The Canadian Elevator Company has now in course of erection eight elevators, along the line of the G.T.P., at the following towns: Venn, Waterous, Young, Nokomis, Landis, Quinley, Redford and Scott. Ten other elevators will be built very shortly by the same company at other towns along the line, but the locations have not yet been determined upon. These elevators are of a uniform size, of 30,000 capacity. Each of the elevators is to be painted in harmony with the colors used by the G.T.P. on the stations, so that the appearance will be pleasing to the eye. It is the intention of the company to have the elevators completed within the next sixty days in order that they may be used to store this year's crop.

The death occurred at the hospital on Monday of Edward Evans, who at one time was employed as fireman at the city power house. Evans was found by sectionmen on Sunday morning lying beside the track a couple of miles east of Richardson. It is supposed that he fell from the passenger train as it was coming in over the Arcola line on Saturday night. In falling his head evidently struck one of the ties as his skull was fractured. He was brought into the hospital on Sunday and although operated on, his life could not be saved and he died early on Monday morning.

The Labor Problem Solved

A prominent farmer to the south of town has solved the labor problem. He agreed with a well known Creelman laborer to pay him double pay during the cutting season provided he kept up to his two binders. The farmer agreed to cut no more than 40 acres a day, and to have a day's cutting ready when the stooker arrived. This puts things so the man follows the rows of sheaves and loses no time walking between rows. The laborer also agreed to stook free all there remained unstooked at the close of cutting more than the 40 acres. The binders have been going several days and the man has kept up to the two binders. We will let you know at the close of the season how it ended, whether the man died or got fat at his job. He says himself he is going to complete the job for the reason why. We believe that he will fulfil his contract.—Creelman Gazette.

The mind of the really great man is ventilated and lighted by windows of compassion and understanding.

"The climate here is salubrious, isn't it?" remarked the tourist. "Say, friend," replied the native, "just write that there word down for me, will you? I got tired of swearing at this climate in the same old way. That's a new one."—Philadelphia Press.
