Teas Let Down With Nine Bingles—Curry Has Finger Split.

BAY CITY, Aug. 23.—The Bay City Wolves evened the series Tuesday by pounding Deloitte's offerings to all corners and winning as they pleased, 12 to 2. Hegedorn with a home run, triple and single, and Kelly with three doubles and a single, and Whaley with a double and a single, led the attack. Altogether the Wolves amassed nineteen hits, good for 28 bases and in only one inning, the second, they failed to hit safely at least once. Boothby, was master of the situation at all times, although found for nine safe blows, five of which were bunched in the two innings in which London scored.

The Wolves grabbed a one-run lead in the first inning on Kelly's single, a sacrifice, a wild pitch and an infield out, and after that were never headed. They added two more in the fourth on three singles and a double, and in the fifth on a triple, single, double and a sacrifice fly. Two singles in the sixth netted them nothing, but in the seventh they again got on Deloitte for two markers, made on Stutz's second error, a sacrifice, two singles and a double. In the eighth the Wolves hit, caught at second, a double, a double, Hegedorn's homer, that went under the fence, a base on balls and a sacrifice, netting five runs.

Curry scored first in the fifth when he was safe on a fielder's choice on which Vandyke, who had singled, was caught at second, and Deloitte's triple. The other run was scored in the sixth on Schaefer's triple and Malmgren's single through the box.

Tinlin, secured to umpire in the absence of regular league officials, was in continual trouble with both teams, in continuing to pick up another catcher, as Curry received a split finger from a foul tip, his injury coming on top of the injury to Briggs Sunday.

WILSON'S "The National Smoke"

Still the most for the money 10c. ANDREW WILSON & CO. TORONTO AND MONTREAL. BY BUD FISHER

JUST BETWEEN US

(BY SEE S. GEE)

Tomorrow is the day on which the M-O. magnates are scheduled to meet at Bay City. It is believed that the object of the meeting is more or less to legalize the famous Sunday meeting.

Maines agreed with the action the directors took with regard to a sinking fund for the league, but of course balked when it came to the summary dismissal of his favorite umpire, Delave.

Harmony is not likely to be the keynote of the affair, and as a matter of fact there is likely to be quite a long line of linen hanging out in the backyard when the session is through.

Feeling against London in Kitchener and Hamilton runs strong, flooded and saturated as the two cities have been by Maines' propaganda.

The London Club have had no dealings with the Hamilton Club, but have been ready to help out the Beavers, so in the latter case it's a case of biting the hand that tries to help them.

However, that's the way of the world and especially baseball. Even the injection of the few haphazard rules which govern honorable business dealings would do the Mint League an immense amount of good.

The Boston Red Sox, who come here on Tuesday next to meet the London Champs and at present near-champs again, will probably find the welcome they'll receive in London a pleasant change from the receptions they get when playing on the other side.

Boston fans have boycotted the Red Sox because of a difference in prices at the American and National League Parks, claiming that the former affect too much. However, that doesn't affect their playing, and the Red Sox are a justly feared aggregation around the city circuit.

However, it isn't so much the Red Sox as the fact that Clarke Pittenger and Ernie Neitzke, members of the London championship team of 1920, will both but hurt to the batting cages, but Pitt has been in a good many games and has made a home for himself with the Sox. Pitt had little to learn about fielding, but his batting was rather weak when he struck the Sox camp.

That will be the greatest change the fans will see in Pitt's batting. He was made over into an entirely new batsman by himself instead of letting them stand entirely on their own feet from the time they break in.

Pittenger very nearly became a volunteer minor leaguer again last spring. He went out one day and made five wobbly bunts in succession.

Pitt went back to the hotel and packed his grip. He was on his way to Toledo when Neitzke and some of the veteran members of the club got him and talked him out of the miscue blues.

Last night the final game in the junior soccer league was played at St. Thomas, but regardless of its outcome, the Rovers of St. Thomas closed the season as champions of the circuit, having won both series and the Brisco Cup.

They had a runaway of the circuit, having won both series and the Brisco Cup. The league started out the season with six teams, but the Grand Trunks dropped out for the second series.

It marked the first attempt locally to organize junior soccer and met with an enthusiastic response. It is probable that an eight-team league will be in existence, and if other places affiliate with the O. F. A., challenge cup games will be a feature of the season.

Lambton County had a junior soccer organization this year also, but were not affiliated with the O. F. A. It is possible, however, that an exhibition between the Rovers and the Sarnia Wanderers, champions of Lambton, may be arranged later on.

The Rovers have not yet been presented with their cup, but the league will arrange an exhibition fixture for St. Thomas either next week or the week following, and the presentation will be made.

Now that Alberta has come forth with an out and out professional hockey league, the "amateur out of the West," who was a distinctive character of amateur hockey, will lose individuality. It won't mean much of a change to hockey in Alberta, but it will probably ease consciences which have been under a strain for years.

Although everybody has handed them the pennant, the Pirates themselves are not spending any of the series money yet. With 38 games more to play, the Pirates only have to win 25, while the Giants would have to win 32 out of 35 games.

Nothing short of a freak wave can damage the Buccaneer craft. President Maines is said to have stated that in case of a rumpus with London he would come out on top. In case of a rumpus? He's a regular tank for punishment if he hasn't awakened to the fact that he was the central figure of a very lively rumpus right in London town a few weeks ago.

Maines probably believes it was cheers he heard as he left the door that night.

WITH THE BOWLERS FROM THE "AULD," OLD AND OLD SOD

The next few days will have few breathing spaces for the British bowlers. A sight-seeing trip this morning, for which a start is scheduled from the Tecumseh House at 9:15, and which will take in all the points of interest in the city, is the first thing on the program. In the afternoon they will play seven games, with Bowls outside towns, one each representing Strathroy, Exeter, Sarnia, Petrolia, Glencoe, St. Thomas and Aylmer.

In the morning Capt. Jagger will probably elect himself and one other to skip Scotch rink against two quartets chosen by the St. Andrew's Society, piloted by R. H. Mercer and A. McCulloch.

Tomorrow they visit Woodstock and then Friday morning they play a test match at the Elmwood green for the local diamond.

Thistles and L. R. C. The skips are: L. R. C.—Billy Hynds and Jimmie McDougall. Thistles—C. K. Bluet and A. A. Langford. Elmwoods—C. Speiran and O. Gidley.

This will be one stage of the proceedings where friendship ceases and where the Britishers will have to put forth their best efforts to win. The London rinks are the best the city can muster and there'll be no alibi ready-made.

Friday the Thistles are the hosts of the visitors, five Thistle and two Elmwood rinks being represented on this last appearance of the visitors.

The British ladies and the bowlers will be entertained by the ladies of the Elmwood Club this afternoon at the tea intermission.

Stateness is the great drawback to these extended tours. However, the Britishers seem to thrive on the daily grind despite the fact that some of the party participated in the international events just before they sailed for Canada.

Anyone that imagines the British party as one solid unit is making a grand mistake. Let us take the racial differences of the Scots, Welsh, Irish and English. The game of the county and shire characteristics are as sharply drawn. But here again good old British sport steps in and wipes out the divisions.

England Wins. In a single match rolled at the London Rowing Club greens yesterday morning, George Wright for England defeated George McChery, Glasgow, Scotland, 18-15.

The two fought a close even battle all the way to the last end, when Wright carried the jack into the ditch and won the game.

A big gallery watched the play of two of the best bowlers in the British party. The faction support of the Britishers in the gallery even extended to the Canadian spectators, who dug up grandparents that were born either north or south of the Tyne.
