

Live Issues For Living Men.

A vote cast for a true principle was never lost, and never will be.
To the ballot-box to save thy son!
Vote for home everywhere as against the saloon anywhere.
No true manhood can rule the State when rum has licensed freedom.
To protect the home and the Sabbath are the two great issues of the hour.

The rum traffic is the robber that robs labor.

In the whole English language I can find no word that strikes more terror to my soul than the one word RUM.—T. V. POWDERLY, GRAND MASTER WORKMAN K. OF L.

My liberty ends when it begins to involve the possibility of ruin to my neighbor.—JOHN STUART MILLS.

Close the saloon and anarchism would die.

It is patriotism to crowd the ballot with righteous convictions.

Where right is, there should every patriot stand.

Shall we coax the liquor traffic, or crush it?

To re-adjust your vote along the anti-saloon line is the duty-call of the hour.

Show us whom and what the saloon-keepers want, and we will show you whom and what we don't want.

Make the ballot-box a great central depot for the union of votes consecrated to God, home, and country.

The want of this age is MEN ; MEN who are true to the principles they advocate ; MEN who know the right and dare maintain it ; MEN who are thoroughly in earnest ; MEN who will vote their principles at the ballot-box. It is the right and duty of the State to protect and promote the general welfare of the people, and to suppress vice and immorality.—a work which cannot be accomplished by legalizing the liquor traffic. Our political institutions, to be permanent, must be based upon the virtuous and sober intelligence of the people. Place the ballot-box in the hands of the drunkard and the drunkard-maker, and the hope of self-government is gone forever. Therefore,

VOTE PROHIBITION.
