The Evening Chit-Chat

A Few Leaves From the Diary of a Stomach.

10 A.M. Oh, dear, another hot day. Wonder if I'll be abused as I was yesterday. If I am, I'm going to strike. Just disposed of a half-chewed breakfast. We ran for the train, which meant that I was so jiggled about and so tired that it took me twice as long to do my work. Hope she gives me an hour or two of complete rest before anything more comes my way.

10.30 A.M. Two glasses of ice water have just arrived. It will take all the energy I can pump up in the next hour to warm me up to normal again.

12 M. Peanuts have dribbled along steadily ever since last entry. Think she has finished them, though.

12.30. Decided she wasn't very hungry, and instead of a good solid dinner sent me down a cold egg nog, heavy with chocolate. Could have managed it all right if it hadn't been so cold, but that makes it terribly hard to deal with.

1.10 P.M. More ice water?

1.40 P.M. Was mistaken about the peanuts. She found another handful in the bottom of the bag, and now I have time to tend to.

2.05 P.M. More ice water!

3.10 P.M. She has been lifting some heavy books, and, as usual, used my muscles instead of her arms muscles, as she should have done. Tired me more than digesting a six-course dinner.

3.20 P.M. Some one has brought us a box of caramels and she has started on that.

4.30 P.M. Have received something like half a pound of caramels since last entry. She just said, "Oh, dear, I don't feel a bit well. I know the milk in that egg nog must have been sour."

4.50 P.M. We were invited out to have a soda before going home. Had a lemon phosphate and then ran for the train.

6.30 P.M. We played a set of tennis before dinner, and here I am all tired out and a dinner to handle.

7 P.M. Fried potatoes, green corn, veal and blueberries. What do you know about that!!!

7.45 We are going down town for a chocolate walnut college ice!!!

8.20 Got home and found some one had made some lemonade. She drank two glasses. That on top of the college ice and lemonade.

8.30 Have sent back the college ice and lemonade.

8.40 Returned the blueberries.

8.50 And the veal.

9.10 P.M. She has sent for the doctor. Says that the college ice must have had something the matter with it. Her mother says it is probably the weak stomach she inherited from her father.

9.30 P.M. Doctor says it's just a little upset, due to the hot weather. Good-night!!!!

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of women's diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indecent. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.

It Makes Weak Women Strong, Sick Women Well.

You can't afford to accept a secret treatment as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

Though steam heat is cleaner generally than a furnace, it will soil the curtains and walls much more, especially if the radiators are placed close to the wall or under the windows.

Browned flour makes delicious brown gravies. Put it in a pie plate and set on top of the stove, or in a very hot oven. When it begins to brown it should be constantly stirred until brown all through.

If a few beans, either lima or string, have been left over, make them into a salad, add a few chopped olives, a few capers, and some Spanish red pepper. French dressing is preferable to mayonnaise.

In ironing the plait of the back of a shirtwaist on which tiny buttons are sewed, try laying it on a flannel or heavy Turkish towel, as you do your embroidery. The buttons sink in as the material is ironed.

When beating white of egg for sponge cake, when it becomes dry and light, test its stiffness by turning the dish containing it upside down. If it is beaten to the proper point, not a particle will become detached.

A teaspoonful of warm olive oil or camphorated oil poured into the ear, and held there for a few minutes, will destroy a bug in the ear, and it will then easily pour out, bringing with it the dead insect.

A wire basket, known as a salad shaker or drainer, should be used to dry greens after they have been thoroughly washed. Leaves of lettuce often hold water after they have been thoroughly shaken. If they are not fully dry they will not hold dressing well.

A delicious little appetizer for the supper table consists of large queen olives, cut in half, and with the stones replaced with cavare paste. One is served to each person, on a lettuce leaf, garnished with narrow sections of lemon.

Dried wormwood, which may be had at the drugstore, is an excellent protection against moths when putting winter clothing away. It should be scattered lavishly between the folds and each article wrapped separately in a newspaper before packing.

