The Committee have to report the enrolment of 76 members, which they regard as most encouraging; they feel, however, that only a good beginning has been made, and that there are many young men even now in Toronto who only require to be found out and invited, in order to avail themselves of the privileges of the Association.

The Committee at an early day considered the advisability of bringing article X. of the Constitution into practical effect, viz:—"The Committee shall have power to appoint from among the members Special Committees to carry out particular objects of the Association,"—but decided upon leaving the matter in abeyance until after the first General Meeting of the Association. They have frequently had the subject under discussion, and propose that the following sub-committees be appointed:—

1. The Bible and Tract Committee, to assist in distributing bibles and tracts.
2. The Stranger's Committee, whose special object it shall be to seek out young men who come to take situations in our city, and to introduce them to the privileges of the Association.

* A small part only of the expenses under this head has yet been paid, as many of the accounts have not been rendered.
