

EVERYBODY WORKS TO HELP SOLDIERS

People of Australia Are United in Carrying On the War.

ALL ARE VOLUNTEERS

Toronto Traveler, Returned,
Tells of Red Cross Activities There.

News from far away Australia and the great things being done there for King and country and in the cause of the liberty of the world, comes to Toronto in a very direct way. Through Mrs. W. G. A. Lamb, who has recently returned, and who tells of what she saw and experienced during her trip of some four months' duration.

"The things they are doing are simply wonderful," says the traveler, and not by the women alone, but more especially the men are straining every effort, in everything done there for the patriotic cause is done voluntarily and no one is paid.

"Take for example the making of the cases for packing Red Cross supplies. These cases are all made by business and professional men, who, every week, give so much of their time to the work. An expert carpenter was secured at the beginning of the war, and he taught a number of men to make and band the boxes. The services of this carpenter were given free, and so well did his pupils profit by the instructions that the countless cases since made have everyone been made, banded and packed by them.

"The work is all controlled by two organizations—the Red Cross, under the superintendence of the governor-general, and the Soldiers' Comforts, headed by the lady mayors of Melbourne. These comforts are for the men at home and those overseas. The great hall of the federal building, which, in the olden days, often saw its floors covered with two thousand dancers, is now used as the storeroom for supplies. Here, during every day in the week from 9 a.m. until 10 p.m., shifts of volunteers relieve one another in the work of packing the cases for overseas.

"The Red Cross Volunteer Motor Corps, too, has done extraordinary things. Members go with their motor cars four times a week to the various hospitals and convalescent homes, and to January of this year, 200 trips ranging from 120 miles each, have been made. In these outings over 4,000 cars have been used, and over 14,000 miles covered. If this is not out of the ordinary one would like to ask what is.

"Then the rest houses for returned soldiers are so well looked after. All the cleaning of the house is done by volunteers. The women of Melbourne—women of means and leisure and women who make leisure even half a day every week to this office.

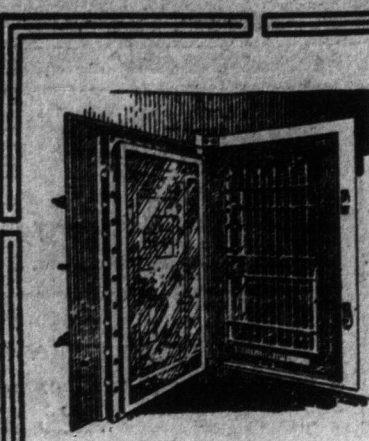

"Another channel thru which patriotic spirit is in the making is the work of the Red Cross. The spirit of patriotism has been by land and sea. This department was begun by Mrs. P. J. Russell, a sister of Mrs. Lamb, and so much of the work of the Red Cross is done by the government equipped a large kitchen with the best and most modern appliances, and here, with a large staff of volunteer women, Mrs. Russell carries on her beneficent work. There are between sixteen and twenty cooks. The work of Red Cross is done every day since the war.

"The socialist element defeated conscription," said Mrs. Lamb. "They would have peace at any price. Many soldiers, too, voted against it, saying, 'If they won't come willingly we don't want them.'"

On the way home the vessel stopped at the Fiji Islands, and a body of one hundred natives with twelve British officers came on board. They are described by Mrs. Lamb as men of exceptional physique, well drilled and well set up, their fuzzy-wuzzy hair being quite a feature, and when dyed a bleached, dirty red-white it denotes a strong streak of aristocracy. They are to be used in France to help in the work of transportation—a department in which their great strength will be an undoubted asset.

The homeward voyage, tho it proved free from danger, was not without its fears. Reports of "subs" in the Pacific were heard on the western coast of this continent, and the entire trip on board the Niagara, of the Canadian-Australian Line, was made without lights after midnight. The spirit of patriotism has proven infectious in western waters, and no less a sum than $5000 was contributed to the Red Cross from the Niagara.

MISS SYLVIA TURNBULL SUCCESSFUL RECRUITER

Obtained Eight Recruits at Meeting on St. James Street Yesterday Afternoon.

Miss Sylvia Turnbull, Toronto's latest recruiter, was successful in obtaining eight recruits in twenty-five minutes at a recruiting meeting held on James street yesterday afternoon. She was a daily speaker at the meetings conducted at the city hall steps until they were prohibited by the board of control. But as the mayor has since ruled that the meetings are permitted by an order-in-council, she will resume her appeals to Toronto eligibles on the city hall steps today.

