

Why Fit-Reform?

BECAUSE, when Fit-Reform made its initial bow to the Canadian public, it responded to a long-felt want—namely, Tailored Clothing that would supersede the custom tailor.

In order to accomplish this, what were the most important essentials?

Workmanship and Fit. Hence, a reform of the fit was transformed into the registered slogan, "FIT-REFORM," now known to all good dressers from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Our new Spring Suits tell the tale. Have you seen them?

WOULD MR. NEWRICH BUY A TITLE?

(Toronto Star.)

A valuable contribution to the discussion that has been going on in England in regard to the conferring of knighthoods and other titles has been made by Oswald Stoll, who gave the following statement to the press in an interview:

"I wish to place on record that since the year 1908 I have been repeatedly approached with proposals that were to evaluate in a knighthood. In various cases $10,000, $12,000, and $15,000, respectively, were specifically named by different tons as the sum at which the matter would be carried through.

"Another proposal was that I should discount two bills, each for $5,000, the bills not to be met should the honor be conferred before the due date.

"Another proposal took the form of an insurance scheme of a certain magnitude, which, it was argued, did not come into the category of paying for an honor. All this may be believed or not. I declare it is true. This letter is not written in a spirit of jealousy, for had I been so consumed with a desire for a title, I know well that I could have procured one for far less than I have personally expended on the Way Seal Foundation.

"Most of us are 'ships that pass in the night,' but it is well that we should leave records of our sailings."

There is nothing new in this except that Mr. Stoll goes into particulars with his own experience. It has long been charged that titles have been bought and sold over the political counter, and are made to the families of the party campaign funds in England. No doubt, all through history there has been more or less of this in one form or another, but what was once a king's business is now party graft.

Canadian titles and honors may be all right in this respect—they may be pure as the beautiful snow. None of them may have been bought with cash vulgarly slung down on the counter.

But if there is bartering in knight-

Quit Meat When Kidneys Bother

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder troubles you

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headache, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat.

and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

hoods and other honors in England we may be quite sure that if titles and honors are introduced here they will be bought and sold here, too. Once the trade got well started it would be hoisted along with characteristic new-world enterprise. Two years ago the Allies thought we could not produce munitions here, but look at last year's output! Think of what some of our politicians who have graduated from the town-site, land speculation, mining stock, company promoting schools of experience could do with a proposition—would they could sell a sheet of sheepskin and a sword-slash on the shoulder for any such figures as Oswald Stoll talks about!

Would there be buyers? There would. In a country like this, where fortunes are made by rapacity and where husbands are fond, titles would be bought if anybody opened a shop. After Mr. Newrich has bought big cars and runabouts, has erected his castle, sentried it with bronze lions, fronted it with fountains, filled it with carvings and paintings, but—there is a failure. He longes to use his wealth to purchase something he knows not what—something he cannot eat or wear or see. It is a dangerous moment for a democrat who has made millions. In that dangerous moment Mr. Newrich would fail for a title. He would buy it, not for himself—there is no nonsense about him—but he would buy it, the biggest one he could lift, and lay it proudly on his wife's lap.

This country ought to protect itself and its Nerviches. Parliament should enact that existing hereditary titles should lapse with the lives of persons now living. Some member of parliament should move a resolution to provide that no person who hereafter accepts a title shall be eligible to sit in any parliament or legislature or on the bench of any court in Canada. The motion would not carry, at present, but it would help define the issue.

A Promising New Wheat

(Ottawa Bulletin.)

By bringing out Marquis wheat the dominion department of agriculture did a service to Canada and to the empire that it would be difficult to over-estimate. On account of its vigorous habits of growth, excellent yield and superb milling qualities this variety which year after year as an exhibit from western Canada has carried off premier honors at the International Soil Projects Exhibition in the United States, has largely supplanted the old standard Red Fife that also gained for Canadian wheat an enviable reputation in the flour markets of the world.

A service rendered by the introduction of Prelude a few years later was also of great importance, inasmuch as it extended the wheat-growing area of this country by millions of acres. To these two very valuable accessions to the hard wheat of Canada is to be added a new sort that comes midway between Marquis and Prelude in the matter of yield and ripening. This new sort has been produced at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, by Dr. Chas. E. Saunders, the dominion cerealist, who gives the following account of the new wheat in the March number of The Agricultural Gazette, the official organ of the federal department of agriculture:

"The new wheat, which has been named Ruby, Ottawa 628, possesses characteristics in ripening and other qualities midway between Marquis and Prelude. It is headless, possesses hard, red kernels, gives a fair yield, and makes flour of the highest quality in regard to color and strength. Bread made from it ranks in the first class. This wheat is the result of a cross between Downy Riga and Red Fife. Downy Riga was produced from two early sorts, Gehlen, an Indian variety, and Onga from northern Russia. Ruby is recommended for trial where Marquis does not ripen satisfactorily. A very limited distribution of five-pound samples is being made to farmers requiring an early sort. A sufficient crop will be grown this year on the experimental farms to provide for a generous distribution next spring."

A SUGGESTION FROM THE WEST

Change of Parliamentary Procedure Needed to Allow Members to Decide Fate of Measures on Their Merits

(Journal of Commerce.)

