BRANTFORD MAN HOME;
UNCONSCIOUS FOR DAYS
IN HOSPITAL AT DETROIT

Barnard Bogue Tells Story of How He Was Clubbed on Head by Man Who Asked Him for Money—Was Taken to Jail Hospital by Police.

RELATIVES OVERJOYED AT HIS RETURN

Special to The Advertiser.
Brantford, April 19.—Barnard Bogue, 18 Grey street, returned home this morning after having been missing for 11 days. He disappeared in Detroit on April 7.

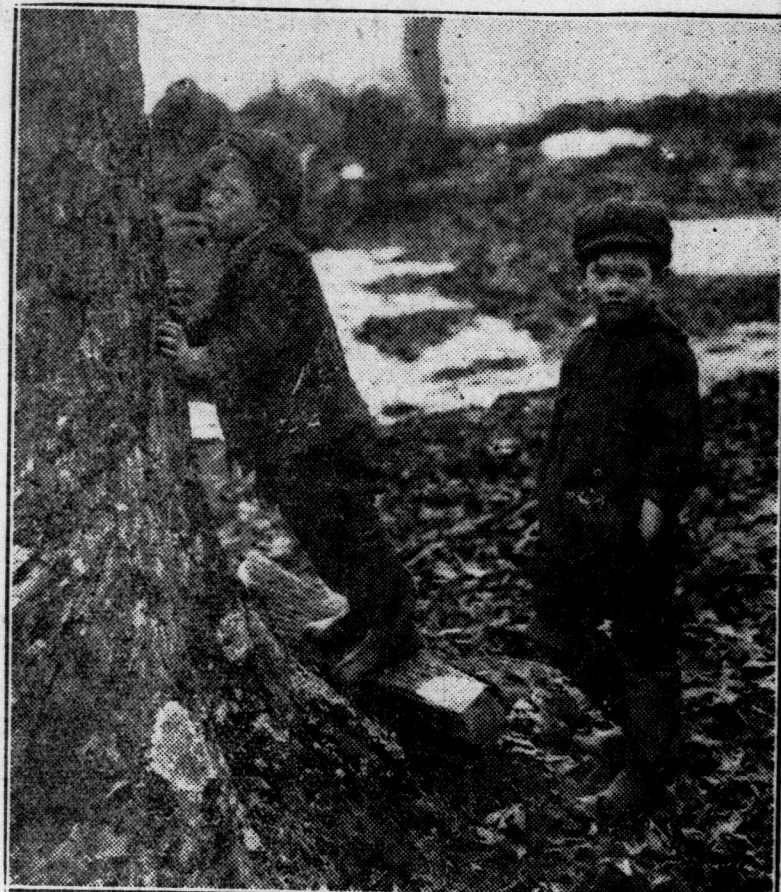

Mr. Bogue, who was in bed when a reporter called this morning, appeared to be suffering from nervous shock, but nevertheless was able to tell the story of his disappearance. He stated that on April 7 he drew his pay from the American Body Company, where he was employed, about 4:30 p.m. He went to his boarding house, got dressed, and went out. While strolling along Grosse Pointe avenue, he met a man who approached him and asked him for some money. Bogue, who had a large sum on him at the time, told the man that he did not have any, and turning his back, started to walk off. He had only taken a few steps when something struck him on the back of the head and he collapsed.

Some time later he regained consciousness and found that he was in the infirmary of Wayne County Jail, Detroit, where he had been taken by members of the police force who had found him on the street. The police told him that when he was picked up he was suffering from a cut on the head and was totally unconscious. His pockets had been gone through and nothing remained on his person that would serve to identify him. For the first few days he was in the infirmary, he was unable to tell the police who he was, with the result that his friends in Detroit and Brantford had been going through the automobile city were gone over, no one thought it possible that he had recovered sufficiently by yesterday afternoon to be discharged, and he boarded the first train for Brantford, arriving here this morning.

Mrs. Bogue, who with her large family of small children had not given up hope that he would return, was overjoyed, and this morning stated that she had not believed in the rumors of foul play which had been mentioned by Bogue's American friends.

The children were overjoyed at the return of their daddy, and Mrs. Bogue herself seemed extremely happy. Mr. Bogue still has the cut on his head and is feeling very shaky, but glad to be at home and safe.

State Officials Hope To Discover Important International Facts Concerning Great War in Royal Cache.

Special Cable to The Advertiser.
Belgrade, April 19.—Royal jewels and valuable documents of state, buried when the late King Nicholas of Montenegro fled for his life—were dug from the ground at Cetinje today.

The royal cache, six feet underground, contained four cases of priceless gems and several boxes of the documents of state. They were unearthed in the garden of a private house. The documents are expected to disclose important international facts concerning the relations of Nicholas with other nations of the world during the great war. They will be surveyed by the state officials before being made public.

The discoverers believe the royal effects were hidden in 1918, just before the king departed from his country.

