Are Your Investments Diversified?

One of the most important things to consider in the sound investment of funds is a proper diversification of one's holdings.

To be thorough, diversifica-tion should be threefold by class of security, by territory and by maturity. The ideal of diversity is to arrange investments in such a way that no one event in any one industry, in any one locality, or at any one time, can affect more than a small percentage of the total holdings. This plan of threefold diversification insures security and liquidity insofar as is humanly possible.

Due to our world-wideconnections we are in a rosition to furnish an extensive and diversified list of high-grade bonds from which in-vestors may readily select secur-ities suitable to their individual
