Legislation Affecting Terminals

The terminal elevators handle a large percentage of the total grain sold. Their operation affects every grain interest in the country, farmers, dealers and millers. They have accordingly been subjected to keen scrutiny, fierce criticism and detailed legislation, and that in regard to almost every phase of their operations. Complaints have been directed against them as regards the trustworthiness of those operating them; tariffs and charges; grades and weights; their methods of storing, binning and shipping; cleaning and drying; loading and mixing; and their accumulation of surpluses. And the legislation governing them has been designed with explicit reference to these complaints.

Licenses, Bonds and Insurance

Persons proposing to own, lease, manage or operate terminal elevators must secure the approval of the board of grain commissioners. Further, the elevators are licensed annually, and the board can recommend the revocation of the license in case of proven violations of the law. Each licensee must file with the board a bond to His Majesty conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties as a terminal warehouseman, and his full and unrestricted compliance with all laws in relation thereto. And every terminal warehouseman must insure the stored grain against fire in companies satisfactory to the board.

Elevator Tariffs and Charges

All charges for storing, cleaning, handling and the insuring of grain, including the cost of receiving and delivering, are subject to such regulations or reductions as the board deems proper. The charges are fixed annually. During the first week of September the companies file with the board the rates they propose to charge during the following year, and the board holds a public session for the purpose of hearing objections to the proposed rates.

Cleaning, Drying, Etc.

The inspectors define what percentage of admixture should be cleaned out of the grain as received, and the actual cleaning is under their supervision. The Grain Act provides for the compensation to be paid, if any, to the owner of the grain for the screenings.

Warehouse Receipts

When grain is received into store, a warehouse receipt is issued for it to the party delivering the grain. This receipt states the place, the date, the shipping point, the name of the owner, the kind and grade of the grain, the net weight and the car number. This receipt is sent to the registration office of the board of grain commissioners. It is then compared with the inspector's report of the cars unloaded at the elevator in question, and if found correct it is registered. On the receipt of the bill of lading the receipt is given to the owner of the grain. The receipt is then negotiable on the market, and it can also be used as collateral security for a loan from a bank.

Mr. White, chief weighmaster at the terminal elevator

When grain is loaded out of the elevator, the receipt representing it must be presented to the registration office for cancellation within seventy-two hours, exclusive of holidays, of the loading of the grain.

It is obvious that the registration records show the total quantities of the various grains by grades received into and shipped out of the elevator. The inspection and weighing departments also possess such records, so that a complete check is secured.

Annual Stocktaking

In the month of August, every year, officers of the board of grain commissioners take stock of all the grain in each elevator, and statements are made out showing the kinds, grades and weights of grain in each house. The registration clerks table the receipts issued and cancelled during the year, and the surpluses and shortages in the elevator are determined.

TIMOTHY SEED SITUATION

Present and prospective high prices for hay are having the natural effect in reducing the areas that may be left to timothy seed. Reports from the United States also indicate reduced areas left to this seed crop. Two-thirds of our supply is usually imported from the United States, where it is grown on land ranging in value from $75 to $150 per acre. This seed comes rather badly hulled, but is particularly free from weed seeds. The prospects for this year are considerably higher prices for timothy seed. Canadian farmers are advised to bear this situation in mind and arrange to leave for seed particularly clean pieces of timothy.