On Sunday she addresses a big recruiting rally on the city hall steps, and leaves for New York Tuesday morning to enter one of the large hospitals.

Miss Turnbull saw service at the front as a nurse with the British army, and was at the battle of Mons and the Somme.

In one of the zeppelin raids on Hartlepool her father was instantly killed, and she had to return from France to support her mother, who was permanently injured.

Her brother, Lieut. Turnbull, won the V. C.

CAMPAIN MASS MEETING.

Arrangements were completed yesterday afternoon at the club house of the Great War Veterans on Carlton street for the campaign which is to be launched next week to raise funds to make the club a permanent gift to the soldiers. Tonight a mass meeting will be held at Massey Hall, at which Hon. W. D. McPherson, N. W. Rowell and representative clergymen of Toronto will speak.

"Anabel Lee," the new Earle Browne comedy of southern California, which Edward H. Toronto is to be entertained for a limited period by one of the most noted singing organizations that have toured the United States and Canada the past season, and just completing a most successful tour—the De Koven Opera Company. The company will open a summer season of light opera and musical comedy at the Grand Opera House on Monday evening, and during the entire engagement will present all the popular and standard productions at a scale of special summer prices. Among the principals are such well-known artists as Ivy Scott, James Stevens, Herbert Waterous, Cora Tracey, Phil Branson, Ralph Bradner, Tillie Sallinger, Jeanette Studley, David Andradra, Fred Walker and Edith Stevens.

"A SQUARE DEAL" AT STRAND.

The feature, "A Square Deal," at the Strand Theatre, the latter half of this week, drew big houses all yesterday, and obviously created a deep impression by its startlingly daring plot. The rest of the bill, which includes "Manning the Navy," a film giving some extraordinarily fine views of New York harbor, is excellent.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine—double strength—and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely. Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

C. and of Mrs. Bicknell, Rev. W. J. Jones, officiating. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. Thomas Watson.

The church was decorated with palms, carnations and roses. Only the immediate relations of the bride and groom were present. The former looked lovely in white satin and silver, and wore the gift of the groom, a platinum and diamond ring. Her only attendant was Miss Mabel Watson, in pink tulle and net, with georgette crepe hat, and carrying Cyprian roses and lilies of the valley. The best man was Mr. Thomas Watson.

A sale of bags, aprons and other useful articles found many patrons, and also the table filled with the most beautiful of June flowers. In a shady nook a camp where Turkish rugs and hangings made just the proper environment for the fortune-tellers who were kept more than busy.

A veiled Turkish lady poured coffee, and the daintiest china cups, while more substantial fare was dispensed to all who came to the big marquee on the lawn. Not the least of the attractions were the beautiful flower-beds and the ideal weather.

KING CONFERS ORDER ON MRS. H. D. WARREN

Appoints Her a Lady of Grace in the Order of St. John of Jerusalem.

Mrs. H. D. Warren of Toronto has been appointed a Lady of Grace in the Order of St. John of Jerusalem by His Majesty the King, and on every hand the honor is being endorsed both by the press and by the thousands to whom the many patriotic works of the recipient are known.

Foremost in supplying the needs of the war by personal service and sacrifice, Mrs. Warren has also been generous on every hand with financial assistance, and more than all has her example been an incentive to many who might without it have fallen by the wayside.

Mrs. Warren was one of the first to lose a son—Captain Trumbull Warren, who went overseas with the first contingent, and was one of the first Canadians to fall—even the greatness of the loss and sorrow did not for a moment lessen the patriotic work upon which she had begun.

Her home, "Red Gables," is a continuous scene of Red Cross and similar activities. The officers' military hospital on Jarvis and Wellesley streets, together with equipment, is her gift, and benefactions innumerable have been freely and unostentatiously bestowed by Mrs. H. D. Warren, one of Toronto's true gentlewomen.

NATIONAL CLUB WILL HAVE MEATLESS DAY

Veal, Spring Lamb and Elaborate Dishes Excluded From the Bill-of-Fare.

The club also states in a formal notice sent to each member that only cold suppers will be served after 3 p.m. during the summer months and that veal and spring lamb will have no place on the bill-of-fare. A simplification of the entire menu has been suggested as to eliminate elaborate dishes and unnecessary waste of food.

The National Club is the first in Canada to take this action in keeping with the example set by all English clubs at the outbreak of war.
