

Russia Has Signed Away More Valuable Territory

Germany, as Result, Has Halted Her Military Movements in Great Russia—Teutons to Get Big Oil Areas.

London, March 3.—"By reason of the signing of the peace treaty with Russia," says the official communication from German Headquarters to-night, "military movements in Great Russia have ceased."

In the fear that argument would result in even more onerous terms, the Russian delegation at Brest-Litovsk has accepted all the German peace conditions and is about to sign an agreement, according to a telegram from the delegates received yesterday at the Smolny Institute in Petrograd. The demands already have been increased, they reported.

The message, which was addressed to Premier Lenine and Foreign Minister Trotsky, follows:

"As we anticipated, deliberations on a treaty of peace are absolutely useless, and could only make things worse in co-operation with the ultimatum of February 21. They might even assume the character of leading to the presentation of another ultimatum."

"In view of this fact, and in consequence of the Germans' refusal to cease military action until peace is signed, we have resolved to sign the treaty without discussing its contents and leave after we have attached our signatures. We, therefore, have requested a train, expecting to sign to-day and leave afterwards."

"The most serious feature of the new demands, compared with those of February 21, is the following: 'To detach the regions of Karaband, Kars and Batoum from Russian territory on the pretext of the right of peoples to self-determination.'"

Press Farther Into Russia

A telegram from the Russian peace delegation to the Council of Commissioners according to an Exchange Telegraph Petrograd despatch of yesterday, says:

"The Germans presumably intend in the next few days to press farther into Russia, seizing more territory in order to dictate further terms. We order you not to give up anything without a struggle. Fight to the last, with the possibility of pressing back the enemy."

At a conference of the Social Revolutionaries of the Left a resolution was adopted rejecting "the conditions of peace which have been accepted by a weak majority of the Central Executive Committee," calling on the proletariat to "defend the Russian and International revolution against rapacious German imperialists."

German "Liberate" Kiev

The Russian fortress of Kiev, on the Dnieper River, in the Ukraine, has been "liberated," the German General Staff announced yesterday. General von Linshagen's troops have captured Gobot (120 miles southeast of Mohilev), the official statement also declares.

In the capture of Pskov by the Germans one of the German battalions suffered heavy losses through an explosion caused by the retreating Russians, according to a Berlin despatch printed in The Volkszeitung of Cologne.

The Germans have transferred powerful forces from Volochysk in the direction of Kiev, while the line from Kazatin to Berdichev aims at surrounding the city. Enemy armies are also concentrated at Dubni Kovno and Lutsk. Kiev is occupied by detachments of the army under Colonel Muraviev, formerly commander of the Petrograd garrison and now in command of the Bolshevik forces.

Many Russians surrender. The staffs of two Russian corps and three infantry divisions have surrendered to the Austrian forces. According to an official statement given out at the War Office in Vienna yesterday.

In Podolia our troops reached Lachowice, Proskurov and Lipkan-Crow," says the statement. "When Chotin and Kamenetz-Podolsk (capital of the Government of Podolia) were occupied the staffs of two Russian corps and three infantry divisions surrendered. Up to the present about three hundred guns, large quantities of munitions and other war materials have fallen into our hands."

Girls! Use Lemons! Make a Bleaching, Beautifying Cream

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quart of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier. The cost of one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold cream. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the best skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into face, neck, arms and hands. It naturally should help to soften, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is simply marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

Great Assembly of Workers Told Temperance Act Will Not Be Changed

WAS JEERED BY CROWD Sir William Forced To Discontinue His Speech By the Uproar.

Toronto, March 4.—There will be no four per cent beer in Ontario. Facing a crowd of several thousand workers with a sprinkling of soldiers, who had tramped through the slush to the Parliament Buildings in order to demand a stronger beer, Sir William Hearst on Saturday afternoon flatly refused to change the existing law. It was a resolute mass of men who listened to the Prime Minister's announcement, and they showed their feeling by yells and jeers, while a few more turbulent spirits tried to start a rush. Time and again while Sir William was speaking the police cordon was hard pressed to keep the crowd back. The Prime Minister, however, stood fast to his guns. He did not say all that he intended to, but he was enough to convince those present that the Ontario Government has made its decision and is going to stand by it.

