ELECTION POSSIBLE IN SEPTEMBER

So Strong is Rumor That Many Localities Prepare for Campaign.

The prohibition referendum by ediately after that dissolution of the Ontario house and an immediate appeal to the country."

The foregoing was the latest scheme tues of the parliament buildings yes-terday, and altho it was rather scoffed a few who were willing to swallow evidently a feeling, or impression, tion in September is by no means improbable. Several places are, in fact, going the length of preparing for a contest in that month, and the vigor they are imparting is of the robust election anticipated, say, twelve months

Many wiseacres both in and out of the Ontario government will take ad-valuable one from their point of view, of giving a spurt to their supporters, in grader that nothing may be ladded as the per harmonic of the contained and other functions which have recently been attended by some of the Ontario ministers have afforded the latter opportunities to put a bit of political singer into their contained and other functions which have recently been attended by some of the Ontario ministers have afforded the latter opportunities to put a bit of political singer into their contained the latter opportunities to the supportunities to put a bit of political singer into their contained the latter opportunities to the many state ments now flying around regarding a car of subsage "forthcoming election." Elections are supposed to the country latter of the contained and the supposed in the sense of the next month or two everything would be fairly satisfactory. If they take place "at any time with next spring as the object to the many state of the elections come off "at any time" in the sense of the next month or two everything would be fairly satisfactory. If they take place "at any time" with next spring as the object to the provision of the substance of the su swapping of the leading horse. When the last Liberal administration ap-pealed to the electors, the party had been 32 years in the saddle, but was in a tottering majority of one in the election almost imperative. The Hearst regime, as already indicated, has a substantial working majority.

The most natural course would seem to be to take the referendum as already arranged. The government will then have the final views of the people on the vexed liquor question, and be afforded ample opportunity of shaping the future policy, or of changing when the electors have spoken at the polls. The Ontario temperance act is proverbially not generally popular, and has at times been found to work anywhere but in the direction of real temperance. Even J. D. Flavelle, the chairman of the Ontario Board, has publicly deplored the facilities with which liquor is obtained in the province. This act may, therefore, have to be changed "at any time."

The last general session of the legis-lature would, therefore, enable the government to endeavor to practically settle the temperance or prohibition question. The subsequent general election would give the electors an opportunity of reaffirming if necessary the vote given on the referendum. The government would know definitely might be political and temperance peace for three or four years more.

vantage of the referendum to go to the country seeking for a renewal of power. Some who claim to be wiser still, and who have their ear to the ground of official circles, hold fast to the view that there will be one more general session of the legislature early in the New Year, followed by a general election in Ontario in the spring. Not a little of the speculation over the election prospects has arisen consequent upon the extremely non-committal statement made recently by a member of the government, to the effect that there "might be a general election at any time." Of course, there might, but "any time" in this case nust, as subsequent explanations have shown, be taken as meaning in he somewhat dim and distant future. # QUIET, BUT FIRM

tion-Adanac is Again

HOGG & LYTLE, Ltd.

The mining market yesterday presented a characteristic appearance of quiet strength, with price changes narrow for the most part. There was little news bearing on the strike situation, and while it is understood that the miners of kirkland Lake are, as individuals, desirous of returning to work, the union as a whole is maintaining a stubborn attitude, and there is no immediate prospect of a resumption of activities. At the same time, it seems practically assured that there will be no strike where Cobalt and Porcupine are concerned, and labor unrest as a bearish factor has ceased to be effective.

In the gold group activity was confined largely to Keora and Gold Reef. transactions in each running to about 25,000 shares. Keora, after showing firmness at 21, weakened to 20½, showing a net loss of half a point, while Gold Reef was strong at from 5½ to 5½. Hollinger at $6.55 was up five points, and Dome Extension advanced a point to 34. Dome Lake at 18½, Kirkland Lake at 42. MoIntyre at $1.82 and Wasapika at 80 were unchanged, and West Dome at 12½ was off ½.

Movements in the silver stocks were slightly more irregular than in the gold list. It is announced at Washington that there is now an open market for silver builion as all limitations as to the price at which the British government shall buy silver have been waived, and it is possible that the movement in the price of bar silver may be more pronounced than has been the rule of late. Acanac held its usual position as the most active stock in this section of the list, but, after a display of buoyancy during which the price advanced to 15½, there was a reaction to 14½, so that the day's net gain was limited to ½. The recent legal decision which has halted the Bailey Cobalt organization plan does not appear to have had a particularly depressing effect upon the stock which yesterday held steady at 4. Beaver was off a point at 43, and Ophir ¼ at 4½. McKinley-Darragh at 63% was up ¾. and Peterson Lake at 13 showed an advance of ½.

value of corn took place today, largely on account of scarcity or supplies and owing to new record-breaking advances in the price of hogs. July delivery of corn showed at one time a bulge of 7c. The market closed irregular at a range varying from 1% net decline to a rise of 3%, with September 1.83% to 1.83%, and December 1.61% to 1.61%. Oats finished % off to % advance, and provisions all the way from 15c down to 30 cents up.

Strength in the corn market forced all deliveries to the highest prices yet this season, but then bearish reports as to the new crop led a decided setback for December. Notwithstanding the December weakness, however, and the face of heavy profit-taking sales, the old crop months, July and September, maintained notable strength, influenced partly by foreign orders to purchase here and by signs of broader European demand in Argentine.

Arrivals of corn here were expected to diminish sharply soon. Besides, manufacturers were said to be realizing more on corn products than would be equivalent to $2 a bushel for corn.

Oats were held down by an increase of the visible supply.

Good-sized stocks abroad and here London, July 7.—Bar silver, 53%d per per ounce, an advance of 3-16d.

New York, July 7.—Bar silver, $1.07%.