Our parliamentary practice in dominion and provinces, founded on that of the imperial parliament, is so well established that suggestions for a change in it are seldom readily received. There is much ground for the argument that what has grown up through years of experience, and has received the endorsement of the greatest parliamentary body in the world, must have much merit, and should not be abandoned unless for grave reasons. There is probably less disposition now than there was formerly to pay respect to old customs. This is particularly noticeable in our western country, where all things are new and where the atmosphere is charged with something like radicalism. Our excellent contemporary, the Calgary Albertaist, makes the bold assertion that in provincial affairs at least our parliamentary organization needs remodeling. The first suggestion offered is that the legislature should be abolished and something like a commission form of government adopted for the province. That this is rather revolutionary the Albertaist admits, and therefore it proceeds to suggest something less radical. What it proposes is a change of parliamentary practice that has much to commend it, and that may be even worthy of consideration in the large political arena. Our contemporary contends that the system whereby the fate of a government is made to depend on the passage or defeat of a measure restricts freedom of discussion and action on the part of members. Here is the position as stated by the Calgary writer:

"A member of parliament faces a measure knowing that it is wrong. But if he votes against it he may defeat the government and thus do an even greater wrong. He votes for the bad measure and saves the government."

"This is done time after time, year after year, and prevents more good legislation and is responsible for more bad legislation than anything else in our entire system."

"The result is that the more important decisions in the legislature now are made in the caucus, behind closed doors, and the sessions of the legislature are of little importance and are to a great extent staged battles between the parties in which there is but little free and independent discussion. The influence of the leaders is supreme."

"The Calgary journal argues that it is not right to put a member in a position where he is obliged to vote for or against a measure. Instead of a practice which produces the difficulty that has been pointed out, the writer suggests that a government should not be so identified with a measure that it is obliged to vote for or against it. Each member should be free to discuss the measure with absolute disregard of party considerations. Defeat of the measure should not be deemed a defeat of the government. If parliament is the best device in the government, it should say so by a direct non-confidence vote, and only in the presence of such a vote should a government be expected to resign. Of course, if a government attach so much importance to a measure that they are unwilling to remain in office without its enactment, they would still resign. But the effect of the new measure would undoubtedly be to separate men from measures and to allow a much greater freedom of discussion than that which takes place under the present practice."

Canada's War Parliament

Ottawa, March 20.—When the house met this afternoon, Sir Robert Borden introduced a bill to give the franchise to women. The bill was read a first time. He introduced a further bill to authorize re-arrangements and transfer of duties in the public service. The latter bill was to authorize the governor-in-council to change any department or branch from the direction of one minister to the direction of another. This bill also was read a first time.

A daylight savings bill, along the lines of the bill presented last session, was introduced by Sir George Foster and read a first time. The first reading of the bill was seconded by Mr. Carvell.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier asked the prime minister of the minister of finance would he be his guest during the present session. Sir Robert Borden replied that he had no announcement to make at the present time.

In reply to a question by Mr. Devlin, whether any money had been paid to Lord Beaverbrook by Canada and what the nature was of Lord Beaverbrook's change of the Canadian war records office, Beaverbrook had given his services as Canadian record officer and officer in charge of the Canadian war records office, without charge. The expenses of the Canadian war records office had been paid partly out of the war vote and partly out of the profits derived from the sale of publications, photographs and moving picture films, produced under the auspices of the office. The total grant for this purpose had been $25,000, of which only a portion was expended.

Sir Robert further sketched the work of Lord Beaverbrook as Canadian record officer.

Sir Wilfrid read a statement from the Toronto News to the effect that an agreement had been reached with the ministers representing the provinces, that in future they would remain in abeyance until after the war. He asked if it were true or not that such an understanding had been arrived at, and referred to the demands in the west for the abolition of duties on agricultural implements, a move which has the support of Hon. C. A. Dunning, of Saskatchewan, who is in charge of the production branch of the Canada Food Board.

Sir Robert Borden said that Sir Wilfrid's remarks were not relevant to the motion. He characterized the opposition leader's reference to "truck or trade with the Yankees" as an old joke and suggested that Sir Wilfrid should give it a rest for a time.

Sir Robert did not make any statement in reply to Sir Wilfrid's observations as to the tariff, but explained that the convention between the United States and Canada, details of which have already been made public, would be tabled as soon as ratified by the United States senate. He observed that the convention would probably be the basis of a similar agreement between England and the United States.

Hon. Arthur Meighen introduced a bill to amend the dominion lands act. He said the board would not radically change the general provisions of the lands act, but would in addition to a number of general amendments, provide facilities for pre-emption holders to obtain loans of their lands. This proposal

No Lame Back For Three Years

Since He Found a Cure for Kidney Disorders—Was Cured at a Cost of Two Dollars, and Tells How.

Baker Settlement, N. S., March 21.—Here is more evidence that as a cure for lame, aching back and backache, there is no treatment to be compared to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. The writer of this letter has no doubt as to how he was cured, and his experience should be of value to every reader of this paper. By keeping the liver, kidneys and bowels in healthful working order, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cleanse the poisons from the system and thereby prevent pains and aches, and the development of serious disease.

Mr. Anthony Bolivar, Baker Settlement, N. S., writes: "I, for one, have received good results from your medicine. I had a lame back for two years and at last it got so bad, with pains in my back and out through my stomach, that I did not know how to lie in bed at night. I had seen in your handbooks about your Kidney-Liver Pills, and I sent to the drug store and got $1.00 worth, and I had not used two boxes before they helped me. I used that $1.00 worth and got another. I must thank you, for they helped me. I have not had a lame back for about three years, since I took the Pills. I have them on hand and would not do without them. If I feel a little lame back at night after working hard, I just take one at bed time and the next morning it is all gone. I spent $15 for doctor's medicine and got no help until I took your pills. $2.00 worth of your pills cured me."
