The current number of the "Labor Gazette" contains a detailed list of the retail prices of staple household commodities in nearly every place in Canada having a population of 10,000. Twenty-eight varieties of food with fuel and coal oil, are included. Take it all around, Manitoba seems to be the dearest province in the Dominion to live in but there are places in Ontario not easily accessible which run it very hard. In Eastern Canada, Montreal takes the lead, while there is not a great deal of difference between Halifax and St. John. The following are some of the figures given:

Beef—St. John, 14 to 24 cents per pound; Halifax, 17 to 24 cents per pound; Montreal, 15 to 24 cents per pound.
Pork—St. John, 18 cents; Halifax, 17 cents; Montreal, 25 cents per pound.
Veal—St. John, 12 cents; Halifax, 12 cents; Montreal, 12 cents.

IN THE LAND OF THE BIG FARMS

"From now on our way wended southward, into the great section of country which has been called quite rightly "The Granary of the British Empire." This is the land where wheat is queen, the land of the big farms and tractor farming. The man who can stand in the centre of one of these great farms and see the vast fields of wheat stretching away on all sides as far as the eye reaches, and not feel a thrill as the very viges of things sweeps over him must have something seriously wrong with his inner works.

"Our trip included stops at Sashatoon, Kindersley, Regina, and Brandon, all of which are the centres of great wheat districts. This is the section of short rainfall, and dry farming methods are practised. One-third of the land is usually kept in summer fallow. So each field lies fallow once in three years.

"We visited many of the large wheat farms. One of the most famous, and typical as well, is that of Fred Engen, located a few miles from Sashatoon. Engen came to Canada from Grafton, N.D., ten years ago. He had little money, but he understood raising wheat. He is now rated as a millionaire. Today he is farming twenty sections of land, or 12,000 acres. Of this 12,800 acres he has this year 6,000 acres of wheat that his manager estimated will go twenty-five bushels to the acre, which will make a nice little nest egg. The rest of the cultivated land is in oats and forage crops. Here we saw a 225 acre field of alfalfa, which was being put in the barn at this time. Alfalfa is being successfully raised in many parts of Canada. A gas tractor in the wheat field was drawing a row of four binders and mowing the grain down at the rate of one hundred acres per day. Engen has four tractors on his place. He also has a nine thousand dollar hog house, which contained at this time 560 head of hogs, mostly young ones. He has his own private elevator and siding on his farm.

"It was with regret that we left the great wheat fields, the golden sunshine, and the cool invigorating climate of western Canada. We found it a land of progress and of optimism.

"The question of water in Canada is one on which I am not competent to speak. Up there they speak derisively of the "frozen waste myth" which the people in the States talk about. They will quote to you Jim Hill's saying, "the overcoat people are the ones which move the world," and I believe there is something in it.

"Perhaps you have been able to read between the lines some of the reasons why a million American farmers have settled in Canada in the past seven years."

Don't Lose Your Hair

No more excuse for being bald than for being untidy. No more stringy, scrawny hair, unkempt and lifeless and with your shoulders covered with dead hair and dandruff. Itchy, scaly scalp is a thing of the past with men and women who love cleanliness. Professor LaFontaine has spent the best years of his life in this wonderful hair and scalp remedy known as SAGEINE. He has discovered how luxuriant hair may displace the diseased hair of a scalp that is neglected. Since we have placed this wonderful preparation in the market we have received hundreds of testimonials from the both countries where everything else fails. SAGEINE has grown beautiful hair and lots of it. SAGEINE is a real delight to use. It is daintily perfumed and a dressing that makes glorious hair after a few applications. It is guaranteed to banish dandruff, stop falling hair and bring life and beauty into coarse, matted hair. SAGEINE is not sticky or greasy nor is it a dye. A large bottle with shaker top is only 50c at W. A. Warren's. Other stores don't have SAGEINE.

THE ENTIRE POPULATION.

