Cyril Thomas of London sang very acceptably at the evening service on Sunday.

Mr. S. D. Lent, a railroad man, was an inveterate smoker for 30 years. He used the strongest tobacco obtainable. After trying he says he would light a pipe and keep it hot for the rest of the day, with the exception of meal times. Often he would get up in the middle of the night. The habit was doing him great injury. He got a certain book, the information in which he followed, and thereby freed himself from the habit quickly and easily. Anyone who uses cigars, cigarettes, pipe, snuff, or chewing tobacco, excessively and who knows the injury being done through nervousness, heart weakness, kidney disorder, eye weakness, impaired memory, loss of vitality, etc., should write to Edward J. Woods, 649 L. Station B, New York City, who will send the very interesting free book that will be sent promptly upon application.

BERLIN CLAIMS BIG VICTORY IN WEST

Says Trench After Trench Has Been Taken on a 1,500-Yard Front.

PARIS ADMITS BATTLE

Says Enemy Has Gained Foot-hold in Lines Previous-ly Lost.

LONDON, July 5.—Berlin claims important successes on the western front where, in the forest of LePretre, the German forces are reported to have compelled the obstinately-resisting French to evacuate trench after trench over a 1,500-yard front, taking a thousand prisoners, including a battalion staff and a number of guns.

The Paris version of this claim is that after an extremely heavy bombardment the Germans succeeded along a front of one kilometre in regaining a foothold in the old lines which had been taken by the French. Both sides report sanguinary but fruitless attacks at other points along the western line.

The following official communication was issued by the French war office tonight:

"There has been relative calm along the whole front, without infantry action. There is nothing to report except artillery activities on the part of the enemy at certain points between the Meuse and the Moselle. The region of the forest of LePretre has suffered particularly very violent bombardment with big shells."

WHAT BERLIN SAYS.

The official statement issued by German army headquarters and received in London, is as follows:

"A British attack north of Ypres on the road to Pilkem and a French attack against Soches were repulsed in a sanguinary engagement."

"On both sides of the Cour Des Carmes, on the west border of the forest of LePretre, our troops yesterday morning stormed a hostile position on a front of some 1,500 metres. With heavy losses the French troops, resisting obstinately, were obliged to evacuate trench after trench. We captured about 1,000 unarmoured French, among them the staff of a battalion, two field guns, four machine guns and three light and four heavy machine guns and three light and four heavy machine guns and three light and four heavy machine guns."

"A simultaneous attack on a French blockhouse position south of Norroy, on the Moselle, was successful. The blockhouse was blown up, with the occupants and defences, which had been constructed therein. The place was then, according to our plan, evacuated by us."

"In the aerial fighting our airmen have again proved their superiority. North-west of Manonville, two French aeroplanes were forced to descend. The day before yesterday the German airmen successfully repulsed three adversaries."

"During the aerial attack on Bruges (Belgium), reported yesterday, bombs were dropped near the most valuable monuments of the town."

HOLT PROMISES TO TELL LIFE STORY

Will Open Past to Court—Denies He Is Erich Muentner.

GLEN COVE, L. I., N. Y., July 5.—Frank Holt, the University of Cornell professor, who shot J. P. Morgan, today declared that he is not the man who shot J. P. Morgan.

Holt made this declaration to a reporter. Dr. Cleghorn, the jail physician, said, "I am not a doctor, but I am a man of science. I am not a doctor, but I am a man of science. I am not a doctor, but I am a man of science."

TURKS ORDERED SHOT IF TRENCHES ARE ABANDONED

LONDON, July 5.—The official press bureau statement conveying the report of Sir Ian Hamilton on the operations in the Dardanelles contains the following extract from captured Turkish documents:

"There is nothing that causes us more sorrow, increases the courage of the enemy and encourages him to attack more freely, causing us great losses, than the leaving of these trenches. Henceforth commanders who surrender these trenches, from whatever side the attack may come, before the last man is killed, will be punished in the same way as if they had fled."

It is hoped this will not occur again. I give notice that if it does occur the courage of our men by those who shoot at the enemy, avoid the rifle and machine gun fire of the enemy. Henceforth I shall hold responsible all officers who do not shoot with their revolvers all privates who try to escape from the trenches on any pretext.

(Signed) "Commander of the Division."

RUSSIANS NOW MAKE STAND AGAINST FOE FROM GALICIA

Offer Desperate Resistance in Southern Poland, While Guarding Warsaw Strongly—Ready to Accept Battle Under Favorable Conditions.

LONDON, July 5.—3:25 a.m.—Reading between the lines of the official reports, it is not difficult to deduce that the Russians are making a desperate stand between the Rivers Pruth and Dniester. Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian forces, reports that the fighting in southern Poland is one of the most desperate character, with Vienna admits that the Russians are attacking in strong force. Austro-German sources, however, declare this effort to be a forlorn hope.

General Von Lindenberg's Teutonic army, after a fortnight of terrific struggles, is reported by both Vienna and Berlin to have reached the whole front of Zlota Lipa River in eastern Galicia.

Petrograd Optimistic.

The Petrograd correspondents of the London morning papers are optimistic regarding the situation on the fighting front. The correspondent of the Morning Post says:

"It was only on Friday that the Russians began offering real resistance to the Germans' forward movement northward from Galicia. The whole area which Russia will hold as a Brodningian redoubt against the encircling Germanic forces centres on the Warsaw system of fortifications. The outer works are of such vast extent, having a diameter of nearly one hundred miles, that the Germans have before them the hardest task yet met in the war."

