The banks say that they cannot afford to raise the rate, although the rates they are charging have been raised a great deal recently. They are getting much more; but they tell us that they cannot give more.

Very well. Why should not the their own citizens, and give them at least a better rate than the banks' three per cent? Of course, the citizens would have to withdraw this money from the banks in order to lend it to not increase the volume of money. It would lessen the power of the banks to lend-or it might have the effect of inducing our Canadian banks to bring home some of the money the are so kindly lending to foreigners. Put it would at all events do two things; it would give the municipalities money which they actually need to go on with, and it, would give their citizens a fairer share in the profits of the "dear money period" through which we are passing. The loans might be made for short terms so as to enable the municipalities to redeem them when the cheaper money comes .- Montreal Star.

And yet every day many young peo ple visit the slums of the great cities In such a case, it is doubtful and apparently with the implied con whether most municipalities might sent of their rarents. How many chilprofessional financiers "go hang." alas, feast on the sensational details furnished by yellow journalism-withtowns and cities and country districts out conscience, without even a sense of decency! And yet even Christian parents seem to be indifferent-to stand idly by while the souls of their children are tainted. What is the reading of many of these papers but a daily visit to the lums? What is it but inhabituating pure souls to the vision of vice? Many who complacently read the sensat onmunicipalities borrow directly from al papers would shrink from actual contact with persons and incidents so vividly portrayed in the columns of the press. But the influence of this daily contact with sin and vice cannot but be seriously injurious. It fills the the municipality. Such a policy would mind with images and notions that should be strangers to the heart of innocent childhood. It excites a prurient curiosity which it is difficult to alloy. It familiarizes the soul with vice and thus takes away the horror graces of youth. It opens up a pathway into the domain of vice and al ready exercises a certain sway over the faculties. It gradually robs th soul of innocence and substitutes precocious knowledge which is a prelude of many temptations. It pro duces a thirst for sensations which drains away the calm and peace of the soul. It unfits the mind for serious study, distorts the sense of trutl and begets a habit tof exaggeration detrimental in after life. It often begets habits of secret sin.
