ROSEBURY ON LAURIER HOSTILITIES RESUMED

Says Premier's Statements Are Guarded and Vague.

Declares That Sir Wilfrid's Expressions in Favor of a Commercial Treaty With Britain Were Made Under Pressure—British Press, Commenting On Speech of His Lordship At Trowbridge, Says Colonies Want Conference.

London, Nov. 1.—(C.A.P.)—Lord Rosebury, at Trowbridge, said: "I observe that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's utterances are very cautious, very guarded statements and purposely vague statements as to his general wish for commercial relations between the Mother Country and Canada. I know Sir Wilfrid is in the throes of a general election. I do not know the circumstances in which he is speaking, except so far as regard the general election, and should like to see the text of these speeches before I comment too closely on the extracts which are furnished us through an unbiased channel, but there is a speech of Sir Wilfrid's bearing on these questions which I recommend you to cut out and take to your homes to preserve as the best possible statement of the situation in the relations of the British Empire in its various parts, which has ever been uttered by a British statesman. There are parties who hope to maintain the British Empire on the lines of restricted trade. (There were not many people when he said this of that kind; there is one very eminent one now.) If the British Empire is to be maintained it can only be by the most absolute freedom political and commercial. In building up this great Empire, to deviate from the principles of freedom would be by so much to weaken the ties, the bands which now hold it together. (Cheers.) These are wise words, and they should be written in letters of gold over every building which has to do with the Empire all over the world. (Renewed cheers.) But I quite admit that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, under pressure from Great Britain, has intimated his wish, his readiness rather, to enter into a commercial treaty with Great Britain. Well, I never doubted at any time if it were thought expedient and if it were possible that Great Britain could throw over her free trade policy that Canada would be willing to enter into a commercial treaty with Great Britain.

Press On Rosebury's Speech.

The Globe, in referring to Lord Rosebury's speech, says: "To count that the colonies do not want a conference is to imply a belief in the stupidity of those who read their newspapers."

The Pall Mall Gazette says there is no ground whatever for so unfavourable a picture as Lord Rosebury's elects to draw of the temper of the disposition of the British dominions beyond the seas.

The Westminster Gazette says: "Lord Rosebury is perfectly right in suggesting that if we begin with food we must go on to raw materials."

Commenting on Lord Rosebury's Trowbridge speech, The Glasgow Herald asks how are colonialists to be diverted from the Imperial notion of our feeding our population and throwing back upon that lofty and more fruitful conception exhibited in Rosebury's peroration. Is it possible to recall the colonies to the attitude of 1862, so succinctly expressed in the words of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and quoted by Lord Rosebury? The privileges which the colonies enjoy through their connection with us remains, for which we think they do not pay too high a price by any preference they give us. Surely it is high time for Liberal-Imperialists to be thinking out the means of breaking the necessity of preparing for through the hypothetical conference which is to demand a British preference.

A Serious Charge.

London, Nov. 1.—(C.A.P.)—A correspondent professing intimate knowledge has written The Glasgow Herald denying the statement in its editorial that Great Britain protects itself against a country where cattle disease doesn't exist. He mentions a series of experiments in different parts of Canada, where a strikingly large percentage of pure breeds might be imported for breeding purposes.

Useless and Even Injurious.

London, Nov. 1.—(C.A.P.)—Lord Ovebury, lecturing at the London Institution on fiscal policy, said Canada, New Zealand and South Africa, though giving Great Britain a preference by raising their duties against foreigners, showed no disposition to place the mother country manufacturers on an equality with their own. Unless they were prepared to do so he feared the conference would be useless and even injurious.

Four Per Cent. Dividend.

London, Nov. 1.—(C.A.P.)—A four per cent. dividend was declared at the meeting of the Yukon Pass Yukon Railway Company yesterday.

Lord Stanley Speaks.

London, Nov. 1.—(C.A.P.)—Replying to a protest by the retail trade against the introduction of the cash on delivery system into Great Britain on the ground that it would be disadvantageous against small shopkeepers, Lord Stanley, the Postmaster-General, said he did not intend to put it into operation in Great Britain, but thought he might be allowed to do what he could as regards the colonies and dependencies to promote trade. Unless they stopped it a great part of our trade was going to foreign countries. He hoped it would help to exchange commodities carried by post between Great Britain and the colonies.

