William Drake.
The death occurred at an early hour Sunday morning of Mr. William Drake, a life-long resident of Avondale, at the age of 82. He had been ailing for some time and his death was not entirely unexpected. The death occurred in the house where he had lived since his marriage, and where he had raised all his family. William Drake, a merchant at Coldstream, and Colby Drake, of St. John, are sons of the deceased, and he has one brother at the deceased, and all of whom were at the funeral services, which were held at Waterville on Monday. Rev. J. D. Wetmore was the attending clergyman.

PRESENCE OF A. B. COPP IN CITY REG'LLS THAT GRITS WILL MEET DEC. 4

"Alphabet" May be Opposed as Federal Candidate in Westmorland— Transcript
Bird Has Aspirations.

A. B. Copp, Liberal member of parliament for Westmorland, has been in St. John this week. The knights of forlorn hope in Westmorland will hold a rubber stamp conclave at Moncton on Monday, Dec. 4, and will go through the usual formality of a Grit machine engineered convention and re-nominate the Sackville attorney. The Conservatives of Westmorland expect to nominate his successor at Sackville on the same day.

It will be remembered that the seat in parliament which Mr. Copp now holds was handed to him on a silver platter by the government party in keeping with the war truce which the Laurierites afterwards scattered to the four winds.

Personally Mr. Copp is not a bad sort, but unfortunately for his political stability in Westmorland he was mixed up with the old Frederickton regime of unsavory reputation.

Then There Would be Trouble.

Should A. B. by any unexpected decision decide the nomination at the hands of the party in Westmorland, who claim to be all that is pure, virtuous and immaculate in politics, a first class squabble between the regulars and the radicals would undoubtedly develop. The editor and proprietor of the Moncton Transcript, the oft disappointed aspirant for party honors, can always be depended on to be heard from when he thinks he has a chance to butt in, but Mr. Hawke in times past has invariably learned that he had another think coming. The Transcript editor wrote editorially last winter that his paper was controlled by no party and was opposed to any deal that might be made in the county. In other words, the Moncton gentleman threatened to bolt in certain contingencies.

This warlike declaration was made before the Westmorland by-election. Mr. Hawke had his way that time and opened his editorial columns to Mr. Man Friday, Carter, of Rothesay, now the candidate of the knights of the forlorn hope in Kings.

Dr. E. A. Smith of Shediac, the Liberal boss of Westmorland, who defeated Hon. Mr. Mahoney, the Minister of Public Works at that time, would probably be another aspirant for the federal nomination were A. B. out of the way, unless his pilot, the purist of Rothesay, could induce him to suppress his rising ambitions and confine himself to provincial politics and continue as president of the New Brunswick Opposition Association (so-called). It will be remembered then when the last Liberal convention was held in Westmorland to nominate a candidate for the House of Commons the Shediac dentist and the redoubtable John T. were in the running, but like some broken down steeds in a horse race they were carried at the finish as "also rans."

Looking for Trouble.
Mr. Hawke has been endeavoring to raise a dust in Westmorland to impress his readers with the idea that the Conservative party there is not harmonious. When the self important indulges in these phantom fights it is endeavoring to cover up something in his own faction of the Liberal party or else is preparing to make trouble for the leaders of the other faction as he has done on many occasions. But like the road to Tipperary it is a tedious and tortuous path from the newspaper's sanctum at the corner of Main and Westmorland streets, in the railway city, to the parliamentary benches at Ottawa or Fredericton.

Orphans Now Boy Scouts.
District Scoutmaster B. C. Waring last night formed a new troop of Boy Scouts consisting of two pairs at the Wiggins' Male Orphans' Institution with fourteen members. The scout master will be Superintendent Pierce of the home.

SUCCESSFUL CONGRESS OF SALVATION ARMY

Three Great Public Meetings
Held in Massey Hall, Toronto — Premier Hearst Praises Work.

The thirty-fourth annual congress of the Salvation Army was held in Toronto recently. The congress was conducted by Commissioner Howard of London, England, chief of the staff, and second in command of the Salvation Army staff. Three great meetings were conducted in Massey Hall. The building was packed for each gathering, and many were unable to gain admission.

The chief of the staff was accorded a most enthusiastic welcome by the Hon. W. H. Hearst, premier of Ontario, who presided over this meeting, and who spoke in glowing terms of the work in Canada.

"How Goes the Army?" was the subject of the lecture given by Commissioner Howard, and the great congregation listened with profound and intense interest as the chief outlined the advance the Army has made in the last few years, the commencement of the work in China, Russia, the Army's social work, and the work being done among the military forces.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS RAPIDLY DISAPPEARING

Health Restrictions will Probably be Suspended Within Few Weeks if Situation
Continues to Improve.

The epidemic of infantile paralysis in the United States is gradually disappearing and it is thought passengers coming from across the border will be allowed to travel, without submitting to medical examination, within a few weeks. In Massachusetts there were only two new cases last week, whereas formerly there were from twenty to thirty.

The enforcement of quarantine regulations against children of school age by both Canada and St. Stephen, is not relished by the young people who object to being deprived of the privilege of crossing the international bridge. When St. Stephen placed a ban on children of school age attending the movies, the youngsters were over to Canada to the shows but Canada's tough action and this restriction now denied the boys and girls from St. Stephen who are under 16 years of age. No new cases of infantile paralysis, the presence of which in St. Stephen caused the boards of health to act, have been reported during the week and it is now thought that the danger of a spread of the disease is over.

HUNTER LOST IN ST. JOHN RIVER REGION

Seventeen Year Old Boy
Thought to Have Perished
in Vast Maine Wilderness

Hope has been abandoned for the safety of Kenneth Curtis, a seventeen year old Waterville, Me., boy, who became lost in the wilderness last Friday. Curtis was hunting in the Moosehead Lake region and failed to return to camp. Searching parties have failed to find any trace of him and as the weather has been cold and stormy it is feared he has perished. The locality where the boy was last seen is fifteen miles north of Sebomook and the nearest camp north is miles distant on the St. John river.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR ANOTHER INDUSTRY

New Brunswick Might Find Profitable Business in Manufacture of Birch Oil —
Pennsylvania Has Done So.

The following article, taken from the N. Y. Journal of Commerce, might be taken to heart by the people of this province where birch grows in large quantities. If birch oil can be manufactured successfully in Pennsylvania, there is no reason why the same could not be done here. The raw material needed is here in plenty, and the stills could easily be installed, and thus create another industry for the province. The article says:

"Pennsylvania's birch oil industry, one of the oldest in the state, which was almost wiped out by the competition of the cheaper synthetic wintergreen oil, has been revived as a result of the scarcity of the latter, caused by the shutting off of supplies from Central Europe by the war. The Pennsylvania forests whole birch trees are dragged to the stills, where the branches are made into bales, and the heavier wood of the trunks is split into sections. The copper-bottomed wooden stills are then filled with branches and trunk wood, and fired for twenty-four hours. Birch oil and water are expelled from the wood by this cooking process, and are condensed in a copper worm. The oil is separated from the water by gravity, being much heavier. The wood which has gone through the distillation process is used to fire other stills, and the ashes from the fires are sold to celery growers to supply potash and phosphorus to the soil. A long cord of birch, about 210 cubic feet, yields from four to five pounds of the oil, worth from $2.21 to $2.50 per pound."
