Romance Nipped in the Bud

"You've made me love you—adore you," said Calhoun. The southerner's voice thrilled with burning earnestness.

"Nonsense," laughed Marian. Calhoun was burning her up with his eyes, and Marian was glad that she was tucked away safely in the forward end of the canoe, well out of his reach.

"Don't make fun of me," he insisted, leaning forward and letting his paddle rest on the edge of the canoe. "Hum, you're making fun of me," retorted Marian lightly. "I honestly believe," she added, "that the habit of saying these things has got you tied up in a knot. How disappointing," she sighed. "I thought you had conquered all these boyish impulses, and become a man of stone."

"You've turned me into a man of fire," he pouted.

"Reverse," she laughed, "this is summer."

Her insolence fascinated her companion. "Doesn't my affection even interest you?" he demanded.

"It would both interest and flatter me," she replied, "provided it existed. But it doesn't. You have merely invented an alleged affection, as a sort of chase for the love-goblin that got you when you were here three years ago."

"I refute the allegation," protested the lawyer.

"Come, be cheerful," said Marian. "This sadness will become a vacationist. Hence loathed melancholy!"

"Why scoff?" asked the Georgian wearily. "And tell me, why is it inherent in a woman to sit and laugh at a man as soon as she begins to realize that he is genuinely in love with her?"

"Perhaps because ridicule is as formidable a barrier as love can be re-

At the City Hall.

The Chairman and full board were present at last night's session of the Civic Commission.

On motion of Mr. L. C. Morris, seconded by Mr. J. W. Withers, a resolution was passed waiving the fee for any license issued for motor cars used in the volunteer service.

A lengthy communication from Mr. J. P. Blackwood, relative to the award for the Flavin Street property, was read. On behalf of the Trustees of Cochrane St. Church he reviewed the cause of dispute, and the Council's agreement to abide by the terms of the award. The Board had offered debentures in settlement of the claim, but these would not be accepted by the Trustees unless they were of par value. Mr. Blackwood requested payment in cash, and should payment not be forthcoming within a month, the case will be taken to the Supreme Court for adjustment. The matter will be referred to the Board's Solicitor.

W. J. Kenny applied for sewerage for dwellings on LeMarchant Road. Referred to the Engineer.

R. E. Sutton made application for purchase of manure. Being the first application of this nature received by the Board, since assuming charge of Municipal affairs, a lengthy discussion ensued. The method of disposal as heretofore, of the sanitary collection from dwellings, was condemned by the Board in the interests of the public health. The Health Officer will be asked to report fully on the matter. As to the supplying stable manure, it was decided that in future it will be supplied by the sanitary collection upon order of the Secretary, after cash has been paid.

The Engineer was asked to prepare an estimate of the cost of the work on Water Street where subsidence has taken place.

The reports of the Road Inspectors, Sanitary Supervisors, Impounder, Water Inspector, and Health Officer were read and adopted.

It was ordered that the Secretary write the Solicitor regarding the collection of arrears, to find out what is being done, and to enforce payment.

The attention of the Board was called to the condition of the sidewalk on Victoria and Water Streets, and the retaining wall on Victoria Street. These will be attended to.

"It has been found that paper and other waste has been thrown from many of the stores on Water Street West on Saturday nights making the place unsightly on Sundays. The Board will take immediate steps to prosecute the offenders."

After the usual routine work, the meeting adjourned at 10 p.m.

Dutch Leonard.

Red McGhee

Red McGhee says: Right now a gent ain't up to much who'll kid about a name like Dutch. He takes an awful chance. But we'll give anything one try and give a hope that no mean guy will stab us with a glance. Young Leonard of the Boston gang drew me out of my blank when folks set out to hang a moniker on him. They called him Hubert—pretty tough. Then nicked him Dutch! I'd sure get rough an' tear 'em limb from limb.

What whada we care 'bout a name? It doesn't matter in a game. It don't count in the wins. An' right now Leonard—Dutch an' all—is workin' hard to distance all the guys who work with fins. He's pitchin' close to top-notch form an' keeps the goin' mighty warm for Bender an' Plank. He hasn't missed a turn this year an' that stuff in his starboard gear has kept the Sox in rank.

When he was on the long-jump wheel, with Denver, fans could never feel quite sure he'd go the route. He'd burn 'em up for half a game an' then he'd aviate a frame until they'd drag him out. Last year with Boston, too, he blew before he'd seen nine innings through an' he was pretty wild. But strike that off. He's sure produced. What he does now, not what he used, makes the cherub child.

More Fires.

Fires provoke immediate sympathy for the sufferer and also thankfulness for personal escape. Another thought should be whether one is personally and sufficiently protected? An insurance policy with Percie Johnson would provide for you this desired security and at small expense. Have you enough insurance?

The Leaven of Life.

By RUTH CAMERON.

Again and again a certain young woman whom I met three or four years ago on a summer vacation, comes 'into my mind.