"After Thursday next nobody will be allowed to enter or leave Warsaw without a special pass. Similar measures of military preparation are being taken along other important points in this vast area."

No Fear for Warsaw.

The Petrograd correspondent of the Times says:

"No apprehension is entertained as to the fate of Warsaw in the struggle for the city bids fair to be protected. Even if the Germans should reach Ivangorod, this would not necessarily involve the surrender of Warsaw."

"The Russian waiting game, in fact, has been justified. The critic of Novoe Vremya explains the withdrawal of the Turkish authorities at Constantinople as follows:

"The Turkish authorities at Constantinople announce that the death of Col. Zepis, military attaché of the German embassy at Constantinople, who was found dead in his apartments recently, is attributed to suicide, according to the Athens correspondent of Reuters Telegram Company."

GERMAN ADMIRAL WARNS COUNTRY TO BEWARE OF U.S.

Shows Possibility of Danger From Submarine Warfare—Sympathy With Britain.

[Canadian Press.]

BERLIN, July 5.—(Via London)—Admiral Oskar von Truppiel, at one time governor of Kiaochow, the German concession in the Chinese province of Shantung, captured in November by the Japanese, contributes in an article today to Der Tag warning his compatriots not to underestimate the danger of a breach with the United States and asking them to weigh seriously the question whether the value of Germany's submarine warfare against British commerce is great enough to justify the expense of a rupture with the transatlantic nation.

The article is remarkable not only for the open statement regarding the participation of America in the hostilities might exercise on the future course of the war, but also for the great unpopularity of Germany—also as a consequence from a naval officer.

A Change in Tone.

All the naval publicists of Germany hitherto heard from have been devoting their energies to accelerating public opinion against any modification of the submarine campaign, and endeavoring to prevent or to limit concessions to American demands to Washington.

The campaign between the advocates and the opponents of a compromise still is intense, and delivery of the note which a few days ago was scheduled for Monday or Tuesday will probably be delayed several days.

Effect of Rupture.

"A German-American war, or even a rupture of diplomatic relations, the effect of which would virtually be as great, would injure German prospects more seriously than many believe. Although America at first would be able to contribute little to the military strength of the Entente Allies, except by an acceleration of the munitions supply, it could in time co-operate with considerable land and sea forces and with first-class submarines and aeroplanes in the complete isolation of Germany. It also could exercise such pressure upon the few remaining neutral countries that these would probably be arrayed actively or passively in the ranks of our enemies."

Admiral Von Truppiel discounts the stories of earlier existing agreements with Great Britain against Germany, explaining that this is most improbable owing to American diplomatic traditions.

Majority With Entente.

"But it is undeniable," he says, "in spite of President Wilson's unquestionable desire to reach a peaceful solution of the problems, that the sympathies of a majority of the Americans are on the side of England and that only a spark might be necessary under certain conditions to kindle these feelings into a hostile outbreak."

"If the answer is in the negative, our submarines can find better employment against hostile shipping, particularly in the hunting-grounds of the Mediterranean, the Dardanelles and against merchantmen in that case could be modified or abandoned to obtain a more favorable neutrality from and the friendship of America, which would be of great value to Germany after the war."

"If the answer is in the affirmative, then the law of self-preservation would justify us in the situation which England had forced upon us in using to the fullest extent our superiority in submarines, and we can calmly accept all the consequences of it."

The Krueselung in its weekly review, says that limitation upon submarine operations would cause wide-spread and deep agitation among the German people. "It is probable, however, the newspaper adds, in the forthcoming note to America a form will be found, which will offer a prospect of settling the questions, so far as passengers are concerned."

FOUND DEAD BY WIFE BY THE RAILWAY TRACKS

Welland Man Caught in Rails By His Heel and Killed.

WELLAND, July 5.—William J. Farr was struck and killed by a train on the Michigan Central Railway here late Saturday night. The body was found alongside the tracks by his wife yesterday morning.

It is believed that his heel caught between the rail and the crossing plank and he was unable to get out of the way. The heel was torn off the foot and his left foot, which was cut off. Deceased was 47 years old and leaves a large family.

Try This! Doubles Beauty of Your Hair and Stops It Falling Out.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes, but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

CONSCRIPTION NOT CONTEMPLATED IN REGISTRATION BILL

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, July 5.—10:30 p.m.—The national registry bill encountered opposition in the House of Commons tonight when Sir Thomas Wilson, Liberal member for one of the Yorkshire divisions, opposed its provisions, asserting that the passage of the bill in its present form would split the country.

The member also declared his distrust in the present Coalition Government, saying that he knew that the man who had destroyed the policy of the present Government, Sir Thomas Wilson, was now in the House, and Sir Thomas Wilson's question: "Can we hope, so far as we are able to foresee, to force England to its knees through submarine warfare against her commerce?"

"If the answer is in the negative, our submarines can find better employment against hostile shipping, particularly in the hunting-grounds of the Mediterranean, the Dardanelles and against merchantmen in that case could be modified or abandoned to obtain a more favorable neutrality from and the friendship of America, which would be of great value to Germany after the war."

If it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes, but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.