Fifty Persons Were Slain While Defending the Village Church Against Looters—Three Soldiers Were Terribly Tortured.

Mexico City, Oct. 23.—Revolutionists yesterday murdered the entire population, numbering about fifty, of the village of Cheran Atzicuirin, in the State of Michoacan, while they were defending the village church against looters. The villagers fought until the ammunition was exhausted and then used machetes and clubs to beat off their assailants, but they were eventually overcome and killed and the village burned to the ground. Rebels are reported to have tortured Lieutenant Jose Braconotes and two soldiers belonging to a small Federal garrison stationed near Cameron, to the south of Nuevo Laredo, after killing the remainder of the Federal troops. The rebels are said to have skinned the soles of the feet of their three prisoners, walked them several miles, and then beheaded them with machetes because they refused to shout for Carranza.

A SUNDAY SWIMMING RACE.

This was arranged between two parties in the city of Prince Albert, Sask., and was heralded by the press as follows:

"An interesting event takes place on Sunday afternoon. This is a swimming match over a mile course between two local swimmers, Jack Arnoldi, whose capabilities in this line are well known, and Chas. McDonald, who has only recently come to the City from the Canadian Soo, bringing with him a good reputation for aquatic sports, swimming and diving. The event is scheduled for 3 p.m. The race will commence at the sand hills, about a mile west of the pier, the latter place being the scene of the finish.

Arnoldi allows his opponent two minutes start, the allowance being based upon the records of two men. This may not prove a true handicap as a comparison of records in lake swimming and in the swift-flowing Saskatchewan is difficult to make.

"A collection will be made among those watching the finish and this will be for a good cause. It is understood that the receipts will be divided equally between the Y. W. C. A. and the hospitals, the Y. W. C. A. taking fifty per cent. and the two hospitals fifty per cent. between them. Local ladies will have the collection in hand, an arrangement conducive to generosity on the part of the spectators. Sunday's event will be a forerunner of more to come."

The Reverend A. E. Mitchell entered his protest as follows:—"There appeared in your issue of yesterday an intimation that a swimming race is to be the exhibition for local fans to behold on Sunday next. I am sure I voice the opinion of many of the Christian people of this city when I say that it is a matter of great regret that such a disreputable should be shown to the institution of the Lord's Day by such an exhibition.

"The law of the land may not be able to prevent such exhibitions, but there is not a higher law which every right-thinking person feels is violated by such a race on the Lord's Day? What object can be gained in having it on Sunday? Is there not plenty of time in the other six days of the week? Has any one ever heard of an exhibition of horse racing on Sunday in any city of Canada with an invitation to the public to attend? Then why a swimming race? It is true the race could not be held if an admission fee were charged, but does a collection for a Christian institution render the thing any more defensible? Is not the very spirit of the law broken by such an act?

"There are men in this city who are working hard to make this one of the great cities of this land, and we admire them for it, but does anybody deny that the spreading abroad of the news that in Prince Albert swimming races are held on Sunday supported by the public, will leave a stench in the nostrils of every right-thinking person who may see it? Then why pull down with one hand what the other is seeking to build up?"

"I am not acquainted with the parties who propose to enter this contest, but I hope they both possess enough of manly chivalry to refuse to lend themselves parties to any exhibition that hurts the sensibilities of so many people; that tends to secularize the day set apart by God for worship and which in spirit at least breaks the law of the land.

Notwithstanding this, the contestants appeared and the crowd assembled on Sunday for the event. None knew, however, that in a few minutes after the first man entered the water a tragedy would ensue. Scarcely two minutes had elapsed before the first one of the contestants entering the water disappeared and the crowd throughout the city felt that more pronounced support should be made for the first man.

This calamity has effectually chilled the enthusiasm of the sporting fraternity for such events on Sunday, and the Christian people throughout the city feel that more pronounced support should be made for the first man. Mitchell in his well-timed protest against this event.—The Lord's Day Advocate.

