

This and That

WHERE HIS ORDERS WERE FROM.

A raw recruit in the cavalry, named Murphy, was given one of the worst buckers in the whole troop to ride. He had never been on a horse in his life, and the drill was anything but a recreation to him, as the sequel will show.

"Now, my men," said the sergeant, addressing them, "no one is allowed to dismount without orders from a superior officer. Remember that."

Tim was no sooner in the saddle than he was hurled head over heels through the air, and came down so hard that the breath was almost knocked out of him.

"Murphy," shouted the sergeant, when he discovered the man spread out on the ground, "you dismounted."

"I did."

"Did you have orders?"

"I did."

"From headquarters, I suppose," with a sneer.

"No, from hindquarters"—Ex.

HOW NANNIE GAVE.

Nannie had a bright silver dollar given her. She asked her father to change it into dimes.

"What is that for, dear?" he asked.

"So that I can get the Lord's part out of it."

When she got it into smaller coins she laid one out of the ten.

"There," she said, "I will keep that until Sunday."

When Sunday came she went to the offering-box in the church vestibule and dropped in two dimes.

"Why," said her father, when he heard the last one jingle in, "I thought you gave one-tenth to the Lord?"

"I said one-tenth belongs to him and I cannot give him what is his own. So, if I give him anything, I have given him what is mine"—Ex.

ONLY A SLIGHT COLD.

Yet it May Lead to Consumption and an Early Grave

If your blood is poor or watery, a touch of cold or influenza will settle in your lungs, and the slight cough of today may turn to the racking consumptive's cough of tomorrow.

Weak lungs are caused by weak blood; weak blood is an open invitation for consumption to lay upon you the hand of death.

Stop that cough by enriching your blood and strengthening your lungs with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They make new, rich, red blood; they add resisting power to the lungs. They have saved hundreds from a consumptive's grave. Here is a positive proof that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure where other medicines fail.

Mrs. Katie Henry, Charlottetown, P. E. I., says:—"Some months ago I got caught in a rain storm, and the wetting was followed by a cold. At first I paid but little attention to it, but as the cold clung to me and finally developed into a hacking cough, I became alarmed and consulted a doctor, who gave me a bottle of medicine. Unfortunately, it did not help me, and I began to grow pale, lost in weight and my appetite completely left me. I was now regularly under the care of the doctor, who told me my lungs were affected, and that I was threatened with consumption. The doctor's treatment did not seem to benefit me in the least. I steadily grew weaker, and finally was compelled to stay in bed. At this time a friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and even brought me three boxes before I consented to take them. I have reason now to bless my friend's persistence, because I felt better before all the pills were gone, and I gladly continued the treatment, and was soon able to be out of bed and take a walk each day. I am now in the best of health, and weigh ten pounds more than I did before I took sick. I feel that I owe my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and hope my experience will benefit some other sufferer."

All diseases which come from poor blood or weak nerves can be driven from the system by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which may be had from any dealer in medicine, or will be sent post paid at 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Remember that substitutes and medicines said to be "just as good" do not cure.

THE FATHER'S LESSON.

A little lad sat in his own high chair, Blue were his eyes and golden his hair; But the sunny smile had flown from his face, And an ugly frown had taken its place.

The table was laden with dainty food, But nothing could tempt his naughty mood; His tumbler sparkled with water clear, While that of his father was filled with beer.

There lay the grievance; and soon he said (With a saucy toss of his curly head)— "I mean to grow up as fast as I can, And I'll always drink beer when I'm a man!"

But the mother's cheek grew blanched with fear, And she glanced from her boy to the glass of beer; Till now it had only a beverage been, But her eyes were opened, and lurking within

She saw the germs of folly and crime, Rapidly rising 'neath the touch of time; Hiding all trace of a once good name, Revelling in a drunkard's shame.

She glanced at her husband; his face was sad, The wilful words of this little lad Had reached his heart, and he stopped to think—

"O God! am I tempting my boy to drink?"

"In me it awakens no craving for more, And stronger spirits I loathe and abhor; But my son may be tempted, though I be strong, And through my example he may go wrong."

"Please God, he shall never be able to say— I began to love it when, day by day, I saw my father his tumbler fill, And knew that in him it worked no ill."

Then meeting the anxious gaze of his wife—

"Will you join me," he said, "in a pledge for life? For the sake of our child, and because it is right To shield his life from drink's curse and blight."

So the pledge was signed, and that lurking fear Vanished for aye with the glass of beer; And the boy grew up to make them blest, And took for his motto, "Water is best."

HOME MEASUREMENTS.

Sister measured my grin one day; Took the ruler and me; Counted the inches all the way,— One and two and three.

"Oh, you're a Cheshire cat," said she, Father said, "That's no sin." Then he nodded and smiled at me,— Smiled at my three-inch grin.

Brother suggested I ought to begin Trying to trim it down. Mother said "Better three-inch grin Than a little half-inch frown!"

"IN CARE OF."

A young girl friend, visiting her aunt, came to me the other day inquiring how she should abbreviate, "in care of," in addressing her letter. How comforting, thought I, whether at home or far away, to be "in care of" some friend! And are not all God's children in His care? His servants, the holy angels, are ready to do His bidding, watching by day and by night; "for He shall give His angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways." Did ever queen have such royal attendants? "In care of God." Let us say it over and over, turning to His holy word with prayer, find that from Genesis to Revelation those who trust in Him need never have a fear. "In care of." We see it in every leaf on the tree, on every blade of grass. His smile rests upon every flower that blooms. When the sun beats too heavily upon his weary ones, look up and He will spread the shadow of His wings over you. "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the Most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty." When the waves would go over us, we find shelter in the Rock. When the ship would go down, He stilleth the waves, whispering: "Peace! Be still!" In temptation He putteth this song in our hearts: "I am with thee, to deliver thee." In trouble, how quickly the door swings open! "I will be with him in trouble. I will deliver him and honor him." Every assurance is in this—"in care of" God.—Selected.