He took the eight or nine speakers of the deputation about an hour to present their views, the addresses being largely a repetition of the fact that 1-2 per cent alcohol beer is unpalatable and indigestible, and that the 2-1-2 per cent alcohol beer, which corresponds to a four-per-cent proof spirit beer—is a non-intoxicating beverage; and that Canada alone of all the nations has resorted to prohibition.

Sir William's reply was a staunch assertion that the Ontario Temperance Act as it stands to-day has the endorsement of public opinion, and in telling the crowd candidly that he could not grant their request, he pointed out the uselessness of Ontario permitting the sale of a liquor that the Dominion Government, by its announced policy was not going to allow to be imported or manufactured.

"No Beer—No Ships."

The workers assembled at the Armories, where a resolution was passed endorsing a proposal to demand beer with 2-1-2 per cent "alcohol" instead of "proof spirits." Then they formed up in an irregular column and marched up to the Parliament Buildings, at their head a banner of the Brotherhood of Shipbuilders with the slogan "No Beer—No Ships." They formed up outside the main entrance from the steps of which the Prime Minister and the members of the Cabinet received them. The speakers were introduced by Thomas Moore of Niagara Falls, general organizer of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, who pointed out that since extension had taken from the workers their right to express an opinion upon the Temperance Act through their votes, they had to come personally to the government.

Mr. Moore read the resolution passed at the Armories, and then the names of a committee to go to Ottawa to take the matter up with the Federal Government.

F. J. Saul, representing the Toronto Munition Workers, declared that workmen were "disgusted at the continual attacks upon their sobriety made by temperance fanatics." He pleaded for a reasonable compromise as a truer measure of temperance reform than extreme laws. Harry Halford of Hamilton

No Indigestion, Gas, Sourness or Upset Stomach if you'll take "Pape's Diapepsin"—Try This!

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn humors and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Diapepsin, let this down! Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective, a difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite food.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. "Pape's Diapepsin" is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gas, no belching, no eructation of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.

emphasized the increase in illicit drinking which could be countered by allowing the sale of a mild but palatable beverage such as was suggested. Wm. Lodge, of Ottawa, secretary of the Allied Trades Council, said that workers were not drinking for ardent spirits, but they demanded a palatable beer as a right. Such a beer, he maintained, was necessary to men engaged in arduous employment. The Ontario Government, he said, was not doing its duty. The Electrical Workers' Union, followed much the same line. Light beers had a higher nutritive value than tea. H. G. Foster of the Hamilton Trades Union declared that the workers of Hamilton were almost unanimous in demanding a stronger beer. F. Greenlaw, president of the St. Catharines Trades and Labor Council, emphasized the fact that in England, the United States and other allied countries the sale of beer had not been prohibited. W. J. Deascol of the Kingston Trades and Labor Council, who spoke for the munition workers, said the present law was too drastic.

"To an unprejudiced observer the prohibitionist cannot be distinguished from a mania, a simple madness, an obsession against the little understood enemy," he said.

Take Verdict After War.

In commencing his reply Sir William declared for a minute or two to pay a tribute to the part the workers of Canada had played in the war, both in the workshops and the trenches. The Prime Minister referred to Capt. Bailey's remarks at the Massey Hall meeting and of his own expressed disapproval of them voiced in strong terms in the Legislature.

"But," he said, "we must not judge the justice of a cause by the intemperate remarks of its adherents. A remark was made about the 'Pope's Diapepsin' having been obtained upon this subject. In that connection I want to review for you the circumstances connected with the passing of the Ontario Temperance Act. It was our announced policy to submit the Act to the people before it became law, and the men who asked me not to take that course were the men who opposed the bill. They said it was not fair to take a vote during war-time, that we could not get a fair vote, or any vote at all of the men overseas who were the men above all others who were entitled to have a say on a law of this kind. I felt that their arguments were reasonable, so, as you know, the taking of the vote was postponed until the time when the soldiers came back from overseas and you have had a full opportunity to judge of the effects of this measure."

If public sentiment is against it it will be wiped out. If it is in favor of it, then, according to your own argument, it should remain upon the statute book.

The crowd, sensing that the Prime Minister's reply was taking an unfavorable turn, began to get restive. There was a lot of jeering and yelling from the rear ranks, and a surge was started toward the steps where Sir William stood. For a moment or two the police cordon were hard pressed, but the leaders of the deputation appealed for order and the crowd stilled down again.