Beth Armies Ready For Fray and Fighting Likely Begun.

Japanese Receive Reinforcements Estimated At From 40,000 to 60,000 Troops—Will Meet Kuropatkin On Equal Footing—Field Marshal Oyama's Confidence in Sufficiency of His Force Indicated By Events—At Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 1.—Everything indicates that both the Japanese and Russian armies south of Mukden are ready for a resumption of hostilities, if indeed fighting has not already begun. General Kuropatkin reports that the Japanese have received reinforcements from the south and Peking. Their conjunction seems to have been accomplished, and they are ready to resume the offensive both east and west of the railroad. There is no official estimate of the strength of the Japanese reinforcements, but correspondents place it at from 40,000 to 60,000. It is believed that the Japanese force has been largely augmented from both Port Arthur, where an engineering siege has been begun, and Japan, whence it is understood every available man is being drafted.

Meet On Equal Footing.

It seems to be assumed that the Japanese will be able to meet General Kuropatkin on an almost, if not quite, an equal numerical footing.

The mere fact that they are again threatening a double flanking movement indicates the sufficiency of the force at his disposal. It is believed here that the second battle of the Shalke River will prove to be as much bigger and more serious than the first, as the first was more serious than the battle of Liaoyang. General Kuropatkin is confronted by an exceedingly difficult problem. He is pitted against a Japanese force stronger, even despite its recent losses, than that first opposing his southern advance. If Kuropatkin now succeeds in checking even, or in breaking the Japanese formation, it will open large possibilities for the brief remainder of the present year's campaign. On the other hand, a Russian reverse now would render the position exceedingly critical.

Fighting On Russian Front.

Despatches indicate the resumption of fighting on both extremities of the Russian front. The night of October 30 the Japanese attacked the Russian entrenchments east of Sincinpu, but were repulsed, though the bombardment continued throughout the night. A Japanese advance has also been against the Russian positions at Tungshan, a mile and a half north of Bentaspuz, where they encountered a heavy Russian fire.

Thus it appears that the Japanese are becoming aggressive along the whole front from Bentaspuz to the extreme east to Sincinpu, which is west of the Shalke River, where that stream bends south after crossing the railroad. This probably constitutes the Russian front line, making the battle front somewhat the same as when General Kuropatkin began his southern movement.

Great Fight At Hand.

Mukden, Nov. 1.—The manifestations of the Japanese in their centre, which now converges at a point where the plain meets the hills, have attained the greatest importance. These manifestations are being fully met by the Russians so that the situation at this point of the prospective battlefield is now one of the greatest interest and apprehension. At the present moment the trenches on both sides are crowded with troops and at many places the Japanese and Russians are within hailing distance.

Sunday night there was the heaviest bombardment of the week from the Russian batteries, and the Russians are seemingly apprehensive of crucial surprise. This bombardment was accompanied by a continuous rifle fire, while the infantry advanced by means of quick entrenching at intervals of a few hundred feet under cover of darkness.

Aid From Port Arthur.

The outcome of this activity is a tense vigilance along the entire extended front. This tension, taken in connection with the reported reinforcement of the Japanese by one and one-half divisions from Port Arthur is likely to precipitate a great battle within a few days.

From their immediate bivouacs they calmly behold each other and are able to distinguish each others' entrenching gangs as they drop their tools when relieved. These observations are made from points of vantage immediately outside the range of artillery, which is intermittent in its practice against the principal eminences.

The Japanese shells are daily breaking on Pagoda Hill, which is most conspicuous in the Russian position, and in front of which the villagers remain in their houses, indicating that by some prearrangement with the Japanese their homes will not be shelled by the latter.

The Russian forces are disposed so as to meet the disposition of the Japanese armies.

The Latest Shrapnel.

