A Pleasant Social Gathering.

The usual monthly "at home" of the Epworth League of the Colborne Street Methodist Church, held in the lecture hall of that church, was a decided success. Judging from the well filled hall this organization must not only have a large membership but a large number of friends and patrons. The programme was a musical treat and one of the best prepared by the entertainment department of the league. The programme consisted of a number of interesting selections as follows: Organ solo, Mr. Charles Manness; song, Miss Garner; harmonica solo, Miss Lulu Smith, accompanied by the Epworth League Harmonica Band; solo, Mr. James Jury; trio (flute, violin and organ), Messrs. Penn, son., George Winterbottom and E. J. Forsyth; instrumental selection, Miss M. Fortner; recitations, Mrs. Barker, of Cobourg; selection, Epworth League Harmonica Band, accompanied by Miss L. Jury, Mr. E. Forsyth and Mr. C. Manness. A principle strongly emphasized by quite a number identified with this organization is the abolition of all contributions towards social gatherings except in the form of voluntary offerings. The report of the treasurer as presented showed a very creditable balance on hand.

THE TRIGGER.

A Clarence street hotel-keeper together with a couple of city sports went out for a day's shooting one day last week. While the trio were sitting down to rest on a log, a sparrow flew up from among the brush. The sports followed in hot pursuit, forgetting that they had left their lunch on the log. The hounds were missed, when one of the number suddenly thought of the lunch basket. The party retraced their steps to the log only to find that the basket had been relieved of its chicken, ham sandwiches and other edibles. The party returned home at a late hour without any game, hungry and footsore. The dogs. THE TRIGGER. game, hungry and footsore. The dogs, however, looked well-fed and happy.
