BY DEATH OF CARDINAL DOCTOR ARRESTED

Pontiff Paid High Tribute to Former Secretary of ROME, Dec. 17.—(Can. Press.)—The death of Cardinal Rampolla, former papal secretary of state, was not made known to Pope Pius X. until this morning. Cardinal Dei Val and Mons. Giovanni Bressan, the Pope's private secretary, went to see his holiness at an early hour, intending to break the sad news as gently as possible. However, when the Pope heard the name of Cardinal Rampolla coupled with the word "indisposition" he grew pale and begged them to tell him the truth without hesitation, as anxiety and uncertainty affected him more than anything else. The two prelates then told him that Cardinal Rampolla was dead.

The Pope was overwhelmed with grief and when he had somewhat recovered his composure said:
"Cardinal Rampolla was one of the cardinal Rampolla was one of the greatest men in the church: He had become even greater since he retired from state affairs."

The Pope ordered that the greatest honors should be paid to the deceased cardinal, on whom he bestowed the highest tributes.

LONDON, Dec. 17.—(C. A. P.)—Winston Churchill's speech yesterday to the crew of the New Zealand battle-ship, wherein he described the gift of the ship as "one of the greatest acts of a far-seeing imagination which any modern state could claim credit for" is unfavorably criticized by The Manchester Guardian, perhaps the weightiest Liberal newspaper in Britain.

"The gift of New Zealand," says The Guardian, "was based on a complete misapprehension of the facts. Its distinguishing quality was not far-sightedness. We believe as little in Churchill's naval imperialism as in Chamberlain's political or economic imperialism."
