James Price, of Norton, Kings Co., will begin the erection of a store at that place in a few weeks. Something very much like a boom seems to have struck Norton this summer. Several private residences and a number of shops and stores have been built since spring.

Memorandum despatches sent out the day of the gold mine meeting did not make clear the fact that the old board of nine directors has been reduced to five. The new board comprises J. W. Y. Smith, A. C. VanMeter, E. C. Cole, C. E. Freeman and Dr. Gaudet. The secretary and the solicitor are not directors.

Chas. Jones has erected a sash and door factory near McFee & McAlley's steam mill at Lower Millstream. The machinery is being placed in position and all orders will be filled at short notice after another week. This is the only factory of the kind in that part of Kings County.

The congregation take farewell of their present church on Sabbath next. Rev. A. J. Goward, formerly of Fredericton, is the pastor. It is known as Erskine church.

The annual convention of the F. C. B. church of New Brunswick will open at Tracy's Mill, in the county, on the 13th prox. The ministers and delegates who attend will receive a hearty welcome.

The Lepreux river bridge, on the St. Andrew's Road, in the village of Lepreux, is yet left by the fire. Bitter complaints are made by residents and strangers having to ford the river which will now, owing to heavy rains, be very deep. There is an opportunity for the Hon. Mr. Dorn to show his influence in the councils of the government.

The Free Baptists of Lower Millstream, Kings county, are building a parsonage near their church. The building will be 24x28 feet, with ell.

The crop of blueberries in the vicinity of Welsford must have been very large, for they are still being shipped from that station to Boston. Yesterday 27 crates came in by the Dominion express. They were firm and fresh looking. The recent frosts could not have visited that part of the county.

The Salvation Army barracks on Charlotte street have undergone a thorough renovation. Two or three partitions have been removed; the platform has been re-arranged, and a platform has been used with a lavish hand. The seating capacity of the building has been increased.

Capt. James Scoullar, a well-known St. John mariner, until lately engaged in the shipping business in Liverpool, G.B., died in that town on Sept. 9th, a little over eighty years. The late James Scoullar, father of Capt. Scoullar, was a merchant tailor in this city half a century ago. Capt. Scoullar was married to a sister of John R. Edgcombe is going to the Halifax exhibition with twelve more carriages, while still another twelve of the firm's carriages will be shown at the Summerside fair.

The good people of Norton, Kings Co., are sorely puzzled. The other day the men who were engaged in excavating for the new store to be built by James E. Price, of that place, came across something much resembling ordinary pottery. It is shaped like a triangle. Upon either side are strange letters and figures. The stone has been examined by a large number of persons but no one has any idea what it is or where it came from.

A garden party was held at Belyea's wharf, Greenwich, Kings Co., on Wednesday last, under the auspices of St. Paul's and St. James' churches. United States Consul Derby has received word that since the new tariff took effect all the special rates which were enforced against the shipment of American lumber from this port have been discontinued. This will save the shippers considerable trouble. It will no longer be necessary to give proof of the domestic origin of the lumber and no special vouchers will be required. The lumber will henceforth be admitted in the same way as any other importation.

In the usual column today there is recorded the marriage at New York of two popular young St. John people—Miss Ethel Knight Mollison, daughter of W. K. Mollison, Esq., and Mr. Edward C. Moore. Miss Mollison has been on a visit to friends in New York. The ceremony was performed in the Westminster Presbyterian church, 72nd street, on the evening of Sept. 12, by the rector, Rev. Robert P. Sample, D.D. The many friends of the bride and groom will wish them much happiness.

The body found at Chance Friday and brought to this city on Friday night, was identified on Saturday as that of Fred. Priest, one of the Primrose crew, and son of Capt. Priest. The remains were recognized by brothers of deceased and others by the shoes and necktie. Under the circumstances Coroner Berryman did not deem an inquest necessary. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon and was very largely attended. The pall bearers were Fred. Haynes, Howard Holder, Fred. Patterson, Albert Wilson, Frank Dinges and Charles Lawson. The interment took place in the Rural cemetery. Rev. Mr. Watts and Rev. Mr. Stewart officiated.

BOSTON LETTER.

The A. P. A. Making Trouble in the Republican Ranks.

A Large Amount of Steam Tonnage Now Tied Up.

