

Apostolic Optimism

AND OTHER SERMONS

By Rev. J. H. Jowett, M.A.

Cloth, $2.00.

Mr. Jowett stands in the front rank of present day preachers, and his first volume of published sermons will be welcomed by many. It consists of some twenty discourses, all of which are marked by vigorous and original thought, combined with true literary grace and finish. As a preacher, Mr. Jowett is distinctly expository and evangelical, and in every evangelical sermon three elements at least are indispensable. There must be the persuasive encouragement of promise attracting attention and exciting hope; there must be the fearless unveiling of sin and its consequences, and associated with these must be an appeal to the reason, in which an effort is made to strengthen the intellectual basis of faith and to educate in righteousness. It is no exaggeration to say that all these essential elements are to be found in the pages of this volume. The careful perusal of these sermons will do more to reveal the secrets of effective preaching than many of the Yale Lectures on the subject, and they are worthy of a place side by side with Newman and Church, Maclaren and Dale.—Methodist Times.

The Times and Young Men

By Josiah Strong

CLOTH, NET, 75 CENTS

Within the memory of living men, profound changes have taken place both in the physical world and in the world of ideas. The writer shows what were the causes of these changes, and points out the results which have flowed from them, together with established tendencies which are prophetic of future changes, thus interpreting the times in which we live. He discusses the great social laws which must be obeyed, if social ills are to cease, and enables the young man to make a practical application of these laws to the solution of his own personal problems, such as the choice of an occupation, education, athletics, personal expenditure, and the like. In short, the book is a brief and simple philosophy of life, intended to help young men steer a safe and successful course amid the conflicting and perplexing currents of modern change.