I did not see a great deal of her, and we had few interests in common. Why, then, should I not completely forget her as one does so many vacation acquaintances? That is the question I asked the other day, when I unexpectedly found myself thinking of her, with the usual sense of friendliness and liking. I asked it first of myself, and then of a friend who also met her. And we shortly came to this conclusion. She had made so deep an impression upon us because of her keen and delightful sense of humor. When one thought of her one smiled just as one did when with her. She saw the amusing side to everything that had one—herself included.

She was a frivolous little person with a very serious minded husband, who was sometimes most impatient at her frivolity. One might have sympathized with him if she had not so clearly seen the humor of their incongruity.

That same summer, by the way, I met an intelligent serious minded woman with whom I had several interests in common. Yet until I started to write this I hadn't thought of her for months. So heavy in the balance of friendship and liking weighs a sense of humor!

It is scarcely possible to overestimate the value of the right kind of laughter in leavening life.

The ability to see the amusing side of things takes the sting out of annoyances as nothing else can.

Again, a sense of humor supplies an unequalled oil for the machinery of married life. "The worst quarrel we ever had," a married woman told me, "was broken up by a laugh. You know we both have high tempers and we're pretty obstinate. Well, once we had gotten tremendously cross at each other. We were sulky and proud and hurt and would hardly speak for days, and I don't know how long it would have lasted if something funny hadn't happened. Fortunately we both had the same kind of a sense of humor, and we simply couldn't help laughing, and after that it wasn't possible to be dignified and sulky again. So we just made it up."

Even serious troubles can be leavened and lightened by a sense of humor. I know a woman who has a good deal to worry about, but she is almost always cheerful. "How do you keep so happy?" some one asked her one day. "You have a great deal to worry you, don't you?" "Oh yes," she said, "we've got plenty of things to worry about, but somehow we're not worrying about them very much. We're trying to laugh instead."

A sense of humor is a great gift and one to be ardently cultivated. For he who has it greatly blesses not only himself, but all with him whom he comes in contact.

"So you're way down in the dumps—Blue, you say?"

"Think you've played out all your trumps?"

"Oh, go 'way!"

"It's not like the game of poker; in this game you use the joker."

"It's the card you hold the longest; it's the one you find the strongest; Laugh and drive the blues away!"

Supreme Court at Grand Falls.

Special to Evening Telegram.

GRAND FALLS, Yesterday. Supreme Court opened here for the first time at 11 this forenoon, Justice Johnson presiding, other officers: Sheriff Carroll, Crier Alsopp, Acting Clerk Fox, with lawyers Emerson and Pinsent. The Judge delivered an address making reference to the outstanding features of the large industry at Grand Falls and complimented the citizens on the splendid conditions prevailing and entire absence of crime after which the Court rose till to-morrow.

Sulphate of Ammonia.

St. John's Gas Light Company. Dear Sir,—I have analyzed a sample of Sulphate of Ammonia made at your Works, and I found 20.5 per cent. of NITROGEN, Sulphates of Ammonia and Nitrate of Soda are the two principal Nitrogen manures. Sulphate of Ammonia is less soluble than Nitrate of Soda, consequently it is a safer manure to use during a wet season.

Yours truly,

Soaring Prices.

The clock strikes one, the noon hour's done, I must resume my toiling; man dare not sleep if he would hear the blooming pot a-bolling. For every hour the price of flour and other grub's advancing; all things suffice to raise the price, the C of L enhancing. There's threat of war in Labrador, according to dispatches, so we must pay far more to-day for cheese and parlor matches. There's too much rain in Southern Spain, fresh rain and kindred liquors, so we must blow far more, you know, for overshoes and stickers. The war on Serbs affects such herbs as we are fond of chewing; it takes more cash for succotash and all the greens were stewing. The crop of hay at Hudson's Bay is poor, so folks are saying, so Hyson tea is costing me just twice what I've been paying. Blight killed the geese in Northern Greece; I would not care a button, but that, amazed, I find it raised the price of beef and mutton. This graft seems queer to me, my dear; it makes no odds what chances, on land or sea, or lake or tea, the C of L advances.

Where Responsibility Lies.

No matter how large, or how small, a business may be, nobody can deny that its Office is the nerve centre of the firm. Every transaction, important or trivial, must be recorded at the Office. An order is received at the Office, its history is recorded at the Office, and finally payment is received at the Office. If the Office makes an error the firm stands the loss. That's why you must be sure that your office is moderately and dependably equipped for the care of all important papers. To do this effectively you need the up-to-date equipment of the "GLOBE-WERNICKE CO." When sixty offices in St. John's have found this necessity this equipment can surely be of use to you. Mr. Percie Johnson represents this well known firm in Newfoundland.—sep17,14

Laid To Rest.

The funeral of the late John Cormack, Insurance Agent, took place this afternoon from his late residence on Queen's Road and was attended by a large and representative gathering of citizens, including the officers of the B. I. S. of which deceased was a prominent member. The corpse was enclosed in a handsome casket covered with beautiful floral wreaths. Interment was at Belvedere Cemetery.

People are doing more reading today than ever before, and it is very important to those who wear glasses that they should be properly fitted. If you have any trouble or are in doubt, go to TRAFNELL, the Eye-Sight Specialist.—sep12,14
