THE WAR SITUATION.

The war news is still indefinite. The United States naval authorities claim have information that the Oregon is safe, after having sailed 13,000 miles where she is they will not tell. The Minneapolis, one of Schley's fleet, flying squadron is somewhere in that vicinity. As regards the two Spanish which were reported to have been seen in the Windward Passage it noted that it seems to be part of Admiral Cervera's plan to have he Americans. It is quite likely that they separate for this purpose and near the entrance to the Windward Passage, on Sunday, nor has the report that the Cape Verde fleet has reached San Juan or Porto Rico been confirmed. most interesting report received for several days is the one which says Spanish ships have been seen off Tortula, an Island forty true it would show that a big Spanish fleet had crossed the ocean to join Admiral Cervera, and a really great naval battle, with forces nearly equally matched, might be fought before many days. But as yet there is no positive evidence that any other Spanish fleet than that which sailed from Cape Verde into several ports and made use of every opportunity to communicate by cable with Madrid and Havana would seem to indicate that if there were any other Spanish fleets around they would do the same, but it might be part of the general plan for the fast Cape Verde fleet to show itself as often as possible while a slower fleet kept out of sight until it reached the point where it had instructions to take action. The fear still prevails in some quarters that a raid will be made on the New England coast, and some of the bankers in New England scaport towns are said to be transferring their funds to inland towns. The situation in the Philippines appears to be unchanged, but a great land battle between insurgents and Spaniards is ex-

RATIONALSUNDAYLEAGUE

Last evening a number of stalwart reasoning men met at 185% Queen-street west for the purpose of forming a Canadian Rational Sunday League. Mr. Sam Jones was called to the chair. He referred to the great Sabbatarian fight in London. Eng., a quarter of a century ago, and said it was similar to the one in Toronto, only on a larger scale. He read with much effect Tom Hood's peem, written at the time, spirically denouncing the closing of the London Zoological Garders on Sunday, and stating that the strict Sabbatarians would soon be refusing "the dandellons to grow on Sunday." Referring to Sunday care, he said that opposition to their running would be class legislation, because there was no agitation for the stopping of cabs and carriages, only to prohibit "the poor man's five-cent ride." To say that strict Sabbatarianism was a part of the Christian creed was a gross libel.

BE Walker wrote that, while he was in sympathy with the aim in view, and while he had been prominently in favor of Sunday cars, yet his time was too occupled to engage in the project on foot.

Prof. Goldwin Smith, in a letter regretting his inability to attend the meeting, said: "I am with you in your desire for a rational Sunday. If you could succeed in setting us free from austere traditions on this subject, you would be lifting a cloud from life."

Mr. Smith quoted St. Paul in support of his opinions. He added: "The motives of the members of the Lord's Day Alliance will be always entitled to our respect, and we agree with them in sincerety destring to preserve the day of rest; but we must ask them, on their pairt, to listen to reason and to respect the personal Hberties of their fellow-citizens. They thought that terrible evils would result from the introduction of Sunday cars, Yet no such evils have agpeared, and the cars, it is understood, are now used without misgiving by
