

FEAR NOT TO DIE. Fear not to die, though in the midst of strength, Of youth, and power, and bloom; Though long repined, the blow must fall at length—

SUNRISE.

Some fern, my violet, let us stroll To view the ushering in the young morn; As from the jewell'd east the king of day

THE SHAN VAN VOCHT, A STORY OF THE UNITED IRISHMEN.

The wind howled around the old manor house with that peculiarly desolate cry the November night winds always assume; and heaped in odd corners, in angles of the house, around bases of trees, and under the door, the fallen leaves.

was the young mistress of the mansion, Helen Harrington, whose very presence was of itself sufficient to diffuse a sense of cheery happiness around. It would be very difficult to be near her and not feel that there was something bright and happy as well as beautiful, in her presence.

After waiting for an hour or two they drew them up quite disappointed, but, after making their disappointment away to fight when, though they had not seen anyone, nor heard a step near the place, they found Rose's glove gone—gone!

There was a pause of some duration as the old woman drew her shawl over her head, her face downwards to the freight, and pursued her knitting. There were few of the group assembled unaffectedly; but the "car", unbidden, trickled down

AYER'S PILLS. Are the Best. Ayer's Pills have been used in my family for over thirty years. We find them an excellent medicine in fever, eruptive diseases, and all bilious troubles, and seldom call a physician. They are almost the only pills used in our neighborhood.—Boston C. Co., New Landing P. O., W. Felton Park, Va.

Family Medicine. For 25 years, and they have always given the utmost satisfaction.—James A. Thomson, Birmingham, Ala. Ayer's Pills cured me of severe headache, from which I was long a sufferer.—Emma Keyes, Hingham, Mass.
