KING TRUE TO PARTY PLEDGE AT CONVENTION

Declares Administration Will Represent Every Type of Liberalism.

WANTS RAIL RATES CUT

Meighen Attacks Campaign Platform of W. G. Raymond of Brantford.

BY JOHN J. McLELLAN, Advertiser Staff Correspondent.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 13.—Declaring in his concluding words that under the standard of Liberalism, and Liberal principles, every shade of opinion of a Liberal and Progressive nature would find representation in his administration, the Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada, tonight gave the first intimation of the policy that would be pursued by the present government in the several questions of grave importance dealt with in the speech from the throne. Though remaining reticent on the specific changes that would be brought about by revision of the customs tariff the premier declared himself to be still in accord with the statement and the policy that he gave utterance to at the Liberal convention.

Parliament now awaits the first speech of the minister of railways and canals for in it will be revealed the policy of the new government, the prime minister tonight declaring the explanation of the proposed coordination would be made by the minister of railways at the earliest possible date.

Refers to Freight Rates. Of freight rates he said that overtures had been made to the heads of the companies to consider the immediate reduction thereof and that if these could not agree further steps would be taken by Parliament.

Regarding agriculture, the premier said he believed that there were three bodies of opinion. One favored the old wheat board now abolished, who marketed the wheat during the war. The second body of opinion stood for the marketing of wheat by the voluntary pool as proposed by Farmer Premier Arthur Meighen. The third body of opinion believed that the best method was to leave the marketing of wheat to private corporations, such as the Grain Growers' Association of the West, of which T. A. Crear is the leader. The Legislature would appoint in this matter a committee, said the premier, who would go into the question and submit their findings to the house for consideration.

What the government proposes to do regarding the natural resources of the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta had already been made public, said the premier, who referred to the reference to the criticism of the leader of the opposition in the afternoon that whatever boards sat upon the problems of the transference of the many millions of dollars derived from the natural resources between the Dominion and the provinces, would be under the jurisdiction of the Commons.

Congratulates Lemieux. Such is the outline of policy that has been eagerly awaited by the people of Canada from a government that up until now has remained exceedingly quiet.

It is enlightening and shows that the government has been at work industriously during the interval between its formation and opening of parliament.

Upon arising the premier congratulated Lemieux upon his unanimous election as speaker, and spoke of the worthiness of the present governor-general, Lord Byng. He wished that the congratulations of the house be extended to Her Royal Highness Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles.

The sympathy of the Commons the premier also wished to be extended by the Speaker to the relatives of the late Peter McGeheon, of the constituency of Argenteuil, who died a few days after the election.

Continuing, he referred to the friendship between himself and the hon. leader of the opposition, Arthur Meighen. They were, he said, both products of the same alma mater, and then the premier made a quip at the expense of the leader of the opposition. He heartily wished, he stated, that Mr. Meighen might live many years to enjoy the position which he now occupied.

From this point the premier turned to answer the utterances of the leader of the opposition in the afternoon concerning peace treaties. In the three o'clock session Mr. Meighen had scornfully referred to the clause of the speech from the throne concerning the peace treaties. It was a matter of course, he implied, that treaties of this nature should be presented to the Commons, and he went on to say that never, unless some serious circumstance intervened, had a treaty of like order ever been withheld from parliament.

Premier Takes Issue. The premier took issue with a statement by the leader of the opposition made during the time that the leader of the opposition was premier, concerning matters with reference to the imperial conference of premiers during July and August of 1921 in London, England.

Mr. Meighen continually rose to a point of order here, and finally it was brought out that the prime minister of the late regime had not attended the conference of premiers throughout its full sessions.

Campaign literature was not entirely a fit subject for the remarks of the worthy leader of the opposition, said the premier, for had not there been a poster placed at many points throughout the land at the last election, which with an accompanying picture, stated that the country needed a certain statesman, then in great prominence.

In all the day's debate, the only Western Ontario member's name that entered the discussion was that of

Windsor Council Wants Every Home In City To Have Hydro-Electric Stove

Special To London Advertiser.

WINDSOR, March 13.—An electric stove in every home in the city is the plan of the city council. Resolutions seeking the co-operation of the hydro electric commission were passed tonight by a unanimous vote of the aldermen.

The council will meet the commission at an early date to discuss ways and means to finance the venture. Ald. Strong and A. W. Jackson, who fathered the resolutions, suggested that stoves should be purchased by the city, and that they be sold on installment plan payments to be made in light bills.

"Get the commission to install stoves at 50 per cent under present cost," asserted Ald. Howell, "and you will render some service to taxpayers who cannot afford to pay the present high cost of installation."

Ald. Strong said an electric stove in every home would be one way to fight natural gas companies who are serving, he said, only one-third of the householders.

REPORT SIR JOHN EATON'S CONDITION UNCHANGED

Family Physicians Declare Probable Outcome Cannot Be Foretold.

TORONTO, March 14.—Sir John Eaton's condition was reported at an early hour this morning to be "unchanged." Suffering from general infection out of an attack of influenza, the head of the T. Eaton Company, Limited, has been battling for his life for the last 48 hours. Yesterday at noon an announcement was made that he had regained consciousness for a time, and that he "was not losing ground."