The plane will stop at Northport, Michigan, to take on supplies before making the dash to the storm-swept island.

The party has been on the barren island for several weeks without food. When provisions became almost exhausted, and in a last desperate effort at life, three of the most sturdy members launched a frail raft to attempt passage to the mainland in heavy seas filled with ice.

BERNHARDT'S COMPANION APPLIES FOR NEW "JOB"

Associated Press Despatch.
Paris, April 19.—The following paragraph recently appeared in the "Situations Wanted" columns of the Paris newspapers:

"Mme de Gournay, aged 50 years, for many years the companion of the sad event of her death, seeks a place as companion, reader or housekeeper. Address No. 4 Rue Olier."

AVERAGE LONDON
GIFT TO CHARITY
$10 DURING YEAR

Find Individual Subscription in City Surprisingly Low During Period.

LESS THAN MOVIES

Estimates Based on Approximate Figures Secured From Welfare Headquarters.

How much do you pay for charity? Now that the welfare drive is over, a comprehensive answer to that question can be given.

There are about twenty public institutions for the sick, aged, friendless and underprivileged whose existence depends on the amounts, both voluntary and obligatory, subscribed to them by the average citizen.

Spreading the total over a population of 60,000, the individual yearly contribution to charitable organizations in London is surprisingly low. It is substantially less than the amount spent annually on the five largest moving picture theatres in this city.

The average citizen helps his less fortunate brothers and sisters living in London to the extent of a fraction over $10 a year. And the average citizen spends $15 a year on moving pictures for his own amusement.

These estimates are, of course, based on approximate figures procured from welfare headquarters, fraternal organizations, local philanthropic societies and charity tax levies in accordance with a list made public by the city hall for 1922. They are also arrived at by consideration of the seating capacity of the five theatres in London's downtown district, and the average percentage taken in for every seat during the week.

In 1922 approximately $900,000 was taken in by these theatres, making the number of times of the average attendance about 30 a year at 50c a seat.

By way of comparison here are approximate figures of the amounts subscribed to charity voluntarily and through assessments, not including United Welfare Fund: $116,000.

Relief of Poor	32,167
Hospital Trust	174,000
Consumptive Sanatorium	18,000
War Memorial	20,000
St. Joseph's Hospital	20,000
Mother's Pensioners	15,000
Home for Incurables	3,000
Religious and Social	104,000
Miscellaneous benevolent societies, such as the Social Service Council and Humane Society	22,000

Total $811,667. Thus, for every 60,000 men, women and children in London the individual amounts subscribed come to a little more than $10 a year. An average family of five persons contributes $50 a year to charity. There are, of course, thousands of dollars given to needy institutions which never see the light of print. Generous, public spirited business concerns, such as Robinson, Little & Co., who gave $2,300 to the Welfare Fund, would annually reduce the obligations of $37 million to nil. With this to be reckoned the average expenditure on charity in city homes is materially lowered.

EAST MIDDLESEX
LIBERALS READY TO ENTER FRAY

Members of Party Optimistic of Candidate's Chances in Riding.

CALL CONVENTION

Expect Meeting Will Be Held in Two Weeks' Time.

Numbered among the political optimists are the Liberals of the east riding of Middlesex, who anxiously await the trumpet call heralding the coming battle.

A convention will be staged within the next two weeks, The Advertiser was informed today, possibly during the latter part of next week, if arrangements can be conveniently completed by that time.

There is every indication of a three-cornered contest, which enhances all the more the prospects for a Liberal victory. The "fare-up" among the United Farmer group in the legislature is having its deadly effect upon the rural electorates, and from reports at headquarters from far-flung subdivisions, indicate that one-time Liberals by the score are deserting the Drury bonnet and turning to the fold.

That one of the old line parties will carry the day in the east riding is the general consensus of opinion, while even certain of the most confirmed disciples of J. Morrison and Company acknowledge the peculiar phases of the situation.

The Liberals are particularly jubilant, awaiting with growing impatience the call to arms. That they will experience little difficulty in their choice of a suitable standard-bearer, R. W. Chappel, a resident of the annexed district, is prominently mentioned these days, and The Advertiser has been informed by several of the workers that he can be induced to enter the fray.

CHINESE FACTIONS FAIL TO REACH AGREEMENT

Peking Minister and Admiral Lin Chien Ching Meet at Shanghai.

By JAMES L. BUTTS, Special to The Advertiser.
Shanghai, Apr. 19.—A conference here today between two admirals representing the navy and the Peking minister, Admiral Lin Chien Ching, commander of the Chinese warships, which two days ago declared the independence of the Peking Government, completely failed to bring the rebel squadron back into the fold.

The representatives of the ministry pointed out that the appointment of a Pukien man as civil governor of a province offsets the appointment of a northern man as military governor, and that, furthermore, the appointment of the latter, which caused the revolt of the Chinese squadron, is only an emergency measure, pending the suppression of bandits.

