The Forest.

—The use of sawdust in mortar is recommended as superior to hair for the prevention of cracking and subsequent peeling off of a rough casting under the action of storms and frost.

—It is stated that the sales of spruce gum in Maine aggregates each year over $40,000; collected partly by men who make it a business, but largely by lumbermen. This is a "timber product" that we fancy has not figured extensively in the reports, but it has been mighty active in the mouths of the girls.

—A tree that was eight hundred feet in length, ninety-six in circumference at the base, and sound to the very heart, was felled in California recently. Five men were twenty-two days in doing the work. After it had been completely severed by auger holes, it still stood unmoved, and required blocks, pulleys, and tackling to bring its proud head to earth.

—A hollow tree in South California has been converted into a dwelling. Doors and windows have been put in, and floors built for four stories, the entrance being made by means of a ladder. Outside the topmost room is a small balcony, shaded by the foliage of the tree. The occupant expects to get rich by having no plumber bills to pay.

—The manufacture of thread from wood for crochet and sewing purposes has, it is said, recently been commenced in Sweden. It is wound in balls by machinery, either by hand or steam, which with the labelling, takes one minute and twelve seconds, and the balls are packed up in cardboard boxes, generally ten in a box.

—In New York there are 41 different establishments devoted to the kindling wood trade alone. The largest of these concerns is C. W. Alcott & Co., who have a capital of $300,000 invested in their business, and employ in the busy season from 600 to 700 hands. They cut and prepare most of their wood in the forests of Virginia, employing in that department a force of from 500 to 600 men. Last year they handled 25,000 cords of wood. They are interested in seven vessels, and charter others in order to keep up the demand. Two steam engines of 60 horse power each, drive the machinery that is used for sawing and splitting.

A Farmer Commits Suicide by Cutting his Throat with a Scythe.

Train men from the north bring particulars of a horrible occurence at Belledune station, Restigouche County. Yesterday morning a farmer named William Carney went out to the barn to feed his cattle, where it appears he took up a scythe, cutting his throat in a frightful manner, literally severing the head from the body. His wife, a delicate woman, went to the barn a short time after to call him to breakfast, and putting out her hands while groping around in the partial darkness, she came in contact with the ghastly wound, her husband lying over against some hay where he had fallen. Life was then extinct. Temporary insanity has existed in the family and a brother of deceased committed suicide by hanging at Black Point some eight years ago. Deceased leaves a wife and six small children.

If You Don't Believe It, Ask Any German.

And he will convince you that St. Jacob's Oil is the most wonderful remedy that has ever been brought before the public. Rheumatism of many years standing has yielded immediately to its almost magical influence. As many have expressed it, its action is electrical, seeming to drive the pain before it until all discomfort leaves the body and the warm glow of health and comfort remains. It is a certain cure for neuralgia, giving immediate relief upon the first application, and curing, in a short time, the most inveterate cases.

Restored to Health and Strength.

From Hon. W. H. Jones, of Vermont.

"I have been tronbled from my boyhood with chronic or hereditary lung complaint. Some years since, early in the winter, I took cold, which continued to increase as the season advanced, although I made use of all the cough remedies I had knowledge of. My family physician also prescribed for me, but I experienced no relief. During all this time I was gradually running down, losing flesh and strength, until my friends as well as myself, became very much alarmed, thinking I should waste away in consumption. While in Boston during the spring following, I was induced to try WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. After one day's trial, I was sensible it was relieving me; in ten days time my cough had entirely ceased, and I was soon restored to health and strength. I have ever since kept the BALSAM in my house, and whenever any member of my family has a cough or cold, it is immediately resorted to. No family should be without it." 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Age of Enlightenment.

In an age of enlightenment like the present, the value of electricity, and of compounds containing an electric principle as remedial agents, widely appreciated. Foremost among the latter, both as regards the thoroughness and safety of its effects, and the rapidity of its action, is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, a widely popular external and internal remedy for coughs, colds core throat, asthma, croup, and other affections of the breathing organs; an invaluable outward specific for lame back, soreness and contraction of the muscles, and every variety of sore or hurt; a prompt source of relief for pain, and a medicine upon which the public can also implicity depend in cases of rheumatism, neuralgia, piles and kidney complaints, inflammatory affections, dysentery and many other ailments. Its persistent use eradicates the most obstinate of the disorders to which it is adapted. Physicians speak of it in the highest terms. Moreover, horsemen and stock raisers administer it with the greatest success for diseases and hurts of horses and cattle. Sold by all medicine dealers.