The Lumber Market Showing a Better Tone—A Disappointing Mackerel Catch.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Boston, Sept. 20.—The primaries are being held this week throughout the state and considerable excitement exists in political circles. The A. P. A. is active as usual and has made some surprising moves within the republican ranks. In Worcester the A. P. A. element prevented U. S. Senator Hoar from being sent to the convention as a delegate. Senator Hoar is accused by the association of having favored Catholics. In Cambridge the A. P. A. swept the city from one end to the other. In Salem Representative Dennis, an old member of the house, was overwhelmingly defeated, but, as suggested by the result, his name is still the same. The republicans are afraid that the element will have the effect of losing many Catholic votes to the party.

An official investigation is under way by the treasury department to determine whether the province of Quebec imposes an export or stumpage tax on logs or not. It is stated that the Quebec government still imposes a discriminatory duty on spruce logs when shipped to this country as pulp wood. An investigation was instituted before this one to find out whether Canada imposed an export duty, but the secretary of the treasury was satisfied that no duty was imposed unless it was levied by provincial governments. A vessel was used to transport the logs to the lumber at Georgetown, and one cargo of laths was held here pending a decision a few weeks ago, but since then there has been little difficulty with the customs people, unless it has been of lumber brought by rail from Quebec. This question will be decided in a few days.

It is reported that lumbermen on the Penobscot in Maine are hiring for $10 per month with board, and that employment is none too plentiful even at that price. Charles Fawcett of Sackville is advertising for 30 stores the moulders in a Boston paper this week. The men are wanted to take the place of strikers. The wages are not stated, but the information is vouchsafed that they can make from $2 to $3 per day on the face of the dollar. From Moulders' Union 106 of this city, at its last meeting notified its members that Mr. Fawcett's men were on strike, resisting a reduction of wages.

The steamboat lines running to the provinces are cutting rates. The latest is $5 return trip to St. John by the International company, the ordinary rate one way.

The Boston and New York business men who are interested in the proposed South Shore railway from Yarmouth to Shelburne, are making preparations to push the work of construction. The boats of the line, now loading at Baltimore the immense plant of Monroe, Strange & Lee, the railroad contractors. Two trips will be necessary to transport it. The line is expected to be running next summer.

Shipping at this port is duller than it has been for years and the 'long-shoremen are finding a hard time to keep employed. The shipping agents are finding a hard time to keep employed. The shipping agents are finding a hard time to keep employed.

The British steamer Strathpey arrived from Progress, Mex., with hemp, which was duly unloaded. Ever since she has been on the East Boston flats waiting for orders. Sept. 7 the Norwegian steamer Adria arrived from Porto Rico with sugar. She has been here ever since and will be towed to the flats in a few days to keep company with the Strathpey. These vessels are proving a dead loss to the owners, as the men cannot be discharged in foreign ports without their pay, and the cargo is not wanted.

The remains were recognized by brothers of deceased and others by the shoes and necktie. Under the circumstances Coroner Berryman did not deem an inquest necessary. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon and was very largely attended. The pall bearers were Fred. Haynes, Howard Holder, Fred. Patterson, Albert Wilson, Frank Dinges and Charles Lawson. The interment took place in the Rural cemetery. Rev. Mr. Watts and Rev. Mr. Stewart officiated.

The fish trade is active in some branches while quiet prevails in others. Considerable salt mackerel are coming forward from the provinces and this is keeping the trade from being short. P. E. I. NEWS.
(Special Correspondence of The Sun.)
The oyster fishing this fall is now in full operation, hundreds of men from all parts of the Prince Edward Islands are flocking to Richmond bay to fish during the time allotted them by law, namely, from 7th September to close of navigation. The supply this year is not so good as in former years, although there are more men fishing, the boats numbering between five and six hundred, and as each boat contains two fishermen there are more than 1,000 men out in the bay every day that is not blowing too hard to fish. Last year about 30,000 bbls. were taken out of the bay, but it is thought the supply will not equal that this year. The oysters are scattered more over the bay than they were some years ago, and consequently only one barrel is fished to every three procured in years past, when the oysters were found in clusters. Those fishermen who live too far from the shore, and who are not shore during the fishing season. Between 4 and 5 p. m. should you take a drive to Richmond bay, which is on the north side of the island, only five feet from the shore, and you will see a scene greets the sight. Hundreds of boats are heading for the shore, and they look splendidly as they sail along. On arrival the oysters are immediately put in barrels and hauled to Summerside, where they are pickled over and shipped next morning to different points in the maritime provinces and Upper Canada. The price per bbl. ranges from $2.50 to $3.00. The harvest this year has been gathered earlier than usual. There was a good hay crop, but only a two-third oat crop—the shortage being caused by blight. Two or three weeks ago there was a heavy frost for several nights, which hurt the growth of the potatoes to some extent, but taking things altogether it has been a fairly good year, especially the fruit, the yield being exceptionally good.

