Middleton and Margaretville Railway. in town on Monday, informs us that Mr. seated, according to his time-honored cusbranch line from the former place

Margaretville. That a feasible line will be found goes without saying to anyone who is acquainted with the country lying between tiese points, and as the Dountinon subsidy granted to the N. S. C. R., covers a milage extending to within two or three miles of the Bay of Fandy, there seemed to be no good reason why this extension should not be at once begun and carried forward to completion. As the complement of its completion, however, a work of some magnitude would become necessary in the pubnic interest. We refer to the creation of extended shipping facilities at the port Margaretville, in the shape of harbor Anguertville, in the shape of