The following official bulletin was issued late last night:

"Sir John Eaton's condition remains unchanged. There has been no appreciable change during the last 48 hours."

From the nature of Sir John's critical illness the family physicians state that nothing can be foretold as to the probable outcome. Everything that modern medical science can do has been done. Members of the family who were out of the city at the time the crisis developed have returned, and are assisting Lady Eaton, who is constantly at her husband's bedside.

LOBO SPEAKERS WIN DEBATE AT ILDERTON

Excellent Entertainment Is Provided by Members of Bear Creek Community Club.

Special To London Advertiser.

ILDERTON, March 13.—Bear Creek Community Club met on Friday evening with a very large crowd in attendance. The debate between the two continuation schools, Lobo and Ilderton, was the drawing card. The subject was: "Resolved that the Continuation School offers better opportunities than the Consolidated School."

Lobo school had the affirmative with Victor Crawford and Miss Irene Stewart as speakers; Ilderton, negative, with Misses Isabel Fraser and Bertha Charlton speakers; referees, Ernie Caverhill, Ross McGugan and Mrs. Mac, McLean; timekeepers, Miss Elsie Caverhill and Miss Anderson, principals of each school. Twelve minutes was time allowed and such was the flow of oratory that nearly all the speakers were called.

Mr. Meighen no longer scorned the dilapidated annex. He now turns to it in subservient manner when speaking in the commons, and courts its favor by attempting to show the followers of the member from Marquette, T. A. Crear, that there is no hope for the incorporation of their policies in the Liberal principles.

At first Mr. Meighen explained that he bore no resentment to the people of Canada for the accomplishing of his defeat by them on Dec. 6. No, whatever rancor he harbored was just a spontaneous product, apparently of his own broodings, no doubt on what he said on Thursday last was the "mortality of political life."

At all events, he drew on stores of resentment that supplied bitterness enough to fute denunciations of the Liberal methods of obtaining power.

Meighen Attacks Gouin. Mr. Meighen gave particular attention with his darts to the minister of justice and member from St. Antoine, Sir Lomer Gouin. Sir Lomer apparently typifies the Montreal interests "to whom" Mr. Meighen catered until a week before election, and then they weighed the leader and him wanting, and splitting the Tory organization worked the defeat of the Conservative party.

In beginning the leader of the opposition confessed that at present that he was in the depths of distrust and despair and predicted that within a short time the member from North Winnipeg, who by his speaking moving the address from the throne was so optimistic, would find himself in a similar position of distrust and despair.

Well might a leader who finds himself with the meagre following of the Hon. Arthur in the depths of despair.

Mr. Meighen doubted if the Liberal party could keep their pledges on the tariff problem, which were, he thought, ambiguous. He was equally doubtful if the policy of the present administration by coordinating the railways intended to amalgamate them and unify them. He even thought that even at the moment there was being a propaganda campaign among the people of the country to make them see the fallacy in public ownership.

He thought the inquiry to be brought about was only a means of side-stepping the issue. As for the government policy on the question of the granting to the Western Provinces their natural resources, the same proposition as had been made in answer to the riddle as to who or what was responsible for driving Alexander MacDonald and his family out of their home at Caledonia Mills, Antigonish, in zero weather, tucked safely in his pocket, early this morning abandoned the house of mystery to the movie camera men, who unfortunately, he thought, it over the week-end, and with his assistants and their impediments set out for Antigonish to entrain for Halifax.

GHOST DETECTIVE ENDS RESEARCHES

HALIFAX, N. S., March 13.—Dr. Walter Franklin Prince, investigating officer of the American Society of Psychological Research, with his answer to the riddle as to who or what was responsible for driving Alexander MacDonald and his family out of their home at Caledonia Mills, Antigonish, in zero weather, tucked safely in his pocket, early this morning abandoned the house of mystery to the movie camera men, who unfortunately, he thought, it over the week-end, and with his assistants and their impediments set out for Antigonish to entrain for Halifax.

PROFESSOR TO STAY AT POST

J. W. Crow, O. A. C. Horticultural Director, Will Not Tender Resignation.

MORE FUNDS REQUIRED

Department of Agriculture Criticized for Failure to Increase Grants.

Special To London Advertiser.

GUELPH, March 13.—Professor J. W. Crow, head of the horticultural department at the O. A. C., has been asked for his resignation, but according to a statement made by the professor this afternoon, he does not intend to resign.

"I have been asked to resign by a man who does not know anything about my department," said Professor Crow, in answer to a question as to whether he had handed in his resignation. "But I have not resigned, and do not intend to do so," he added.

"What is the trouble?" he was asked. "I do not care to say anything further regarding the matter, except that I have been asked to resign, and do not intend to do so," he replied.

Avoids Statement.

All President J. B. Reynolds of the O. A. C. would say when asked regarding the resignation, was that Professor Crow had not resigned. "Has he been asked to resign?" President Reynolds was asked. "That's a different story," he replied. "But if it was true it would not be given out here. I have nothing further to say."

