— The Merchants Bank, in pursuance of the policy of retrenchment inaugurated under its new Manager, has discharged forty clerks, and reduced the salaries of those receiving over $500 twenty five per cent. The Manager has gone to England to close the office there.

— Canadian horses and cattle are in favor in England, according to a London correspondent, who states that several English buyers had expressed their intention to be present at the London (Ont.) Exhibition and at a sale in Toronto, with the object of investing in stock.

— On Saturday their Excellencies Lord and Lady Dufferin drove the first two spikes in the Pacific Railway at St. Boniface, with appropriate ceremonies. The first locomotive for Manitoba has been sent down Red River on a barge.

— The trade in coconuts is larger than many persons imagine. Already New York has imported 5,173,000 this season, which is less by about two and a half millions than during the same period last year. For some years the trade has been growing very rapidly.

— The herring fishers of Aberdeen carry with them carrier pigeons which are sent home at the rate of a mile a minute to announce the amount of the catch, so that preparations may be made for delivering and curing the fish, or to give the bearings of the boats when, owing to a calm or adverse winds, tugs are needed.

— An organization for mutual protection has been formed in Washington by the policy-holders of various life-insurance companies. This is part of a large movement which is to be carried on in all the large cities. A delegate convention is to be held in Washington during the winter to agree upon a national law for the protection of insured persons, to be urged upon Congress.

— Philadelphia is about to lose three of its large industries, including the Baldwin Locomotive Works, through over taxing them. Let not our Canadian cities follow the example. Great manufactories are very handy for assessment purposes, but the fable should not be forgotten about killing the goose that lays the golden eggs.

— The Standard Oil Company of New York, which is supposed to control the products of the Pennsylvania oil wells, has a capital of $23,000,000, which accounts for the ease with which they have succeeded in advancing prices in New York. The President of the Company insists that the increase was made solely because there was no profit in oil at present rates.

— We regret that, by a clerical error in last week's issue, the name of Gustave R. Fabre appeared in the list of those against whom writs of attachment had been issued. The name should have been Louis Mennier, the writ having been issued at the instance of Mr. Fabre. The names were transposed in transcribing from the Official Gazette, hence the mistake.

— According to the revelations of the last month American savings banks are very good places to deposit money, but very poor places from which to withdraw it when wanted. A Chicago dentist, referring to the numerous failures, tells the public that the safest place to deposit money is in the mouth, and advertises to place it there in the form of teeth.

— The Salem, Mass., Street Railway Co., set apart one day, a short time since, the total receipts of which were given to the employees. A prominent restaurant keeper kept an open and free house for the men, another citizen gave them a dinner. The cars were crowded all day by paying passengers.
