Germans Place Explosives Under Cathedrals, Historic Buildings, and Streets-Plan Against Retreat Day-

ditions in Antwerp as they are to-day as well as in other parts of Belgium was told yesterday by Herman Huysmans, an expert worker in an ammunition factory, who managed to get out of the country, and who arrived here yesterday to begin life anew in this country. His wife and two lit tle children were killed during the bombardment of Antwerp in 1914, and since that time he has lived alone and much of the time in want in the Belgian metropolis. Huysmans is educated and the story he told yesterday was not a recital of atrocities and inhuman acts committed by the Ger mans, but one rather of German efficiency when that efficiency is directed at the people of a conquered country. The food situation in all parts of Relgium, Huysmans said, could not well be exaggerated. Milk is no longer to be had and babies are now fed sells at $2.50 a pound, and coffee, except in the cases of those who still have some money left, is no longer to be had. The country has been mined by the Germans, supposedly in anticipation of a possible future retreat through the country. Able-bodied Belgians have the option of working for the military authorities or of seeing some or all of their womenfolk deported into Germany, while the crops when harvested are divided in a ratio of about four and one-half parts to the Belgians.

Bread 40 Cents a Loaf

"When I left Antwerp," said Huysmans, "bread was selling at 40 cents for a small loaf, meat brought $2 a pound. The potato crop this year was fine for the Germans, but not for the Belgians, for if a farmer had a crop hat netted 500 kilos he had to turn over 450 kilos to the German authorities, most of it to be exported into Germany for the population there.

"The Germans have been busy for months mining the country. The mines have been placed not only at strategic points, but in many of the cities and towns, under the streets, and even under the buildings. 'In Antwerp I myself saw them placing the mines. and I know what I am saving when I tell you that mines are now in posi-tion under the Cathedral, Palace of Justice, and other great buildings in that city. The mines are electrically controlled, and the mined areas and buildings are under the constant guard of German soldiers.

"Trenches have been constructed all over the country, and if ever the Allies get into Belgium and begin a drive at the Germans they are going to find a nighty big job to dislodge them. Yet there is not a Belgian living who does not believe that the time is coming when the German will be driven from the land, but it's going to take a world of work, and I think it will be a long

Will Raze All Belgium.

Many of the German soldiers will admit that the day is probably coming when the Allied advance will drive them back into the country, but they will tell you that when that time mes they won't leave anything anding in Belgium. Perhaps that is

"I want to say a word for the plain, is not responsible for the trouble in Belgium, and in a lot of instances the enlisted men are big, kind-hearted chaps who sympathize with the Belgians. The Bavarians especially were kind, so kind, in fact, that they shipped them all to the Russian front and