Exhibitions have commenced on the island, the first being held at Alberton on the 20th inst. Opened Howardland was present and gave the exhibition. Mr. Dillon, dominion dairying inspector, Dr. Jenkins, John Yeo, M. P., and other prominent gentlemen were present. The exhibits were equal to that of other years, and notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, a large number of people came from all parts of the island.

ST. JOHN MAN DROWNED.
Capt. Hayes, of the ship Mabel Taylor, reports that James Cameron, the second mate, was drowned the middle of August at Pleasant Point. He had been on shore but did not return to the ship. In the morning his hat was found on the dock and search having been made his body was discovered near the ship. An inquest was held, but no facts other than those given above were revealed. The remains were interred in the English cemetery. Cameron, who was about 30 years of age, was a St. John man. He was unmarried. His relations live on St. David street. The deceased was in the Taylor over twelve months and was well thought of by all who knew him.

Business was resumed at two p.m. A well written paper on "Facts," read by A. C. M. Lawson, called forth considerable discussion.

RESTIGOUCHE CO.

Campbellton, Sept. 19.—The dairy commissioners were held on Friday last, but not one of the farmers put in an appearance. Perhaps the farmers of this county think they know enough about butter making without any outside tuition, or it may be that they are too busy getting in their crops, as the first two weeks of this month were wet, so they took the first chance when fine weather came to attend to that important duty. It is a pity some effort was not made to meet the commissioners. There are some few farmers who make good butter in this vicinity, but the majority do not, in fact some of it is more like cart grease than butter. Nor are they any too clean with their butter. Not long ago I saw a pail of butter with the inside painted, which of course spoiled the butter, and yet the owner would swear it was lovely butter. Another tub had the marks of the hand that had packed the butter—a hand that had evidently first finished digging potatoes, and then packed the butter without washing. Those who make good butter sell it for twenty cents cash, all through the summer, and people are glad to get it; others find it hard to get sixteen cents in trade, simply because they do not make good butter and are careless about having their pails, etc., clean.

On Sunday night at St. James' church six new elders were ordained. Rev. G. S. Fisher of Dalhousie preached the sermon and the Rev. A. F. Carr ordained the elders elected.

The bunnishers in Alexander & Shives' shingle mills struck on Monday. They had been getting eight cents per thousand, but wanted ten. The mills were closed on Monday, but started again Tuesday, the owners finding no difficulty in getting men to take the strikers' places.

A moonlight excursion to Oak Bay to visit the bark Arabia, was very much enjoyed by about 60 ladies and gentlemen last evening. Capt. C. S. Omond welcomed the visitors. Dancing was started almost immediately and kept up with spirit until midnight, when supper was served. Then dancing was resumed until about 2 a. m. when good byes were said. W. A. Mott, M. P., moved a vote of thanks to the captain for his kindness. The outing was a pleasant one, the weather was delightful, and the committee, Messrs. Ryan Price, C. A. Kennedy, W. A. Mott and L. S. Brown did everything to make the trip pleasant and enjoyable. Mrs. Angus McLellan chaperoned the party and a vote of thanks was given her.

THE DEATH RECORD.

The death occurred Sunday of George T. Graham, a well known north end resident. Deceased resided on Douglas avenue for many years. The funeral will take place on Tuesday.

The death occurred at his late residence, Simonds street, on Saturday, of Charles A. Turner, after a lingering illness, in the fifty-fifth year of his age. Mr. Turner years ago was one of the best known men along the river, he having been steward on the old river boats, among them the Forest Queen. He resided in Fredericton for several years and was a very popular citizen. Of late years Mr. Turner has resided on Simonds street, north end.

The funeral of the late Joseph B. Perkins took place Monday from her residence of his brother, J. M. Perkins, Gaspereaux station. The deceased, whose death occurred on Saturday, was a native of Queens county and for a number of years represented that county in the legislature. He was one of the oldest justices of the peace in the province, having been appointed to that office some fifty years ago. He was twice married, but leaves no children. A brother is living in Carleton Place, deceased was 84 years old.
