

SPECIAL SERVICES FOR CATHOLIC CONGREGATIONS

The Devotions of the Forty Hours closed in the Cathedral last evening with most impressive ceremony and in the presence of a congregation that filled the church to the doors. All through the time since the beginning of the devotion on Friday morning the people had made many visits to the church. Very many received Holy Communion yesterday, including the men of the Holy Name Society, who attended in a body at the 7 o'clock mass.

Last evening's service opened with recitation of the Rosary, led by Rev. Father Nugent. An excellent sermon, appropriate to the Forty Hours, was then delivered by Rev. Roy McDonald. Then followed an impressive procession in which the Blessed Sacrament was borne through the church by Rev. William Duke, assisted by Rev. Fathers Nugent and Reynolds and preceded by a procession of officers and members of the church societies, boys and girls of the Sunday school and the altar boys. The canopy bearers were John J. Coughlin, Charles Mitchell, William Walsh and Thomas M. Burns. The service closed with Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

The sacrament of confirmation was administered to ninety-seven children and adults at the Church of the Assumption by His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc at 7:45 o'clock last evening. The children were catechized by Rev. H. J. McCarthy, who also spoke to the children on the meaning of confirmation. After confirmation had been administered, His Lordship addressed the candidates. Rev. H. G. Rausage assisted in the confirmation and Rev. A. McCann acted as deacon and Rev. A. McCann as sub-deacon. The mission opened last Sunday evening.

At 7:30 o'clock last evening the single women's mission was begun, when the opening sermon was preached by Rev. A. McCann. The single women's mission will continue throughout the week until next Sunday.

YESTERDAY IN CITY CHURCHES

The five-day mission, which the eminent preacher and scripture expounder, Rev. Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, is conducting in the city, was opened yesterday by two meetings, held in Centenary church in the afternoon and evening, and the compelling force of his eloquence combined with his masterly interpretation of scripture made a profound impression on the many hundreds who gathered to hear him. Centenary church has the largest congregation of any church in the Maritime provinces, and it was barely large enough to seat the crowds who attended. It is estimated that there were about 1,500 present in the afternoon and more than 1,800 in the evening. The congregational singing led by Dr. Morgan's son, Howard M. Morgan, was a splendidly inspirational introduction to the addresses.

An eloquent tribute to the life and work of the late Lady Tilley was voiced by Rev. A. L. Fleming, rector of St. John's (Union) church, at yesterday morning's harvest service, when he dedicated the newly-installed carillon in the church's fine tower. Preceding the sermon, the rector read the dedicatory words and after offertory prayer, referred to the carillon, which was the splendid gift of L. P. D. Tilley, K. C., in memory of his mother.

Rev. Mr. Fleming took the opportunity to express to the Tilley family his thanks for the gift. "It is not necessary," he went on, "to speak at length regarding Lady Tilley's life and work, for she was so well known in this city, in the province and throughout the dominion."

Rev. W. G. Lane, who was formerly the pastor of the Exmouth street Methodist church, occupied the pulpit of his former church yesterday and received a hearty welcome. He is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Myles, Wright street, and will take charge of the services in the Exmouth street church next Sunday also. Mr. Lane led the Bible class yesterday and will address the Sunday school next Sunday. Rev. H. E. Thomas, the pastor of the church, has been attending the Methodist conference in Toronto.

At the Waterloo street Baptist church two very helpful addresses were delivered yesterday by the pastor, Rev. J. A. Sweetnam. In the morning Mr. Sweetnam's subject was "Woman's Love Gift," and in the evening the theme of his address was "Every Church Member's Uniform." At the close of the evening service the ordinance of baptism was observed. Miss Haley sang a solo during the service most effectively.

In the absence of Rev. H. B. Clarke, the pastor of the Portland Methodist church, who was in St. Stephen officiating at the unveiling of a memorial tablet in the Methodist church yesterday, the services in the Portland church were conducted by Rev. H. T. Gorman, of the Wesleyan church at Yarmouth (N. S.).

Rally day service was held in the Tabernacle Baptist church yesterday. The attendance was 176 and an interesting programme was carried out.