Admiral Lin Chien Ching refused to accept such an explanation, declaring that his navy men, who are all Pukienese Chinese, want the military administration in Pukien province to be in the hands of their own people. Admiral Lin also scored the Peking Government bitterly, because of the arrears in the pay of navy men, which have gone unremitting for a year.

WRONGS DONE VETERANS

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, April 19.—The royal commission has revealed the deplorable condition of affairs which exists among a large number of ex-servicemen and their dependents. Now that practically all the facts with respect to the condition of these men have been brought to light, I have no doubt but that the government and the people of Canada will see that right measures are done to the legitimate war sufferers.

Such was the hope expressed by R. B. Maxwell, formerly Dominion president of the Great War Veterans Association, last night at the dinner of the Ottawa branch of the G. W. V. A.

FASHIONABLE DEN
YIELDS OFFICERS
$36,000 IN DRUGS

Limousines of Wealthy New York Addicts Arouse Suspicion.

USES MARKED BILLS

Agent Enters House and Purchases $9,000 Worth of Cocaine.

Special to The Advertiser.
New York, April 19.—A fashionable den, a few blocks from 5th avenue, on the upper east side, was raided by federal agents today and $36,000 in cocaine and heroin seized. The long line of limousines, belonging to wealthy addicts, lining up in front of the place every day gave the first tip that aroused the suspicions of agents.

An agent entered the place and made arrangements to purchase 300 ounces of cocaine for $9,000, passed over marked money, and then gave the alarm to others waiting outside.

Five hundred bottles containing drugs were found secreted in a chamber in the chimney.

SOUTH ONTARIO PLANS FOR COMING CONTEST

W. E. N. Sinclair Is Certain to Lead Liberals—Progressives Will Enter Race.

Special to The Advertiser.
Oshawa, Ont., April 19.—The Progressives have definitely announced that they will enter the contest in South Ontario. Two names are prominent as possible candidates for the Progressive party. F. C. Richardson, of Pickering, ex-warden of the county, is most likely to go before the electors in June. Mr. Richardson has been an ardent supporter of Mr. Drury, especially on hydro and fuel policies. The other name suggested is F. M. Chapman, who ran as a Progressive in the last provincial election. It is almost certain that W. E. N. Sinclair, the present member from South Ontario, will lead the Liberal party in the June election.

Mr. Sinclair has been a sharp critic of the government, particularly in matters of finance. The fact that he carried the Liberal colors when his party was at a comparatively low ebb will strengthen his position with adherents of the Liberal party in this constituency.

Names mentioned in Conservative circles as likely candidates. The name of Dr. James McLeod, of Brantford, probably will come before the Conservative party convention.

Progressives are holding an executive meeting here tonight, and it is their intention to call a party convention within ten days. They are breaking into the campaign early. The organizations are bitterly fighting their forces, and according to men who have watched politics in South Ontario for many years, it is anybody's fight.

SONS OF ENGLAND PLAN FOR ENGLISH CONCERT

Program of Merit To Be Given in Patricia Theatre Tomorrow Evening.

In celebration of St. George's anniversary, a grand concert will be given in the Patricia Theatre on Friday evening at 8:15, under the auspices of the Sons of England Benevolent Society.

Though the concert is being held on Friday, Sunday, April 23, is actually St. George's Day, on which the society is asking every Englishman to wear a rose. The concert program is an extensive one and contains many well-known artists, including Agnes Aite of Toronto, generally recognized as one of the finest soprano voices of the day in Canada, possessing, as she does, everything needful to the success of a singer—color, range, quality, power and form.

Or Joe Williams, the English comedian, with a long Canadian record of fun-making and the singing of comic songs, the critics have always been enthusiastic. From Massey Hall to the Pacific slope his songs have brought smiles and chuckles to happy audiences, and his name on any bill is a surety of clean fun and laughing entertainment.

The program contains, as it should, a majority of the old English airs, and all worthy Sons of England will welcome such favorites as "The Song of the Bow," "To from Somerset," "Young Tom o' Devon," "Drake Goes West," "The Company Sergeant-Major," and so on. Elgar's inspiring "Land of Hope and Glory" will be sung by Gladys Topping Cornwell, and Luther Jackson, a London boy with a voice of fine quality, will offer the "Song of the Bow."

The committee, who have arranged the evening have planned a real St. George's night, in which the breath of the country lanes, of the wild rose, and the hedge rows, will be carried in the bill of the old songs, and they promise every Englishman who comes to the Patricia on Friday night that it will be a little trip "home" and a pleasant memory to carry through each day's work.

Other dealers said they were forced to follow the Standard Company's lead.

CLEVELAND PHYSICIAN

Gerow, the cheesemaker. Mr. Gerow was about 70 years of age and one of the oldest cheesemakers in this country.
