And what did the druggist say when the tailor proposed to her? "She gave him a fitting answer; told him he was cut out, and that he needn't press his suit any further."

Indescribable Torture of Piles.
Mrs. George H. Baker, Grant, Kansas & Co. writes: "For sixteen years I suffered from itching, itching and protruding piles without relief. The torture I suffered at times was beyond description. A friend told me about Dr. Chase's Ointment. It brought relief at once and cured me permanently five years ago."

Protect the Lungs.
By using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Marshmallows and Licorice at the first indication of that irritating cough which the cold brings on you can prevent the cold from becoming a chronic cough or even pneumonia. It is a great relief and a sure cure.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S 25c. CATARRH CURE
This is the best medicine for the bladder, urethra, prostate gland, etc., etc., etc. It is a simple and safe remedy, and is sold by all druggists. Price, 25 cents.

What? cried the indignant poet, you give me legally fifty cents for that amount of mint? Do you think that's a fair deal?
"Well," replied the editor, there's more cents than poetry in it at any rate."

Worry, overwork, over-study and indigestion cause Insomnia. Healthy, natural sleep can't be produced by drugs. First, the blood circulation must be improved.

A Cure for Corns.
Corn Extractor. For fifty years Putnam's has been the one painless cure. There are pines and pines. The following from the New York Observer are admirable:
"I am not much of a mathematician," said the cigarette, "but I can add to a youth's nervous troubles, I subtract from his physical energy, I can multiply his aches and pains, I can divide his mental powers, I can take interest from his work, and discount his chances for success."

Strange Marriages.
Marriages are sometimes solemnized in strange places. In Christ church a wedding took place not a year ago in a church which was already partially demolished to make way for a new building. More recently still, a church in which a marriage was about to take place in England was burned down, and the women were still pouring water upon the smoking ruins when a wedding party made their way over the debris.

Mr. Sydney Holland, who has written over eighteen miles of letters on behalf of the London Hospital appeal, tells a good story of someone who was sent for hurriedly to see his father, who was in extremis in the London Hospital. When he arrived he was met at the door of the institution by his sister, who told him that the patient had just passed away. Very much distressed, he asked, "What was father's last words?" He had no last words," was the answer. "Mother was with him to the end."

A Tasty Recipe for the Women.

Pickled silver skinned onions, if carefully prepared says an exchange, make a very delicate and piquant relish, and are good to add to a salad in the winter months. Plunge the onions which should be very small and of uniform size, into very hot water for five minutes and rub off the skins with a clean cloth. Boil in salted, boiling water, ten minutes, then boil in milk ten minutes. Drain and rinse in cold water. Stand in brine twenty-four hours. Prepare a pickling vinegar, using the white wine vinegar, white sugar and a few mixed spices in bag. When scalding hot add the onions, which have been thoroughly rinsed in cold water. Stir constantly in the vinegar for five minutes.

Why Colds Are Dangerous.
Those who have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment should know, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Everyone knows that pneumonia and chronic catarrh have their origin in a cold. Consumption is not caused by a cold but the cold prepares the system for the infection and development of the germ that causes it.

Salt Water Fish.
With a view to increasing the consumption of salt water fish in the inland provinces of the Dominion, an order in council has been passed empowering the Government to defray one-third of the cost of express rates on shipments of fish to the west from the Maritime Provinces. This payment is in the nature of a subsidy to the part of the cost of the fishery industry of the east, and will also prove a great boon to the parts of the Dominion where there is at present great difficulty in getting any good supply of fresh sea fish.

Alcohol A Hindrance to Efficiency.
General Superintendent Murphy of the Pittsburg Street Railway Company, recently wrote a letter to the public press in which he made the following statement against alcohol as a hindrance to the mental and physical efficiency of railway men: In seventeen years' experience as a manager of public utility corporations, I have had occasion to promote many men from the ranks of conductors and motormen to positions of officers, and in no case has a man using alcohol come up to the requirements.

Why He Hates the Saloon.
The editor of the New York "National Advocate" of temperance says he had the privilege, on a Sunday in February, of preaching in the First Baptist church of Binghamton, N. Y., and at the close of the service a gentleman came to him, with tears filling his eyes, and asked the question: "Do you know, sir, why I am opposed to the saloon?" I told him that I would really like to know. He answered: "Out of my Sunday School class, during the many years I have taught it, seven young men have entered the ministry; but seventeen have been ruined by liquor. Do you wonder that I hate the saloon?" And then the preacher exclaimed: "Oh, my God! give every one of us increased zeal in our effort to abolish the accursed thing!—to which we are ready to say, Amen, and to remind the boys and men among our readers of this saying of King Solomon: 'Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; or, 'a braver' and whoever is deceived ('errett', or reckless) thereby is not wise.'"—Prov. xx. 1. Let it alone, and keep out of the saloon.

Gratitude.
Months ago I was conducting a great mission in Aberdeen, in the north of Scotland. Within the largest building in the city, three thousand were gathered. One night as I worked my way through the crowd, I felt a hand tugging at my coat. I thought it the plea of one who wanted to get in with me, and for a few seconds, I paid no heed. But the tug became insistent. I stopped, and there beside me stood a little Scotch lassie, clad in rags, and in her uplifted hands was something wrapped in tissue paper, moist and grimy from the clutch of her hand.

Salt Rheum on Hands

WINTER ECZEMA
It is well known that cold weather aggravates eczema, and with many cold weather has the same effect and they suffer from eczema or salt rheum on the hands and chapping and cracking of the skin.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment
Is also wonderfully successful as a cure for chapping, which for many people makes winter a season to be dreaded. By applying the ointment freely the chapped feeling and stinging is relieved almost immediately and its regular use prevents the return of this annoying trouble. 50 cents a box, at all dealers or Messrs. J. H. Anderson, Chapman, Westmoreland Co., N.B., writes:
"I often winter in my room with eczema on my hands and cracking of the skin, which was very painful. No treatment seemed to be of benefit until I used Dr. Chase's Ointment. It brought immediately relief, but the ointment, removed the skin and made a complete and lasting cure six years ago."

Kneller College (widely established) tell me that out of 180 of the young men he had induced no fewer than 140 of them to become total abstainers, and they are still every day, and more mentally active.—Selected.

Alcohol A Hindrance to Efficiency.
General Superintendent Murphy of the Pittsburg Street Railway Company, recently wrote a letter to the public press in which he made the following statement against alcohol as a hindrance to the mental and physical efficiency of railway men: In seventeen years' experience as a manager of public utility corporations, I have had occasion to promote many men from the ranks of conductors and motormen to positions of officers, and in no case has a man using alcohol come up to the requirements.

Why He Hates the Saloon.
The editor of the New York "National Advocate" of temperance says he had the privilege, on a Sunday in February, of preaching in the First Baptist church of Binghamton, N. Y., and at the close of the service a gentleman came to him, with tears filling his eyes, and asked the question: "Do you know, sir, why I am opposed to the saloon?" I told him that I would really like to know. He answered: "Out of my Sunday School class, during the many years I have taught it, seven young men have entered the ministry; but seventeen have been ruined by liquor. Do you wonder that
