

TERRIBLE STRAIN WAITING TO FIGHT

Toronto Man Says No One
Can Imagine What
It Is Like.

FEW COMRADES LEFT

Many of His Old Friends
Have Lost Their Lives.

William Dutton of the Robert Simpson Company, Toronto, has received the following letter from Oliver Beaumont Taylor of the British Expeditionary Force, now in Belgium:

"My Dear Dutton—I received your most welcome and very interesting letter on the 12th, as I came out of the trenches for a rest and a clean-up. It pleased me to know that you were all well and quite busy in the store (Simpson's). With regard to the Toronto World, I have not received it yet, but I must say that I appreciate your thoughtfulness. It is very kind of you and the man to subscribe to my interests. Literature is very scarce out here, and I can assure you that I shall welcome The Toronto World with a full heart when it comes.

"I see by your letter that you have been following up my regiment through our fighting and hardships. No one can imagine better than the one that has been thru it what it is like. The eye strains, the nerve strains, the terror of the night are terrible to endure; sometimes, imagine, worse than being in close conflict with the enemy. I don't wish to dwell on the subject, as I can presume that you can analyze the accounts in the papers to your own understanding. One thing that I may say is that I wish it was all over, and I wish I was back to beloved Toronto and had resumed my life. I am just wearying for a sight of the old faces again.

"Just quite recently I came across my old regiment and saw just a few of my old comrades left. Many of my old regiment re-enlisted for the war, but have paid the grim toll of war. One comrade, a sergeant who wanted three days to complete his 21 years for his life pension, but came out at the beginning of the war, and in the first fight that he entered he was killed. It was hard luck, considering the time that he had served to attain his life pension. Then I had a cousin who was a regimental sergeant-major killed at the battle of the Somme. He had 22 years' service, and a wife and three children. Another old school comrade, who enlisted when a boy, and carried a despatch, according to the accounts I read in the papers of this school chum, he was wounded in the head and in the back, but managed to crawl to his destination and deliver his despatch. He died almost immediately after the fulfillment of his duty in the arms of the officer receiving the despatch.

"Well, I think that I shall close now, as I have to get ready for duty, but hoping that this will reach you safely and find you in the best of health. Give my best regards and best wishes to Mr. Campbell and all the men. Ever yours sincerely,

"O. B. Taylor."

APPEALED AGAINST REDUCTION OF COSTS

Mr. Justice Middleton Reserved
Judgment in Action of D. S.
McMillan—Today's List.

At Osgoode Hall yesterday Mr. Justice Middleton was engaged in hearing the appeal of D. S. McMillan, a solicitor of Sarnia, in reducing the bill of costs presented to Rev. Father P. J. Gnam for services in the priest's action against Bishop Fallon and Archbishop McNeil. Rev. Gnam sought to recover against the bishops for their action in denying him the right to exercise the duties of a Roman Catholic priest. The action was dismissed with costs against the appellant. Mr. McMillan presented a bill of $1434.91 in the action against Bishop Fallon and one of $1134.97 in the action against Archbishop McNeil. The appellant objected to the charges, and the submitted bill of $1434.91 was reduced to $1134.97. The appellant declared that the lawyer owed his client $400.00.

After hearing the argument his lordship reserved judgment.

The first appellate court list for today is: Bell v. Smith; Vansickle v. James; Reunne v. Windsor.

NEW OVERSEAS CLUB WILL BUY AEROPLANE

Thousand Dollars Has Already
Been Collected by Members of Toronto Branch.

Toronto branch of the Overseas Club held their first meeting in the room of England last night. This club is under royal patronage and the approval of both the British war office and the colonial office.

A. S. Farn, secretary-treasurer, said that similar branches were starting all over the British Empire, and that the object of each branch was to raise funds for the purchase of a warplane, which would go into action bearing the name of the club that made the presentation. He said that the cost of a Vickers gun biplane or a similar type of machine was approximately $11,000. Richard Niven, J.P., president, said that the appeal was meeting with a response worthy of such a cause, and that already $1,000 had been subscribed.

CATTLE RECEIPTS WERE VERY LIGHT

All Classes Were Eagerly
Bought Up at Slightly
Higher Prices.

EXTRA STRONG MARKET

Stockers and Feeders Were in Demand, Selling at Big Advance.

Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards on Wednesday were 41 carloads, comprising 778 cattle, 1643 hogs, 53 sheep and lambs, and 291 calves. Light receipts in all classes of live stock excepting hogs and calves, of which there was a moderate delivery, caused trade to be active in every department. It was a seller's market all round, and owners of cattle did not have to search for buyers, as they were ready waiting as soon as the market opened. All classes were firm, and good to choice butchers' cattle sold at higher values, just how much would be hard to say, but it was an extra strong market. Stockers and feeders were being sought after by a large number of buyers, and a limited number of milkers and springers sold at a firm advance. Veal calves, sheep and lambs sold at steady to firm prices. Hog values again advanced, as there is not enough coming to supply the demand.
