SHERIFF PELLETIER, MADA-WASK, AND MOTHER DEAD

Former Member of Legislature Had Been Ill of Smallpox

Edmundston, Nov. 21.—Joseph H. Pelletier, high sheriff of Madawaska county, died suddenly this afternoon about 2 o'clock. He had been suffering from smallpox, but was considered out of danger. Death resulted from heart failure. The news that the sheriff had passed away was received with profound regret which was greatly intensified when it became known a short time later that the sheriff's mother, Mrs. Rene S. Pelletier, eighty years of age, had died suddenly upon hearing of her son's death. The shock had been too much for her. She had been living with her son George. The wife of the late sheriff is also very ill from the effects of vaccination.

Sheriff Pelletier leaves, besides his wife, who was Miss Edna Sirois, seven children, the youngest of whom is only six weeks old. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon, but as the house is under quarantine, friends are not permitted to go there. Deep sympathy is tendered the bereaved family.

The late Sheriff Pelletier was born in 1876 at St. Francis. He was formerly a Liberal member of the legislature having been elected in 1912 along with L. A. Dugal, for Madawaska county. Messrs Dugal and Pelletier defeated Charles L. Cyr and Max D. Cormier by a large majority.

A farmer all his life, Caldwell knows the farmer's needs.

WALT MASON ON CASH RIDING

My car's so easy riding it gives no jar or shock, and in it I am gliding at all hours by the clock; and, as might be expected, my chores are off neglected, and creditors, dejected, and wishing I would walk. And every mile I travel, provides new, pleasant thrills; but, as I throw the gravel and climb the sunlit hills, the morbid undertaker, the butcher and the baker, protest that I'm a faker who doesn't pay his bills. All day you see me striving to make speed laws a jest, and if I cease my driving to give my car a rest, I'm boned by merchant princes for pay for prunes and quinces, and every one evinces a spirit I detest. Oh, why do men-like tailors insist on being paid? And why so many waiters amid the marts of trade? Why do they always chatter of things that do not matter? Why do they splash and splatter in language that's decayed? "Yoy ride in your four-wheeler," the village banker cries, "but you should pay the dealer from whom you bought your pie; if one has paid, the tinner, the webster and the spinner, the fletcher and the skinner, joy-riding then is wise. But if a man be owing for milk and garden sass, he then is wicked, blowing his coin for sparkling gas; and this the hosts are doing, all heedless they are 'choosing, while owing for the bluing, alack and eke alas!"

Will the Farmers Stick Together? Wait until Dec. 6 and see!

As Meek as a Lion Cub.

"There are certain men who are classed as 'armchair aviators,'" writes Henry Woodhouse in the American Magazine, on how animals act in airplanes. "Perhaps the most famous among armchair animal aviators are Whiskey and Soda, two lion cubs, pets of the Lafayette Escadrille. "The cubs finally had to be sent to a zoo in Paris because they were too nervous under fire. The men of the squadron decided, after their experience with Whiskey and Soda, that there was something wrong with the old saying, 'As brave as a lion.' When a bombardment was going on, the cubs would roar, sure enough; but they roared with fright. They simply ran amuck with terror, dashing headlong among the men and clawing blindly at anything and everything. Whiskey stood especially in awe of—what do you think? An ordinary rabbit and a rooster. One day the cub was nosing round when he blundered into a corner where the rabbit had been put. At the approach of the investigating Whiskey the rabbit turned round and let out a kick that landed squarely on the cub's nose. Whiskey never forgot that kick. It gave him a wholesome respect for another pet, a rooster that delighted in pecking on him. At sight of either the rabbit or rooster young Mr. Lion would lie for cover."
