are to be enclosed in special envelopes and they will be seen by none except the official to whom they are addressed. An extra column has been included in which the name of the place where the marriage is to take place is to be written. This feature is now introduced for the first time and is done in order, to save a good deal of research in cases where a marriage license is issued in one place and the marriage takes place in another, in both of which instances returns are made to the Department.

9.—Traumatic Synovitis. or 10.—Tubercular Synovitis. It is hardly necessary to repeat what we have already-said in regard to the Dry Hot Air Treat-ment as regards these affections. Only that much we wish to add, that where heretofore tubercular joint troubles (syno-vitis or arthritis) were treated by intra-articular injection of certain antiseptics, the results, besides the pain, which such treatment necessarily caused, were far from satisfactory, while now the inflam-matory process is quickly checked and the backlin absolutely destroyed; for any tyro in medicines knows that even low tempera-tures of heat are sufficient to kill the bacil-lus tuberculesis. The value of dry hot air treatment is perhaps best established in sprains (raumatic synovitis), as it has been frequently reported that patients who could not take a step on account of, the pain have gone home-after an hours treat-neating the step on the step of the patients.

11.--Ankylosis, the technical term for stiffness or immobility of the joints, can be successfully treated with dry hot air, if due to rheumatism gon-onorrheal infection, tuberculosis or traumna, unless there is such extensive destrüction of tissue as to make repara-tion impossible or if the bones forming the joints are grown together. In such cases relief can be expected from osteoplastic operation only. In so-called fibrous ank-losis, the dry hot air treatment will be breaking of the adhesions, prior to and im-mediately after the operation, which the pains incident to the breaking will be re-lieved at once and a lighting up of a dor-mant inflammation prevented.
