It will be to learn that the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsla, catarrh of stomach, "liver complaint," torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowel affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultants, as bronchial, throat and lung disease (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherrybark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedjes for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Juefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa; Prof. Finley Billingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. H., of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder M. D., of Hahnemann Med. Cheece, Chicago, and scores of others carally eminent in their several schools of practice.

The Golden Medical Discovery "is the only medicine but un for sale through druggists for like purposes, that has any such professional endoscement—worth more than any number of ordinary testingents for all the analysment of its merrits. A glance at this published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no poisonous, harmful or habit-forming drugs and no alcohol—chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides is a most useful agent in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. BILL TO PERMIT CO-OPERATION IN CANADA BEFORE HOUSE.

Mr. Monk's Interesting Statistics Upon an Economic Question That Is of Interest to Every Man and Weman in the Dominion-Plan is Popular Abroad-What Has Been Done on the Continent.

That the twentieth century would be the century of co-operation, just as the nineteenth century was that of the joint stock form of association, was the opinion of no less an authority than Mr. Gladstone, and in view of the bill that Mr. Monk has introduced in the duced in the Dominion Parliament, the subject becomes one of more than academic interest to Canadians. The measure provides for the creation and organization of co-operative associations among the farming and labor organization of co-operative associations among the farming and laboring classes of the country, and was first introduced at the last session of the House, when a strong speech was made by Mr. Monk. It made no progress last session, but has been again introduced, and this year it has been read a second time, referred to a special committee, and, if reported favorably, will become a Government measure. The purpose of these cooperative associations is simple. They are composed of people of limited means, who pay into the association a certain amount each week, and have the privilege of borrowing small sums from it, on security satisfactory to the other members.

The years later their numbers had increased to 900, and in 1864 there were 4.747. In 1878 there were ten thousand members, their capital amounted to about a million dollars, and their business turnover to about a million and a half. Their profits were practically $200,000. In Germany there are more than a million and a half people members of co-operative associations, and more than 12,000 banks. In some of the German states there is a co-operative bank in every third parish, with 50 per cent. of the farmers as members. In Belgium, where the lot of the laboring man is harder than in any other European country, the co-operative idea is a new one, but it has very rapidly become popular. In 1894 there were 286, representing a membership of 13,000, and to-day there are 2,000 societies. In the Netherlands there are 1,450 societies, in Austrio, 10,000; Italy, 4,000; in Hungary there are nearly 400,000 members. In short, in every European country where the co-operative idea has been introduced it has proved immensely popular to the working people, and has been a great blessing to them.

An authority on the subject of cooperative societies is Mr. Edward A.

"There may not be in England, of five of six pounds from a co-opera-tive bank would be a great personal convenience. A certain demand for such facilities there undoubtedly is on the part of laborers and very small producers, and such demand the coproducers, and such demand the co-operative bank association would with adequate support, be able to meet. But a wider basis than this is re-quired to meet the wants of farmers, who would want to borrow more sub-stantial sums and might find it an inestimable benefit if they could ob-tain them from a concerning scale tain them from a co-operative credit bank. * * * In almost every agricul-tural district of Great Britain the farmers or cultivators of the smaller class we practically in the hands of comnession men or brokers, who advance money to them before their cops are ready, and afterwards get the produce at substantially less than its legitimate value, because of the financial obligations which the growers incurred towards them at a time when they were recorded.

The propagandists, however, were equal to the emergency, and applied to the central union, with the result that sufficient funds were advanced to buy the villagers' discharge from the usurers. The society then proceeded without any further trouble.

On account of its effect on usurers alone, the co-operative idea is worth serious consideration; but it has many other good features. Searching For Bodies.

Toulon, March 14.—Minister of Marine Thomson arrived here yesterday from Paris. The roll of the battleship Jena, on which the disastrous explosions occurred Thesday, was immediately called, and 407 men replied to their names. Those of the crew who are uninjured are quartered temporarily in the naval barracks. Twenty-four officers and engineers are also reported to be safe, and besides, there are 44 of the crew lying in the hospitals seriously injured. As the officers and crew numbered 630, it will thus be seen that 155 are not accounted for. But the naval authorities consider it most probable that a large number of those have sought refuge with relatives or friends in Toulon.

Entire Town In Mourning.

The entire town is in deepest mourning. Crowds are gathered at the gates of the arsenal and docks awaiting the amouncement of the names of the dead. Hundreds of despatches asking for details of the disaster have reached naval headquarters here.

The Minister of Marine upon his arrival here consulted with the port admiral, after which he proceeded to the scene of the disaster. All around the Missiessy drydock were strewn pieces of shells, and the store sheds and other buildings were pierced in many places. Cordons of troops were drawn up on the quays near the hull of the Jena, where relay parties searched for bodies. Fire hose played all night on the unsubmerged portions of the battleship, whose interior had been completely flooded.

COVERED WITH SORES

Wonderful Zam-Buk Triumph!

Hivery mother knows with what rapidity sores, ring worm, ulcers, etc., spread from child to child. In Montreal recently most of the public schools were visited by an epidemic of itch in this way. A child is afflicted with scalp sores, itch or ringworm. In the course of play one child puts on another's hat. In this way, or in a hundred and one more which children sake possible, the infection spreads and sometimes a whole family is affected. Mr. J. C. Bates, of Burk's Falis says:—"My three children were all broken out with sores on face, hands and feet. Their condition was pitiable; and although I wried various ciatments and salves the sores continued to spread.

"One day I saw a report telling how beneficial Zam-Buk was for skin diseases, ulcers, etc. I got a supply of the balm and applied it to the children's sores. Almost immediately they got relief, and the sores began to heal. Although the skin disease had defied all the salves I had previously tried, in one week Zam-Buk overcame the trouble, and to-day the children have not a pimple or spot or mark of disease on their skin. For this grand result I have Zam-Buk to thank."

READ WHAT ZAM-BUK CURES

Zam-Buk heals all skin diseases—eczema, scaly sores, ulcers, ingworm, poisoned wounds, barbers' rash, pustules, face slemishes due to blood poison, good also for rheumatism and seuralgia.
