BLACK'S HARBOR, N. B.

Mr. Richard McCallum

A well-known citizen of Stirling, Ont., cured of Chronic Catarrh and irritable throat by Catarrhzone

A remarkable case exciting great interest in Stirling, which, if possible, adds to the popularity of Catarrhzone as a cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis, and Throat Trouble.

Catarrh is one of the most disagreeable and at the same time hardest to cure diseases. This has been Mr. McCallum's experience: "For many years," he writes, "I have suffered from Catarrh, and continually hawked and coughed, so that my throat was always in an inflamed irritable condition. "Doctors' medicine did not help me in the least, and all other remedies I used were quite useless. In one case it was time wasted in snuffing powder up the nose; in another using a greasy ointment and so on. Not one of them was the least bit of good. "I heard Catarrhzone favorably spoken of and tried a sample, and it really benefited me more in a few hours than years of treatment with doctors' and other so-called remedies. "Receiving such immense benefit from the sample size, I got the complete outfit, Large Hard Rubber Inhaler, etc., and but a few weeks of its use completely cured me of Catarrh and throat trouble. "I recommend Catarrhzone as the most satisfactory Catarrh Remedy on the market. Every word said about it is true. (Signed) "Richard McCallum."

Now perhaps you need a remedy like Catarrhzone. It is the only treatment that is applied locally as well as constitutionally. The Inhaler clears the air passages, stops hawking and spitting, and purifies the breath. The Ferrozene Tablets which are used in conjunction with Catarrhzone Inhaler drive all the poisons from the blood and builds up the system to a healthy, vigorous condition. "The complete outfit costs $1.00 at all druggists; trial size 50c., by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Buy Catarrhzone to-day.

They did not perish of thirst; but, after sixteen days of drinking soap-suds, which agreed with neither palate nor stomach, no native of that particular gang was again likely to purify water with soap, no matter how clean they wanted it.

Drinking Soap-suds

Miss Mary Kingsley, who made many journeys in the wilds of Africa, used to relate how once, finding it necessary to cleanse a much soiled and stained blouse, she carried it, with a cake of soap, to a neighboring spring, where an interested group of native women watched her wash it. They were much impressed by the way in which the spots disappeared, and it emerged as good as new.

The next morning, when it was time to break camp, Miss Kingsley missed her soap—a precious commodity in the wilderness. Suspicion soon pointed to a certain woman, who, on being accused, confessed boldly that she had taken it and cast it into the spring, that its extraordinary powers of renewing old garments might be permanently imparted to the waters. She was deeply mortified to learn that her effort had been in vain.

The Rev. Peter McQueen, of Charlottetown, Massachusetts, who has recently returned from Africa, tells a kindred story. His soap, however, was not lost, although misused. He still had it with him.

"I told our native servants to be sure and lay in a supply of clean water when we crossed the Tatu desert, a scorched belt of sand streichings some seventy-six miles," he relates. "Tidings had reached us that a British explorer who had attempted to cross that desert shortly before us had perished from thirst, so we wanted to be careful.

"You can imagine my surprise when, upon taking my first draft of water, I discovered that it tasted strongly of soap. All the cakes were similarly tainted, and we rounded up the natives and held a just court-martial.

"It was a tough predicament, but I couldn't refrain from smiling within when the leader of them meekly confessed that as the master had instructed him to lay in a supply of clean water, he had seen to it that bars of soap were added, for soap, he said, was used to clean things."

They did not perish of thirst; but, after sixteen days of drinking soap-suds, which agreed with neither palate nor stomach, no native of that particular gang was again likely to purify water with soap, no matter how clean they wanted it.