PORT MAITLAND SWEEPED BY FIRE.

Principal Business Block Destroyed.—Loss is $30,000.

(Morning Chronicle.)

Yarmouth, N. S., Oct. 29.—The village of Port Maitland twelve miles away from here received a severe blow this morning when its principal business block was wiped out by fire, entailing a loss of about $30,000 on which there is but a small amount of insurance. The buildings destroyed were the combined store and residence of J. E. Goudey, a large warehouse owned by him, the dwelling of W. S. Porter and also his store.

The fire was discovered shortly after one o'clock in W. S. Porter's office. There was very little wind and a heavy rain a few hours before had dampened the surrounding roofs which made it easier for the amateur firemen of the village to cope with it. They were handicapped by lack of material, their whole fire-fighting outfit consisting of an antiquated hand engine and about two hundred feet of hose.

Yarmouth was phoned to for help and shortly after two o'clock an alarm was blown from one of the town boxes calling the firemen together and as quickly as possible an engine and supply wagon was sent out. A number of the firemen headed by Chief Trefry, all experienced fighters who could make every move tell, left by auto ahead of the apparatus. On arrival at the village they were given full charge of the fire. By this time the fire was in full possession of Porter's and Goudey's stores and had reached the warehouses. Within two or three feet of this stood a large livery stable, the largest in the county, outside the town, and the experienced men devoted their entire strength to keep the fire from that building and were successful in holding it until the Yarmouth apparatus arrived. Good streams were at once put on and in a short time all danger was over. All the engines remained all morning, pumping water on the ruins.

Porter had $1200 insurance on his house, $400 on his store and $200 on furniture, but not a cent on his stock which was valued at about $5,000.

Goudey had $1500 on his stock and $2,000 on store. He was without insurance on his household effects or warehouse. His loss will be $18,000.

MRS. PANKHURST HAS HER FREEDOM IN THE UNITED STATES.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 21.—America's doors were opened Monday to Mrs. Ameline Pankhurst and during the few weeks covered by her lecture engagement the British Militant Suffragist leader is free to go where she will in the United States. An order releasing the much discussed visitor from detention at Ellis Island and evoking the deportation of the special inquiry board was issued Monday after President Wilson had conferred with Secretary Wilson of the department of labor and a formal hearing before Immigration Commissioner Caminetti on Mrs. Pankhurst's appeal had been concluded.

HISTORY OF RIDEAU HALL.

Rideau Hall was built as a private residence, sold by its original owner to the Canadian Government, and has been added to, altered, and done over to suit the requirements of succeeding vice-regal occupants since confederation. The popular name "Rideau Hall" is from the location, not far from the place where the Rideau river drops in pretty little curtain-like falls some forty feet into the Ottawa. It is this effect that gives the name, from the French "rideau," a curtain. Government House is about two miles from the city. Past the Rideau Falls, the road leads on through the suburban town of New Edinburgh to the entrance gates. Built in 1838 by Thomas McKay, a Scots-Canadian Member of Parliament and building contractor, Rideau Hall is of respectable age, and has grown from less than a score of rooms to over a hundred. The large ball-room is a handsome apartment, the finest in the house. It was built by Lord Dufferin, whose regime was marked by a large and gracious hospitality, not less than by wise statesmanship. "At homes," private theatricals, concerts, sleighing parties, snow-shoeing, enlivened the winter area of ice is the delight of skaters. The glory of the place is the surrounding grounds and park. The estate comprises some ninety acres of land, diversified by lawns, gardens, grassy meadows, and forest trees. There is a superb avenue of trees planted by the original owner and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. McKay. A road, avenue was cut through the woods, looking towards Ottawa. This was the idea of Princess Louise, and she was known as "the Princess's Vista." There is more than one way to the grounds besides by the main entrance, but while members of the royal family are in residence all approaches are guarded.
