constitution of Bank of Canada;

As result of changes, government is assured of final voice in major questions of policy re currency and credit of nation -

No attempt, or desire, to interfere in administration of Bank;

Bank of Canada, like today's ceremony, furnishes a meeting-place for government and private enterprise -

There, policies may be worked out in keeping with needs and desires of commerce and finance, but with the State looking on to ensure that policies are beneficial to Dominion as a whole;

Bank of Canada also in position to give to Government valuable expert advice of completely impartial nature re questions of finance or economics -

Perhaps no better example of this than in recent surveys of the financial position of certain provinces;

Confidence in Officers of B. of C.

Canada fortunate to have services of men of ability and integrity as Governor and deputy-Governor and members of Board of Directors of Bank of Canada;

With such a body of men at head, feel that both public and private interests will be adequately safeguarded;