It is an open secret that trouble has been brewing in the O. A. C. horticultural department for some time, and it is alleged that niggardly treatment of this branch of the institution at the hands of the Ontario Department of Agriculture is largely responsible.

It is claimed that the horticultural appropriation is inadequate and the equipment is out of date, and that because of this Prof. Crow is unable to get results. It is said that the department is always in financial straits before the year is half completed, and repeated attempts to secure an adequate appropriation have always failed.

Passed Resolution.

At the recent short-course classes in floriculture there was much comment on the poor equipment of the horticultural department, and before the classes disbanded the following resolution, a copy of which was forwarded to Hon. Manning Doherty, was passed:

"If we might make a suggestion it would be that the honorable minister of agriculture be urgently requested to strengthen the hands of the department of horticulture at the O. A. C. by providing sufficient funds to permit of securing increased equipment, and a more complete and varied range of plants, so that the department may be brought up to a standard of efficiency in keeping with the work required of it under present conditions."

Society Urges Aid.

J. E. Carter, vice-president of the Ontario Horticultural Society, stated today that this organization is making strong efforts to get the government to improve the horticultural department at the O. A. C., which, he contends, has been a disgrace to the province for the last 20 years.

Professor Crow, whose resignation has been asked for, has been head of the horticultural department since 1914, at which time he succeeded Prof. Hutt. Prof. Crow is a native of Welland, Ont., and after his graduation from the O. A. C. in 1907 he joined the horticultural department, and has been connected with it ever since.

DOHERTY INTERVIEWED. TORONTO, March 13.—Interviewed here tonight, Hon. Manning Doherty, Ontario minister of agriculture, said he did not know about the resignation of Professor J. W. Crow, of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, but he did know that Principal Reynolds, of the O. A. C., was not satisfied with Professor Crow's work.

Sap Flowing Freely In Ingersoll District.

INGERSOLL, March 13.—A splendid flow of sap has been reported by a number of farmers in the neighboring districts who have tapped their maple trees. Some syrup of excellent quality has been made, but as yet very little is being marketed. Opinions differ as to the probable duration of the syrup-making season. Some of the farmers hold to the opinion that owing to the absence of snow and the fine weather that has prevailed for several days the season will likely be short.

DROUILLARD PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO ROBBING MAILS

Prisoner Awaits Trial on Four Charges at Windsor.

WINDSOR, March 13.—Russell Drouillard, charged with bank robbery and robbery of the Canadian mails, waived trial by jury, asking summary trial, when he was arraigned on four charges by Magistrate Gundy in Windsor police court today. He pleaded not guilty to all charges. R. L. Brackin, K. C., is defending him. Trial was fixed for next Monday.

One charge of robbery, by night, with violence, against Drouillard concerns the Tecumseh mail robbery on February 15, when Herbert Jacobs and his wife were held up and robbed of a mail sack containing $4,115.

High Constable Fred Kerr was indignant this morning while discussing the latest offence on the part of thieves hereabouts. He stated that yesterday someone stole flowers from newly-made graves in Mount Hope Cemetery. Prompt investigation will be made.

REFUSES TO LIFT EMBARGO ON CATTLE FROM CANADA

Sir Griffith-Boscawen Asserts Removal Would Not Aid Unemployment.

LONDON, England, March 13.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—Replying to a question in the House of Commons today, Right Hon. Sir A. Griffith-Boscawen, minister of agriculture, said that in considering the report of the commission which had investigated the question of the embargo on Canadian cattle, the Imperial government had been fully cognizant of the Canadian government's views.

The minister refused to accept a suggestion that the cabinet should reconsider the commission's report because the government presented employment in the shipping, landing and feeding of cattle, and said that any increase of employment in the direction suggested as a result of the removal of the embargo would be at the expense of employment in other parts of the country.

The trial was held in camera yesterday afternoon. Geo. Anderson was fined two hundred dollars for having liquor for sale, and was remanded on a charge of owning a still. John Anderson was remanded on a charge of having a still and having liquor for sale.

They are Happy and Well
You Should Be the Same

A LARGE number of women's ailments are not surgical ones. Serious displacements or radical changes have not yet taken place.

A tiny part in a fine clock may become loose and cause the clock to gain or lose. If not attended to in time, the part may fall from its place and cause serious trouble. So it is with women's ailments, they start from simple causes; but if allowed to continue, produce serious conditions.

When the warning symptoms are first noted, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present troublesome ailment, and to prevent the development of serious trouble.

Hamilton, Ontario—"I have suffered for three years from a female trouble and consequent weakness, pain and irregularity which kept me in bed four or five days each month. I nearly went crazy with pains in my back. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the Hamilton Spectator and I took it. Now I have no pain and am quite regular, unless I overwork or stay on my feet from early morning until late at night. I keep house and do all my own work without any trouble. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to several friends."—Mrs. EMILY BECKROFT, 16 Douglas St., Hamilton, Ont.

Pine Grove, Ontario—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulder-blades and bad feelings in the lower parts on each side, in the groins. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors."—Mrs. EDGAR SIMMONS, R.R. No. 2, Pine Grove, Ontario.