A kitchen bouquet for flavoring soups can easily be made. Take a few sprigs of parsley and wrap them around peppercorns, whole cloves, a bay leaf and other herbs that are at hand. Tie up tightly. This can be removed from the soup without trouble.

To remove wall paper, take warm water that is softened with borax or ammonia and apply with a sponge. The paper will soon become soaked and blistered and may be easily stripped off. It is well to do this a day or so before the new paper is put on.

For whitening boards or cleaning marble, take half a pound each of soda, powdered chalk and powdered pumice stone, stir together in a small quantity of water and then add half a pound of soft soap. Mix it as a paste and apply with a scrubbing brush.

Pea or bean flour found at the grocer's may be used for a quick vegetable soup. Half a cupful of the flour, three pints of boiling water, a tablespoonful of beef juice, a small onion and two or three slices of bacon, cut into tiny cubes, is an easy recipe.

Goose Cove Notes.

Not for many years has there been such a poor fishery at this place. Traps average about 15 qts and very little has been done with the hand line owing to the scarcity of bait.

The Cove Copper Mines, Ltd., have their pier and tramway completed and is a splendid piece of work; a credit to the company and the architect.

The new R. C. school, started here in June, is now thoroughly finished and painted to perfection. It is a beautiful structure and a credit to the Board. Mr. D. Sullivan, the architect, deserves the highest praise for performing such a satisfactory piece of work in a very short time.

Rev. G. A. Thibault, C.C., Concho, arrived here yesterday by the Prospero on a visit.

A young man named Elihu Patey, of St. Anthony, has gone astray in the woods and cannot be located, though search parties are on the alert these two days.

Consumption is doing its work here and this week has taken two of our small population, Mr. R. Young and Mrs. S. R. Newell being the victims. To their sorrowing friends the writer extends sincere sympathy. X. Goose Cove, Aug. 29, '10.

Note of Thanks.

A King Who Washed Dishes.

A sailor King in every sense of the term is King Haakon of Norway, who recently celebrated his thirty-eighth birthday, for he served a severe marine apprenticeship in his youth. In the Danish navy cadets during the first period of their service have the same work, rations and quarters as ordinary seamen. So the King, during his first nine months on the Danish training ship "Dronning Louise," had to take his turn in waiting on his messmates and in washing up the dishes after meals. This rough training has proved a valuable asset in his government of a democratic race, and King Haakon has been popular with his people from the first days of his reign.

New Markets for Our Fish.

Voltaire's immortal joke about England: "A country with ninety-nine religions and one fish sauce, melted butter," could be paralleled in our own beautiful Capital. The annual resort of an ever-increasing stream of visitors, with a dozen churches and not one solitary first class hotel or a market. An old Scotch minister described the Presbyterian body in St. John's as "Two Kerks and half a congregation." In all our ways we are an insular people. We stand upon our old ways and cannot see the changes that are taking place all around us. Some time ago I wrote two articles for the Manitoba Free Press on the Hudson's Bay route. These papers of mine were copied and commented on by the Canadian Press, but no local paper would publish them here. This new idea of a great ocean route is generally looked upon in Newfoundland as a wild visionary idea, utterly impracticable and absurd. I may tell my readers that the railway contract for the new route has been given to the great contractors, McKenzie and Mann; and twenty-five million dollars appropriated to carry it out. Sir Wilfred Laurier told the people of the North-West that his Government were pledged to the new line, and would carry it out and provide all the required transport. This will open up a very large market for our fish. If the wheat and cattle can come out, fish can come in. Very few can have any idea of what the great West means. I noticed when I was out there that every farmer bought dried cod. It was the poorest stuff I ever saw, but it was bought, and there is an immense demand. This season the new England papers admit that their fish supply is very short and that they will be unable to furnish the immense requirements from the Western States. In consequence the price has gone up. I may be considered a visionary, but I firmly believe in the Hudson's Bay route, and that when it is opened it will give us a new market for our produce. In this view we should prepare for it. Have our own representative to go over the ground and study the whole situation and its possibilities.

I know, as Sydney Smith said of Reform, that it requires a surgical operation to get a new idea into Newfoundlanders, but I have delivered my soul and the fish dealers must do the rest.