At the evening service the pastor, Rev. A. L. Telford, took as his subject "The Lighting System of St. John." He likened the power of God to the great electric generators at Niagara Falls. "The forty churches in St. John," said Mr. Telford, "are the dynamos of God for Christendom and the people. Christ came into the world to install God's power plants and it is left to us as God's engineers to keep these plants running and generate the power which is to be gotten from them. We are merely links in God's great power system," he continued, "and if we do not do our work properly we interrupt the work of the whole church. The task which is set before us is to touch every soul in the city with the illuminating power of God's presence."

The First Presbyterian church in West St. John, which has been undergoing repairs, was formally re-opened yesterday. The outside of the church also has been painted and presents a very attractive appearance. Services were conducted yesterday by the pastor Rev. Dr. J. A. Morison. There was special music appropriate to the occasion.

Howard Morgan, son of Rev. Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, was the speaker in German street Baptist church yesterday morning. Six of his brothers are in the ministry. Graduation exercises were carried out in the Sunday school in the afternoon. I. W. Simms, superintendent of the school, presided.

CARUSO'S DOCTOR LECTURES

Professor Bastianelli Tells Academy of Medicine of New Disease.

New York, Oct. 9.—Professor Raffaele Bastianelli, one of the foremost medical men in Italy and physician to Caruso in the singer's final illness, lectured before the Academy of Medicine on a new disease which he said was often diagnosed as lumbago or rheumatism in the scapular regions.

He described the disease as local, and said that it might originate of itself in the region affected. Professor Bastianelli told of the results he had obtained when he treated the pains by injections. The Academy voted the visiting physician its thanks for his illuminating address.

65,707 Veterans and Widows of 57,987 Are Drawing Pensions.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Only 75,066 Confederate veterans out of the more than a million who fought for the South during the Civil War are now living, according to statistics compiled by Colonel Francis M. Burrows of the staff of General Julian S. Carr, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans.

Of the number 65,707 are drawing pensions. 1,889 are in soldiers' homes and 7,400 are unknown. The statistics show that 67,987 widows of Confederate soldiers are receiving pensions and 607 negro veterans are in homes.

Texas leads in the number of surviving veterans with 14,969 on the pension rolls and 225 in homes. Georgia and Arkansas stand next with 9,000 pensioners and 105 and 100, respectively, in homes.

Two houses, one owned by Charles Dickson and the other owned by Mrs. Dickson, situated at Glen Falls, were destroyed by fire early yesterday.

A brigade saved the situation for other houses which were adjacent to the burning building. The houses are only slightly covered by insurance. A call is said, was sent to the city for the fire apparatus, but a resident said that no response was made.

Ailing Children Get Well on Laxative Syrup Pepsin

A small dose at bedtime brings relief and laughter by morning.

HOSPITAL and doctor's records prove that 75 per cent of human ills has its origin in the intestinal canal, complicated with what is commonly called constipation. Realizing what that figure means, mothers should know the methods of handling their children while they will control them that will prevent these future dangers. Teach children regularity of bowel movement, and especially two passages a day until the age of 18, when one is usually sufficient. Give plenty of oranges and apples, plenty of butter because it lubricates the intestines, and encourage the drinking of water.

If you detect restlessness, belching, gas or wind on the stomach, sleeplessness, lack of appetite, examine the tongue and you will find it coated, accompanied by unpleasant breath. The child is constipated. According to age, give from one-half to a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's

AGAIN REVISE U. S. TARIFF

Expected by Politicians in Washington Not Later Than 1925.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Another tariff revision in two years is the problem that confronts the United States Government. Congress has just passed through the throes of passing one tariff measure, but it is recognized generally as temporary. Belief here is that another tariff measure will have to be enacted either in the regular session of Congress in the winter and spring of 1924 or in an extra session early in 1925.

Representative Green of Iowa, who will be the new chairman of the Ways and Means Committee to succeed Representative Fordney of Michigan, frankly says the tariff law will have to be replaced by a new one before long. He thinks it will have to be done in about two years. He says that the changing world conditions made it out of the question that the present law should be kept on the statute books.

While the new law has flexible provisions, they will not take the place of an actual revision of the law in case the new measure is found to be unsatisfactory or conditions materially change. Not only is this the case, but the flexible provisions will be hampered by the fact that by litigation, but the tariff commission seems disposed to make little attempt to operate under the flexible provisions for some months.

