BRINGS IN GOOD REPORTS ABOUT N.B.

W. J. Brown Has Optimistic News of Business Improvement.

"Conditions are on the upward trend in New Brunswick" was the opinion of William J. Brown who has just returned after a trip through the province in connection with the carrying out of the sales tax. His work caused him to visit all the manufacturers and he has found a general increase in business over the same period last year. He declared that the general feeling seemed to be among the manufacturers that the bottom had been reached and conditions would improve steadily from now on.

The campaign to "Buy in the Maritimes" he said, was bearing fruit. One large manufacturing concern in the province the name of which he said he was not at liberty to divulge, had increased its sales in St. John about 50 per cent during September over the corresponding period last year. He had found other manufacturers had also experienced an increase although perhaps not on as large a scale.

That marked interest is shown in the progress of the "Buy at Home and Maritime Mail" campaign by organized bodies throughout the Maritimes, is reported. Numerous communications are being received offering support. The latest offer was received on Saturday, from Nova Scotia Publicity Bureau of which J. Campbell is the secretary and publicity director. Mr. Campbell states that he is interested in the campaign, and wishes to help the work along, and requests that literature be forwarded to his office. He also asks for an outline of the campaign activities and an account of the ground covered. Hon. W. E. Foster, chairman of the executive on the matter, has written Mr. Campbell thanking him for his interest, and in reply of the campaign is forwarding the information requested.

CHILDREN'S AID REGRET HIS GOING

Pass Resolution of Appreciation of Rev. Canon R. A. Armstrong.

The following is a copy of a resolution passed at the last meeting of the board of management of the Children's Aid Society. A copy will be sent to Canon Armstrong's address in Toronto.

"Whereas Rev. Canon R. A. Armstrong has recently left the city of St. John for a wider field of usefulness in the City of Toronto, Ontario, and whereas from the year 1919 he had been identified with all the efforts made in this community looking towards the better care of neglected and dependent children,

"And whereas since the organization of the Children's Aid Society he has been a member of the board of management in which capacity he has rendered notable service, and whereas, since 1919, in company with Rev. W. M. Drake he has acted as the commissioner under the Children's Protection Act for the disposal of our cases, and whereas therefore he is resolved that the Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society in common with the whole body of our fellow citizens regret the removal from our city of one who by his untiring efforts and courtesy commended his office to all, but more especially to such as had at heart the highest interests of children, and that he is further resolved that the very best wishes of the board follow the reverend gentleman into the important work in which he is now engaged; and that this resolution be inscribed on their minutes, and that a copy of the same be sent to Rev. Canon Armstrong's address in the City of Toronto."

S. car and took him before Stipendiary Magistrate Allingham in Fairville, where he put up $10 for his appearance when summoned. WIFE'S EVIDENCE IS NOT CREDITED Policeman's is Taken and Louis Austin is Found Guilty.

That her husband, Louis Austin, had not assaulted her, but had given her a loving, gentle caress, was a statement made by Mrs. Austin in the police court this morning, when she appeared as a witness in a case in which her husband had been arrested, charged with being drunk in Mill street and assaulting her in view of the police. When the case was called the defendant acknowledged that he had been drunk, but denied assaulting his wife. Policeman Quinn said he saw Austin standing with another colored man talking to two women at the corner of Union and Dock streets; that Austin took hold of one of the women by the throat and pushed her against a window. Mrs. Austin said her husband had put his arms around her neck in answer to Magistrate Henderson, she maintained that it had been a loving, gentle caress.

Ruby Price also testified for the defendant, and said that he had put his arms around her neck, but that he had not taken her by the throat and shoved her against the window. Magistrate Henderson said he did not believe the evidence of the witness for the defendant. He said the policeman had no objection to arresting any man for assault unless his actions had warranted it. He found Austin guilty on both charges and struck a fine of $8 or two months in jail for drunkenness, and $20 or two months in jail for assault. In event of the fine not being paid the sentences were to run concurrently.

As Hiram Sees It

"I see," said Mr. Hiram Hornbeam to the Times reporter, "you folks didn't know what you wanted when you voted for that vocational school."

"Quite so," said the reporter, "quite so, indeed."

"Then you couldn't have known what you was doing when you voted for the Mayor and commissioners—nuther," said Hiram.

"How do they know but what you wanted some other fellow down there instead of them?"

"Well, now, really," said the reporter, "I don't know of any other way than to be governed by the people's vote."

"That was my own idea," said Hiram, "but that there council he's ris the question itself. I s'pose you'll her another election—won't you? But that wouldn't settle it—nuther. Whoever was elected wouldn't know whether we people knowed what they wanted or not."

"You're right," said Hiram, "but that there council he's ris the question itself. I s'pose you'll her another election—won't you? But that wouldn't settle it—nuther. Whoever was elected wouldn't know whether we people knowed what they wanted or not."

DRESS WELL AND SUCCEED

Why?

Why dress well? Because it is a well known fact that the right clothes give a man more confidence. He is more likely to go places and associate with people when he is properly dressed than he otherwise would—his appearance gives him confidence in himself.

While it is admitted that clothes really do not make the man, still they have a lot to do with assisting his natural abilities, and helping him climb the ladder of success.

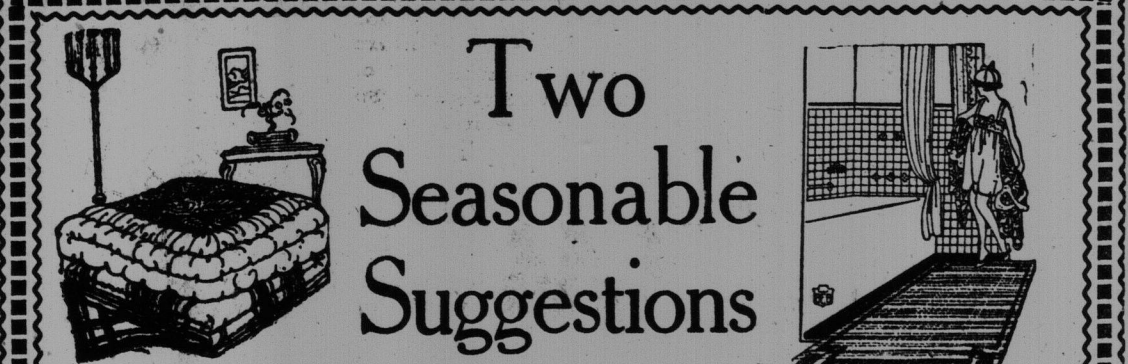

And yet it is not an expensive proposition to be well dressed. It is simply a matter of showing sound judgment in selection; to select clothes that are of a becoming pattern, that have the right style, and that have the interior workmanship to back up their appearance.

Clothes that for the past thirty-five years have been assisting men to climb the ladder of success are surely worthy of your careful inspection. Such are 'Scovill's Clothes.'

Come! Judge for yourself.
