

S. Conway. Keeps Conway Hotel.

Conway hotel is furnished well,
 The best retreat in town,
 Where men of state and fortune great,
 At leisure will sit down.
 Each city guest does there invest,
 Commercial men step in ;
 Where one and all, can send or call
 For brandy, wine, or gin.
 Soft drinks are there and good cigar.
 His ostler feeds the beast,
 From fountain then the gentlemen
 Arise unto the feast.
 Long tables rich, no matter which
 Tarts, custard cakes, and pies ;
 Sweet lodgings clean, fit for the Queen,
 In splendid large supplies.

John Chisholm. Keeps Grocery and Provision Store. Kent-st.

Keeps bacon, eggs, cloves and nutmegs,
 And candy in the jar ;
 Keeps pepper, spice, salt, soda, rice,
 Tobacco and cigar ;
 Keeps boot and shoe, and syrup too,
 Of gold and amber shade ;
 Keep glass and delf upon his shelf,
 Flour, pork and fish to trade ;
 Keeps butter, cheese, and foreign teas,
 And sugars in supply ;
 Keeps pickle jars, and soap in bars,
 Nuts, apples, green and dry,
 Potatoes, beans, shell fish, sardines,
 He keeps a splendid stock ;
 Is making sales of brooms and pails,
 And marks no double chalk.
