Local Market.

London, Thursday, Aug. 30. The market was inactive this morning, but prices of meat, dairy produce, fruit and vegetables remained Meat was decidedly quiet and poultry slow. Butter plentiful and unchanged. Plums were the feature of the fruit market. This is plum week, and the market was flooded with them. Bradshaw and fancy egg varieties brought from 60c to 75c; Gages, 40c to 75c; Lombards, 25c to 50c, and blues, 35c to 40c. The prevailing prices for other fruits were: Peaches, 50c to $1 25; grapes, 25c to 40c for 10-1b baskets; pears, 25c to 40c per basket; apples, per bushel, from 50c up; for musk-melons there was no demand; tomatoes were plentiful, and brought from 15c to 20c a basket.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—A sudden increase in the export business, following the announcement of an increase in grain rates brought the wheat market around with a jerk today, advancing prices nearly 1c. The close was %c to %c advance. Corn was firm on dry weather talk, and closed %c to %c higher. Oats closed %c to %c higher. Provisions showed easiness, and closed 2½c to 5c lower. Northwest receipts showed considerable increase, Minneapolis and Duluth reporting 373 cars, against 175 last week and 647 a year ago. Chicago receipts were 90 cars. Total primary receipts were 687,000 bushels against 1,146,000 bushels a year ago. Export engagements were put at 51 loads. Over a million bushels of wheat are said to have been taken by one firm, which was a leading seller early in the session.

DREYFUS DAY

The Captain's Alleged Confession Explained.

Dreyfus Creates a Deep Impression on the Audience.

The Governor of the Prison on the Witness Stand-Dreyfus Credits His Wife With Saving Him From Suicide.

Rennes, Aug. 31.-The court-martial of Capt. Dreyfus opened behind closed doors today and lasted until 9:15 a.m. Majors Hartmann and Ducros and Gen. Deloye, all of the artillery, were present. The court discussed the secret documents relating to the artillery subjects of the bordereau. The public was admitted to the court at 9:30 a.m.

The first witness called after the public session was opened was Capt. Lebrun-Renault, of the Republican Guard, who reiterated his testimony, given before the court of cassation, repeating the terms of the alleged confession of Dreyfus: "I am imocent. In three years they will recognize my in-nocence. The minister knows it. If I delivered documents to Germany, it was to have more important ones in return." Witness explained that he did not refer to the confession of Dreyfus during his interview with President Casimir-Perier, because he over-heard a conversation, during the course of which he was called "traitor," "canaille," and "cur."

A SURPRISE.

This came as a surprise, for he did not mention this in his evidence before the court of cassation, as M. Labori, leading counsel for the defense, pointed out.

M. Labori also laid stress on the fact that Capt. Lebrun-Renault should have kept his notebook (in which, he asseris, he made a note of his conversation with Dreyfus), for four years, only to have it destroyed on the very morning the matter was brought up in the Chamber of Deputies.

The captain's reply, that he looked upon the copy made by M. Cavaignac, the minister of war, as being sufficient, was considered rather lame

DREYFUS REPLIES.

Dreyfus, replying to the witness, began by calmly declaring that Capt. Lebrun-Renault's statement that a certain Capt. Dattel was present during his conversation with Capt. Lebrun-Renault was inaccurate. The witness, how-ever, maintained that Capt. Dattel was not speak to him. Dreyfus then raised his voice excitedly, and, accompanying his words with short, emphatic gestures of the right hand, which was quivering in his emo-tion, he protested that Capt. Lebrun-Renault should have repeated to his chiefs his utterance, which began with a protestation of innocence, without asking him to explain his words."Those are maneuvers," cried the prisoner, "which must fill all honest men with indignation." ("Bravos" in court.)

This declaration of the prisoner made a deep impression on the audience. Dreyfus spoke the last few words through his teeth, and was evidently laboring under the greatest excitement and indignation. The audience broke into "Bravos," which the gendarmes suppressed.

Capt. Antoine followed, and repeated what Capt. Dattel had said, confirming the confession.

Dreyfus replied that he had not spoken to Capt. Dattel. On being recalled, Capt. Lebrun-Renault said this was true, but he added that Capt. Dattel was present, and could have overheard the conversation. M. Labori here pointed out that Capt. Dattel had not spoken to his chiefs on this subject and Gen. Mercier, who, like all the military witnesses, followed the proceedings today with the keenest attention, rose and admitted that this

Col. Jouaust told Dreyfus he had not explained why he mentioned the term of three years, to which Dreyfus re-plied: "I did not give three years as the term. I only said that I hoped that in the course of two or three years my innocence would be recognized. All I wish to state, my colonel, that as my letter to Gen. Gonse shows, my words did not have the sense evil minds

M. Labori then had Gen. Gonse called to the bar, and asked him if he had not used the alleged confession of Drey-fus in opposing Col. Picquart's arguments in favor of a revision. Gen. Gonse replied that he had not, where-upon M. Labori asked that the letters exchanged between Gen. Gonse and Col. Picquart should be read.

The clerk of the court began to read a letter beginning "My Dear Picquart," when Gen. Gonse interrupted him and asked that Col. Picquart's previous letter by mand of the read of the collection of the read of the collection of the read of the collection of the read of th ter be read first, but as the letter was not available for the moment, the read-

"Whereupon," Major Forzenetti said, "I took his arm and cried: 'If the words repeated as yours are true, you are an infamous liar."

Major Forzenetti then declared that on visiting Gen. De Bolsdeffre to express fears about the health of the prisoner, the general asked him his opinion of Dreyfus and the major replied: "My general, had you not put the question to me I would have kept my counsel but since your later." my counsel, but since you ask my opin-ton, I declare I believe he is innocent." cluded with the words. When I am gone let them seek the culprit."
At the conclusion of Major Forzenetti's evidence. Dreyfus, on Col. Jouaust's invitation, and after reference to the last interview of Paty de Clam, said, looking with gratitude toward the major: "There is a letter, which Major Forzenetti has just recalled, which has greatly moved me, and which I wish to recall, for I wish to which I wish to recall, for I wish to say to whom I owe the fact that I have done my duty, to whom I owe having done it for 50 years. After my condemnation I had been determined to kill myself. I had made up my wind not to undergo the frightful for mind not to undergo the frightful torture of a soldier from whom they wished to tear the insigna of honor. Well, then, let me say this, that if I went to that torture, it was TO MADAME DREYFUS who showed me my duty, and who told me that if I was innocent, I ought to go to it for the sake of her and our children. If I am here it is to her I owe it, my colonel."

Here Major Forzenetti said: "It is quite true that in his last interview with his wife, Dreyfus said: 'For her and for my children I will undergo the torture of tomorrow.

Tears were glistening in his eyes, and he was clearly suppressing an outburst of sobbing. The session concluded with the confrontation of Capt. Lebrun-Renault and Gen. De Boisdeffre, the former explaining that he did not speak to Major Forzinetti of the Dreyfus confession, because he had received instructions to keep silent.

Gen. De Boisdeffre denied that Major Forzinetti had expressed to him his conviction that Dreyfus was innocent. But the major maintained his asser-