Until it has larger appropriations, the tariff men in Congress want to see the commission do as little as possible and hope the flexible tariff will not prove a disappointment on the country and the courts. Altogether there are many obstacles in the way of the flexible or elastic tariff and this fact seems to point more clearly than might otherwise be the case to another revision of the tariff by Congress at a comparatively early date.

The matter of another tariff revision is of the utmost importance to Canada and the question of commercial relations between the United States and Canada. If the present high tariff wall proves a serious handicap to trade between the two nations and is hurtful on both sides of the line, as many think it will be, there will be a real opportunity, when another revision comes, of bringing about more liberal tariff relations between the two countries.

HISTORIC CHECKS BANKERS' EXHIBIT

One is for $200,000,000 War

Payment to England—

Others are Checks Paid

Russia for Alaska and

Spain for the Philippine Islands.

(New York Post)

You might suppose that the convention of the American Bankers' Association would be the last place in the world to look for little outlines of history, but you can find there the first check paid by the United States to Great Britain after this country entered the war; echoes of the Alaska purchase in the check that was made out for that, and copies of the checks that went to Spain for the Philippines.

The checks are in a room adjoining the ballroom at the Commodore, where the convention is meeting, and are part of an exhibit where the treasury department of the Federal Reserve Bank and banks of many cities exhibit charts on trade balances and give printed statements of their assets. All of them talk in hundreds of millions of dollars and you know right away that it must be the convention of bankers or landlords.

The check that went to Great Britain was the biggest ever written and bears the further distinction of having started off the Allied debt to this country. It is dated April 26, 1917, and is made out to "Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland." It is signed by Woodrow W. McAdoo, who was Secretary of the Treasury at the time, and for any one of them would be the facsimile of the order of the Federal Reserve Bank to pay $200,000,000 to J. P. Morgan & Co., and to charge this to the British government.

The check for the purchase of Alaska is mere pin money compared with the other one. It is dated August 1, 1868, and is made out "to Edward de Stoeckel, Envoy Extraordinary," presumably of Russia, for a mere $7,200,000.

Payment for the Philippines was in four checks dated April 28, 1899, for $50,000,000 each, and copies of them are shown. These checks were made out to "His Excellency Julian S. Carr, Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of Spain, representing the government of Spain." The bills of exchange were paid through the National City Bank and they bear the signature of James Stillman, who was then its president.

Ingenious Counterfeits There.

The most ingenious counterfeiters are also on view in this room with a secret service man watching them very closely, for any one of them would be certain to deceive all except the most expert. Cashiers who had handled millions of notes in Federal Reserve banks showed how they were made. One of the service expressed astonishment at most of them, so cleverly were they executed. They showed how the method of engraving had given way to the newer and less expensive method of photo engraving. One check was drawn entirely by hand and would certainly fool the average person. Only upon close examination could it be detected as a counterfeit.

Graphs illustrating the condition of business in this country and abroad cover all the walls. One of the most interesting is that showing government expenditures for this year. It shows that out of each dollar 26 cents went for interest on the Public Debt, 11 cents went for sinking fund and other debt requirements, 12-1/2 cents for the army, 12 cents for the navy, 10 cents for the Veterans' Bureau, 7 cents for pensions, leaving less than 21 cents for the business of governing the country.

All day long bankers and their wives visited the exhibit, and while the bankers do not tire of the charts, their wives sometimes do, and for them motion pictures are shown illustrating the function of the Federal Reserve system.

MERCER SOPHOMORES SPANKED AS PUNISHMENT FOR HAZING

Macon, Ga., Oct. 9.—Mercer University sophomores, who were found guilty of hazing by the university president, were soundly thrashed by seniors. The university authorities said they believed that hazing was a closed incident at Mercer.

The sophomores, it was understood, spanked their new schoolmates Tuesday night. Yesterday the president gave them the alternative of similar treatment or expulsion. The sophomores said they would take a whipping.

Seniors were provided with straps and the punishment was given under school supervision.

The Natural Wealth of Canada
Forests

In the past three years Canada exported forest products to the amount of $660,000,000, and there are still left great forests of Douglas fir, pine and spruce pulp wood—enough, if carefully preserved, to supply a great trade throughout an indefinite future. For more than a century the Bank of Montreal has been co-operating in the development of Canada's trade in forest products.
