

having no less than two hundred thousand Canadians he should still hope to hear "God Save the Queen" occasionally, to remind him of the land of his birth. Dr. MacTaggart responded for the Montreal General Hospital and Dr. Archibald for the Royal Victoria.

Our Profession—was ably proposed by Dr. Grant Stewart—who gave it as his opinion that a meeting such as the present evening afforded could only be productive of good. In looking over the work done since the days of Harvey and other early investigators, down to the men of the present day, he felt that every man should be proud of belonging to the Medical Profession. The doctor congratulated Dr. Church, the Hon. Treasurer, on whom had fallen the work organising the evening's entertainment, upon its entire success. The speaker closed by reading an extract from the address on Medicine delivered by Dr. Wm. Osler during the meeting of the British Medical Association in Montreal, in which he set forth the great height attained by the profession in the different fields of scientific research, ending with the statement, that one might well feel proud at the exalted place the Medical Profession had attained in the scientific world of the day.

"The Ladies" proposed of Dr. Nicholls in a very pleasing manner was received with well merited applause.

During the evening a musical and literary programme was presented by Drs. Fry, Scane, R. Mackenzie, H. D. Hamilton, H. M. Church, T. P. Shaw and Lauterman.
