Morning Cotton Letter—Just before the close last night the bears made quite a strong raid on the market, but their offerings were well taken by the bulls and the result of the day must be a further encouragement to those who had been rather friendly to the market, but inclined to hold off owing to the good weather and the smaller shorts are showing signs of uneasiness. It is probable that the wet weather reported in the south has really caused any damage of consequence. Nevertheless the complaints of much damage are having some effect on sentiment and uneasiness with the bulls are maintaining their position suggesting that they sooner or later will run into a spell of bad weather and crop news in which event the upward movement would probably be sensational. Even with continued good weather any material decline in price is questionable, as so much progress has already been made toward discounting a bumper crop this discount being very evident in the difference between the quotations for local contract and the quotation for spot cotton. Until the near months here are selling somewhere near a figure that would make, which, the bulls have certainly the advantage of position over their opponents in addition to the fact that the long lines are concentrated in very strong hands and that only a part of the short interest is of a strong character.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 3.—The investment of the temperance wave throughout the continent has brought it even there early as far north as the Arctic circle. One of the first measures offered to the Yukon Legislature, the annual session of which has just opened, is a bill for the elimination of all saloons within the territory, inclusive of Dawson City, and giving only to properly equipped hotels the right to sell intoxicants.

A blow has also been struck against the dance halls of the Yukon, the one remaining part of Canada in which women have been legally employed to promote the sale of liquor. Jack McCrimmon has been sentenced to 30 days' imprisonment at hard labor and without the option of a fine for running a dance hall. Mr. Justice Dugas in rendering sentence stated that a longer term would of a certainty be imposed upon the next conviction.

The stand of the Yukon authorities is paralleled by that of British Columbia, which has decided to grant no liquor permits or licenses along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, now building, and which will probably introduce drastic temperance legislation for the entire Province at the forthcoming session of the Provincial Legislature.

LOCAL NEWS.

UP-TO-DAYNESS.

When the term "Up-to-date" is used, it is wise to question the date. For instance, some loose-leaf card and duplicating systems are ten to twenty years behind the times. This class of so-called up-to-date stationery is sold by publishing houses to business colleges. If you desire to be "up to day" in the latest systems, examine those now exclusively controlled by the Currie Business University, Ltd., which systems are being daily received from the largest offices in Canada, United States and Europe. You cannot be deceived as the names of the firm are printed on the forms. Four or five new systems of cost accounting are now being introduced into St. John by experts. One St. John concern handles, successfully, over a thousand time-drafts a month without the aid of a bill-book. Ask any business college manager who knows about these things, then call at the Public Service Office of the Currie Business University for its side of the story. Be just to yourself. That's business.

FIRING A DWELLING

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 3.—Simon Richards was arrested tonight on a charge of attempting to set a fire during the progress of a lively bias this afternoon in the Bourne Mill tenements, situated on the boundary line between Fall River and Tiverton, R. I. A fire started from an unknown cause in a shed near one of the mill tenements. At one time seven houses all of wood, were on fire, but the Fall River department saved all from destruction. The total loss is about $5,000. It is claimed that while the fire was burning, Richards was seen attempting to start a fire in one of the houses near those which caught from the burning shed. No one was injured as the tenants were at work in the mills.

A meeting of the Salisbury Liberal Club was held in their rooms in Salisbury, on Saturday evening. The hall was well filled notwithstanding the busy season among the farmers.

NELSON, B. C., Aug. 4.—The latest news from the Crown Nest Pass disaster shows a death list of 82, which will probably be increased to 70 or 80, a property loss exceeding five million dollars and about 7,000 homeless people. Fernie and Michel have been wiped out, and the entire town of Fernie is almost destroyed. Homes lost some ten houses and the coal company's surface works were destroyed. The powder magazine at Homer exploded, killing one man. The five Blackhand suspects who were in Fernie jail were brought in from Cranbrook and will be brought on here. The other prisoners were given their liberty.