Mukden, Nov. 1.—Two battalions returning Oct. 29 from the banks of the Shalke River came under fire from the Japanese 12-inch guns. One man was rendered deaf and dumb, and another was thrown into a ditch and buried alive. A number were killed.

Simultaneously with the attack on Sincinpu, on Oct. 30, the Japanese assaulted the position held by the Morshansk Regiment close by, but were repulsed.

All Eyes On Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 1.—The latest reports from Port Arthur are by no means encouraging. General Stoessel is making a good defence, but the Japanese are approaching now by parallels, confessedly close to important Russian fortifications. While this form of attack is less spectacular and less costly in men than repeated assaults, it is no less conclusive in its ultimate results, demanding a sleepless defence and being almost impossible to frustrate.

JAPS CREEP EVER CLOSER.

Place Fight Took Place Sunday About Estimated Port Arthur.

Che Foo, Nov. 1.—The general assault upon Port Arthur, which began in a preliminary way on Oct. 24, developed into a fiercely raging battle Sunday, when the Japanese flung heavy forces against the fortress in their third attempt to secure a commanding position. The result of Sunday's fighting is unknown.

The Japanese have been preparing for this assault for a month. It is believed that the Japanese did not expect to capture the town on this occasion, but to accomplish another important forward step. This plan was adopted following the first assault, when thousands of lives were sacrificed in an attempt to swarm over the fortification by a mere force of numbers, regardless of loss.

This assault, like the previous one, was a dramatic incident of weary weeks of trench digging, gun mounting and small engagements. In the opinion of experts, the assault will cease when the Japanese have secured such positions as will enable them to creep steadily closer under the noses of the Russian guns.

It is believed that two more general assaults will be necessary before the distance between the belligerent lines is sufficiently shortened to make an attempt to enter the main forts and make the end of the siege practicable.

The Japanese infantry are now using mechanical devices which enable them to throw grenades with great accuracy and rapidly. Except for the knowledge that the bombardment was continued all information covering the period between Oct. 27 and Oct. 29 is lacking, but presumably Japanese operations are gradually assuming the proportions of the general attack of Sunday. The fighting is reported to have been most severe from Rihlung Mountain down along the whole east side of the town.

A steamer which has just arrived here from Newchwang reports having seen heavy firing at Port Arthur Sunday night and yesterday, until she was out of gunshot, indicating a continuance of the battle which began on October 24 in a preliminary manner, and developed Sunday into the third attempt of the Japanese to secure a commanding position.

Lift Lock At Kirkfield.

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—Tenders are being called for a $200,000 lift lock at Kirkfield, on the Trent Canal. The location will be between Lake Simcoe and Balsam Lake, or about one hundred miles from the Peterboro' lift. The Kirkfield lock will be about ten feet shorter than the one at Peterboro', and the lift will be fifty-five feet, or ten less than at Peterboro'. The towers at Peterboro' are of concrete; at Kirkfield they will be of steel. The lock, as well as that portion of the canal it is located on, will be completed next autumn.

Sarnia Tunnel Ventilation.

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—Mr. Mountain, chief engineer of the Railway Commission, states that, before any railway is presented dealing with the matter of improvements in the ventilation of the Sarnia Tunnel, a visit will be paid to the tunnel of the Baltimore & Ohio Railway in Baltimore and the tunnels under the Hudson in New York. Mr. Mountain inclines to the belief that by using electric fans a repetition of the Sarnia Tunnel disaster would be prevented.

An Air Ship Test Here.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 1.—After circling in every direction at a height of 2,000 feet above the cascades, in sight of thousands of cheering enthusiastic spectators on the World's Fair grounds, A. Roy Kane, of Toledo, in command of the ship, S. Baldwin's airship, California Arrow, yesterday returned to the place from which he started, covering three and one-half miles, part way against an eight-mile wind.

Mr. Wm. John Morley.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—Yesterday at Toronto University, with Dr. Goldwin Smith as his sponsor, the Right Hon. John Morley had conferred upon him the degree of LL.D. Mr. Morley delivered an address in reply which will be a classic in the annals of the university. The distinguished Englishman also addressed here yesterday the Canadian Club, 600 of the members being present.
