WORLD'S CHAMPIONS BEATEN BY LEAFS

Clymer's Crew Hit Ball at Right Time and Won Handily.

George Stallings brought a good per-centage of his world champion Boston Braves to do battle with the Leafs at the Island yesterday. Otto Hess was elected to do the flinging for the cele-brated visitors and the Leafs got the jump on him early and breezed home to 1. While it was not the best game on

While it was not the best game on record it had enough sparkling plays and solid hitting to make it interesting thruout. Dick Rudolph, Eddie Fitzpatrick, Ted Cather and Fred Mitchell, all former Leafs, made their appearance and were accorded a nice reception.

Perhaps the most interesting feature to the fans was that Rabbit Maranville was played thruout the whole game. He is worth the admission price any time he starts. Maranville is the most polished of finished shortstops. Luque, late of Boston, pitched the game for the locals and it was his fine work that recorded the victory. Four scattered hits were the result of the Braves' afternoon and it was a sterling performance. Hess was touched up at the right time and was never very much of a puzzle. Three double plays cut off runs at other times.

A single, a double and two errors scord three for the Leafs in the second.
An error let in another in the fourth, and a walk and two hits were what scored the last one in the seventh. A double and an error scored Boston's only

NOTES OF THE GAME.

If the title were decided on one game and that was yesterday's incident at the island James J. McCaffery would now own the champions of the world. Except in that case Stallings might have used another battery or two.

The Toronto Ball Club was favored by splendid weather for their big attraction, and the crowd, the not the largest on record, was a splendid one of critical fans that included His Worship Mayor Church, Sir Alan Aylesworth and other notables in the directors' box.

The Toronto Baseball Club still sells a score card without a place reserved to keep the score, thus making a goat of Forgetting that the Boston Braves are an expensive attraction several press men were turned down who presented their regular credentials. However, they were not sorry for digging down as the game was one long to be remembered.

DOUBLE-HEADER TODAY.

The Leafs will finish up their stay at home until June 14 with a double-header with the Royals this afternoon at the Stadium, the first game of which will start at 2 o'clock. Manager Clymer had his players working together in grand style and yesterday's exhibition against the world's champions showed that they are playing fust as good ball as any man's team. Manager Clymer *never makes a practice of announcing his twirlers until just before game time, but he has McTigue, Cocreham, Cook and Herbent ready to go into the box. Manager Howley of the Royals has one grand pitcher in Miller, whom he may work today.
