MIDDLE MUSQUODOBOIT.

July 22—The Presbyterian Congregation here, last Sunday had the pleasure of listening to two very able sermons which gained the attention of a large audience—both morning and evening—and held it to the end. In the morning Rev. C. H. Morris, pastor of the biggest Christian church, Denver Colorado, preached a powerful, forceful and eloquent sermon from the text: "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son, etc."

His exposition of the text was complete and sometimes dramatic. God had given all he loved best "His only begotten son," what has the world given in return. Most of the world had forgotten God in their mad race for money, no matter how obtained, and they only return in direst trouble. He scathingly denounced the Kaiser and Kaiserism, and all that the name stood for; grasping, desolating, taking everything, and giving nothing in return. And dramatically he explained. We are all Kaiser's, inasmuch as we acute, all and give but very little to Christ in return. Rev. Mr. Morris is a son of Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Morris, is a native of this place, and his future is assured as one of the leading pulpits orators of the north American continent.

In the evening Rev. W. P. Archibald this sermon was very able, and the manner in which he elucidated his text stamped him as a deep thinker, a great leader, and there is not a doubt that he is bound to achieve great heights in the counsels of his church. His theme was the Benefit of Suffering, and he showed how some of the greatest things had been achieved by those who suffered either in mind or body. He instanced Darum, Tennyson whose masterpiece "In Memoriam" was composed when he was mourning the loss of his great friend, Arthur Hallam, cardinal Newman when he was in great perplexity having composed this great hymn

Lead kindly light amid the encircling gloom, Lead thou me on; The night is dark and I am far from home, Lead thou me on; Keep thou my feet; I do not ask to see The distant scene; one step enough for me.

And George Matheson who under great affliction created this marvelous hymn: "Oh Love that will not let me go, I rest my weary soul in thee; Give thee back the life I owe, That in their ocean depths its flow, May richer fuller, be."

The British Empire, he said, was passing through a period of suffering, which in the end would make it a safer, brighter, place to live in.

Mrs. C. Hedley Williston, nee Miss Sadie Reid, daughter of Daniel Reid, is home on a visit from Montreal. She was a valuable addition to the choir in the Presbyterian Church, Sunday.

Our new and temporary Methodist minister Rev. W. Brown has taken old strong and a successful season is expected Mr. Brown has been living in the west for a few years, too felt too active, and too full of energy to retire. So he is again in the field; with his characteristic energy and dynamic force he will certainly be a great acquisition to our preaching force.

Miss Eva Mitchell daughter of the former Methodist pastor—is visiting friends in the settlement.

John F. O'Connell, manager of the Majestic Theatre, Halifax, with his family motored through the valley, Saturday.

Robt. Stoddart of Musquodoboit, Halifax was in the village over Sunday. BUTTERFLY.

BELMONT, COL. CO.

July 18—Mrs. Thos. Lindsay, a life long resident of this place left for the West on Monday of this week. She was accompanied by her daughter,

Susie, a school teacher, who has honored her profession in the West.

Mrs. Lindsay intends making her home with a widowed daughter, Mrs. Cornell, who has an extensive wheat ranch and is busily trying to conserve wheat for our Allies and thus do her part in this great war.

A short time ago a reception was given at the home of Mrs. Lindsay and the following address was read:—

Dear Mrs. Lindsay:— Once again we meet in this hospitable home, where many a time we have met before, but now a feeling of sadness predominates as we realize that in your departure from us a bond of friendship will be severed that has always existed between us and you. Many of us have been associated with you from our youth up and our esteem and friendship have grown with the years till we feel keenly tonight that that bond cemented by so many pleasant memories and so many kind acts has to be severed.

You have lived a life beyond reproach among us and have proved a friend in adversity as well as prosperity and many a kind act performed for a sick or needy neighbor has been written to your credit in the "Great Book" as well as in our hearts and memories.

Your hospitable house, your genial manner, and your willingness to help in all good work will certainly be a loss to this community as well as to us individually. You and your daughters have been the life of all our meetings both socially and spiritually, and we know as you go from us you will soon be dispensing the same whole hearted generosity and good will to another people in another place and what we lose will be their gain.

Now as a slight token of appreciation to your life and character we tender to you these little gifts which we ask you to accept not for their intrinsic value but for the loving friendship that accompanies them.

In conclusion we do not say "good bye" but "God speed you" in your life among a new people and may you yet live many years and be blessed with all good things needful in this life and that which is to come.

With this address was given a fountain pen, and a travelling hand bag with a purse of money in it along with some other individual gifts.
